PREFACE TO SECOND EDITION.

THE object of the author of this work is not to give a complete history of the town, though the work is necessarily historical. It is rather to present, so far as possible, a picture of the life and struggles of our ancestors in subduing a wilderness and progressing in the arts of civilization. It is so far an episode in the early history of the colonies. Besides this, it has been deemed proper to record any salient facts or occurrences of later date of general interest. The importance of the genealogical portion of the work can scarcely be over estimated. The far greater part of this has been constructed with great care by the author from an almost infinite number of isolated records in wills, deeds, family Bibles, church and town records of all descriptions, tomb-stones, and from whatever source afforded with certainty a name and a date. Since the publication of the first edition in 1866, all this material has been reviewed, and the addition of much genealogical information has made it necessary in most cases to rewrite the whole. Wherever assistance was afforded in this it is duly accredited.

While the author has consulted Prime and Thompson, the historical portion has been derived almost wholly from original sources; that is, from original MSS. documents in the town records and office of Secretary of State at Albany, and from the earliest historians of the colonial period.

Great care has been taken to present perfect copies of the ancient instruments of writing relating to the history of the town; but it is found by comparison that the orthography of the same document varies considerably, whenever it is more than once recorded.

Among the works consulted in preparation and revision of this history are the Colonial Records of Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New York ; Brodhead's History of New York ; Denton's New York ; Drake's Founders of New England ; Essex Institute Publications ; Felt's Ecclesiastical History of New England ; Gookin's Indians of New England ; Hatfield's History of Elizabeth ; Hinman's Puritans of Connecticut ; Hubbard's General History of New England ; Johnson's Wonder-working Providence ; Josselyn's Two Voyages ; Lechford's News from New England ; Lewis and Newhall's History of Lynn ; Mather's Magnalia and New England ; New England Historical and Genealogical Register ; Savage's Genealogical Dictionary ; Trumbull's History of Connecticut, and Winthrop's History of New England.

CHAPTER I.

EARLY DISCOVERIES.

*JOHN VERAZZANO, a Florentine, sent out on a voyage of discovery in 1524, by Francis I. of France, first makes land probably on the coast of South Carolina. Thence sailing northward he explores the coast, but overlooks, apparently, the Chesapeake and Delaware bays. While off the coast of Virginia or Maryland, he says: "Having our abode three dayes in this countrey, riding on the coast for want of harboroughs, wee concluded to depart from thence, trending along the shore betweene the North and East, sayling onely in the day time and riding at ancker by night. In the space of 100 leagues sayling, wee founde a very pleasant place, situated amongst certaine little steepe hilles: from amiddest the which hilles there ran down into the sea a great streame of water, which within the mouth was very deep, and from ye sea to ye mouth of same, with the tyde, which wee found to rise 8 foot, any great vessell laden may passe up."

This, of course, was the mouth of the Hudson, called by all the early navigators the "Great river." He says they passed up the river about half a league and found the country well peopled and the inhabitants received the visitors with "great showtes of admiration." This was the extent of his exploration in New York harbor. Again: "We weied Ancker and sayled toward the East, for so the coast trended, and so alwayes for 50 leagues, being in the sight thereof, wee discovered an Ilande in the forme of a triangle, distant from the main lande 3 leagues, about the bignesse of the Ilande of the Rhodes, it was full of hilles, couered with trees, well peopled, for we sawe fires all along the coaste. Wee gaue the name of it of your Maiesties mother, [Claudia] not staying there by reason of the weather being contrarie."

* Hakluyt Soc. Pub. Reprint, 1859, of the Relation of Verazzano, pub. in 1582, pp. 62, 63.

It would seem from this account that Verazzano sailed along the entire coast of Long Island, supposing it to be the main land (as it is nearly fifty leagues in length), and the island to which he gave the name of Clandia (the name of Francis' first wife—not of his mother) was afterward called Block Island, from its subsequent Dutch discoverer, Adrian Block. The astonishment of the Indians at the sight of Hudson's ship, the "Half Moon," eighty-five years after, and of himself in scarlet robes, showed that this visit had been forgotten. But then the witnesses of the first European visit were long dead and the archives of the Indians made no revelations of these matters. Verazzano was, doubtless, the first European navigator who ever gazed upon the shores of this island, unless, perchance, the Northmen wandered so far to the south of their temporary occupation of the coasts of Newfoundland and New England.

During the interval of eighty-one years that succeeded, western Europe was too much occupied at home to project colonies abroad. The Low Countries, Germany, France, Italy and Spain were one great battle-ground. Charles V. of Spain and I. of Germany was fighting his rival, Francis I. of France, and, after him, his son, Henry II., both bent on territorial conquest and the destruction of each other, until the second treason of Maurice of Saxony sent Charles back to Spain completely routed, and this, and the gout and disappointed ambition brought him knocking at the gate of a convent to secure a retreat for the remainder of his life. The gold and silver from Mexico and Peru brought in the Spanish galleons that escaped the guns of Drake and Hawkins and Raleigh were poured into the coffers of Philip II., only to be spent in establishing the Inquisition in Holland and in building fleets and palaces in Spain. France was a camp of Huguenot and Protestant. England, at the beginning of the seventeenth century, had planted a colony in Virginia, and began to feel the impetus of discovery and trade with the new world. In a desire to participate in the trade with America that was enriching their cotemporaries, *Henry Wriothesly, Earl of Southampton, and Thomas, Lord Arundel, resolved to fit out a ship for this expedition. "This vessel was called the 'Archangel,' and was commanded by Captain George Weymouth, an experienced and skillful seaman, who sailed the last day of March, 1605, from Dartmouth. * * * After much expectation [of seeing land] on the 16th of May they obtained sight of an island of no great consequence, [size] and very woody along the shore; but by the fruits they found, it appeared no barren nor despicable spot, more especially as there were streams of fresh water running down the cliffs in great plenty, [off Montauk probably] vast numbers of fowls, and fish enough all along the shore. This island is now called Long Island, and it was upon the eastern part of it they fell to their great satisfaction." This was the second visit of a European vessel to this Island, and the story is not without interest. And what is of more interest to the general reader, he evidently entered the bay of New York and sailed up the Hudson river some forty or fifty miles.

The next explorer who touched upon the coast was Henry Hudson, an Englishman, but on this particular voyage in the employment of the Dutch West India Company. He sailed from Holland in March, 1609, in the ship "Half Moon," and the account of the voyage has been transmitted to us by *Robert Juet, a Netherlander, who accompanied Hudson in an unknown capacity. The object of the expedition was, as usual, to find a shorter passage to the riches of the east, the Indies. He at first sought a north-east route, but meeting interminable ice fields near Nova Zembla, he turned his prow to the south-west to find a western passage to the same point. Making land at Newfoundland, which had been previously discovered and named by Cabot, he skirted along the coast looking for a passage to the Pacific until he came to the English settlements in Virginia, having touched in his course at Cape Cod and explored the adjacent waters. Again turning northward (from Virginia) he discovered and explored for the first time, apparently by Europeans, Delaware bay. Passing on he came through the Narrows and entered the noble bay of New York, and subsequently he sailed up the magnificent river which now bears his name, to the present site of Albany. On his homeward passage from New York bay, Juet says he steered south-east by east, and was soon out of sight of land, and saw no more until they made the coast of England. So that Hudson could not have seen any more than the western end of Long Island. These explorations of Cape Cod and Delaware bay were the basis of the Dutch claim to all territory lying between these two points and extending inland, indefinitely to the Pacific.

These early explorations have been noticed rather on account of their general historical interest than from any immediate connection with the settlement of the town in 1640. The question has been asked how happened the attention of the colonists to be turned in the direction of the east end of Long Island, then an unexplored wilderness. Aside from the facts that they had resolved to go somewhere, and that they, as well as any others, might venture into a wilderness, the truth is, the friends of the colonists, and consequently, they themselves, had special knowledge of the advantages offered to them by this Isle of the sea. *In the summer of 1633, Governor Winthrop had the bark "Blessing" built, and on October 2, 1633, she returns from a voyage of discovery to Mystic, and reports "having made a further discovery of that called Long Island." There they trafficked with the natives and "procured Wampanpeag, both white and blue, it being made by the Indians there."

With these facts before us, the solution of the question becomes very simple, that they came on the personal recommendation of Governor Winthrop and his representation of the fertility of the soil and the abundance of food in the forests and waters of the Island.

This was the heroic age of modern history, when the Old World was stirred up to people the new. Those who are old enough to remember the excitement of 1849 in "the States" over the newly-discovered gold fields of California, and the eagerness with which men flocked there for sudden fortunes, may have some idea of the same fever for emigration to America that prevailed at that time in London, with its county of Middlesex, and the adjacent counties. After the home difficulties and troubles that so oppressed the middle classes of England nothing so occupied the popular mind as the immediate transfer of their homes to the New World. This fact is conspicuous in the writings of the English at home and especially in their letters to their friends in America.

CHAPTER II.

OUTLINE OF HISTORY OF LONG ISLAND — ACCOUNTS OF EARLY SETTLERS — FIRST ATTEMPT AT SETTLEMENT AT NORTH HEMP-STEAD — REMOVAL TO THE EAST END.

THE Dutch who had settled on Manhattan Island in the early part of the seventeenth century, soon began to build and occupy on the opposite shore of Long Island; and as their population increased, naturally pushed out their settlements to the eastward on the north and south shores of the Island. Thus it happened that the western part of the Island came under the jurisdiction of the Dutch Government at New Amsterdam until the surrender of New York to the English in 1664.

But the proximity of the Island to Connecticut afforded some ground for the English Crown to set up a claim to it. Accordingly Charles I., April 22, 1636, requested the Corporation for New England, called the Plymouth Colony, to issue their patent to William Alexander, Earl of Stirling, for Long Island, and the islands adjacent. They did so, and on April 20, 1637, the Earl gave power of Attorney* to James Farret to dispose of said lands. This, however, took effect only on the east end of Long Island where the English subsequently resided.

Upon the death of Lord Stirling in 1640, his heir relinquished the grant above mentioned to the king, and thus it happened that on March 12, 1664, Charles II. granted, with other territory, Long Island and the Islands adjacent, to his brother James, Duke of York and Albany. In the following August, Col. Richard Nicolls, at the head of a fleet, came and obtained a surrender of New York to the crown of England. Now for the first time the eastern towns of the Island came under the jurisdiction of New York, Southampton having sent deputies to the General Court of Connecticut regularly, from 1644 to 1664. In July, 1673, New York was recovered by the Dutch and the Island followed the fate of the larger colony. Both, however, were again surrendered by the Dutch to the English Government, November 10, 1674, and so remained English Colonies till the war of our Independence.

Few traces can be found of the original proprietors of the town prior to the settlement. They were all of English origin, and probably came from the counties of Bedford, Bucks and Lincoln. The tradition that they sailed from Southampton, England, and for this reason adopted the name for their settlement, is worthless, since there is no evidence that they did sail from that place, but on the contrary, so far as known, they sailed from other ports of England, and at different times. I offer it as a conjecture that the town was so named from Henry Wriothesly, Earl of Southampton, who was very active in colonizing the new world. He was director and treasurer of the Virginia Company, 1620 to 1624, and must have been well known to and by the leading men of the Southampton colonists.

The common statement derived from Cotton Mather (Magnalia) is, that between thirty and forty families in Lynn, Mass., finding themselves straitened for land, came over to Long Island and effected a settlement. In enumerating the settlements of New England, Ogilby, in his History of America, says: "About the year 1640, by a fresh supply of people, that settled in Long Island, was there erected the twenty-third town call'd Southampton, by the Indians, Agawam."

There is truth in both of these statements though neither is absolutely correct. Some of the colonists had lived in Lynn for years and some doubtless were new arrivals.

Among the inhabitants of that place in 1630, were Edmund Farrington, Allen Breed, Daniel Howe, and John White. In 1637, were also Christopher Foster, John Pierson, Thomas Halsey, Josiah Stanborough, George Welbye, Richard Wells, William Partridge and Philip Kertland. John Cooper was made Freeman, i. e., admitted to privilege of voting, at Boston, December 6, 1636; Christopher Foster, the same, April 17, 1637; Edward Howell, the same, March 14, 1639;* Rev. Abraham Pierson arrived in America in 1639. With some more which are mentioned elsewhere, these are all the traces that can be given of the founders of Southampton.

The original "undertakers," eight in number, purchased a sloop for the transportation of their families and their goods for £80, of which Edward Howell and Daniel Howe, each contributed £15; Edmund Farrington, George Welbe, and Henry Walton each £10; and Josiah Stanborough, Job Sayre, Edmund Needham and Thomas Sayre, each £5. Before sailing, however, the other proprietors disposed of their interest in the vessel to Daniel Howe, in consideration of his making three trips annually for two years for transportation of goods from Lynn to their plantation. Articles of agreement were drawn up and signed, in which were stated the plans and purposes of the company, and their several shares proportioned to the amount of money by each contributed. These articles, as well as those for the "Disposall of the Vessel" were dated March 10, 1639.* April 17, 1640† (a month after the confirmation of Lyon Gardiner's purchase of Gardiner's Island), Farrett, in behalf of Lord Stirling, made an agreement with Lieutenant Howe, Edward Howell and others (as above) by which they were authorized‡ to occupy eight miles square of land in any part of Long Island. The amount that was to be paid to the Earl of Stirling, as a recognition of his title to the land, was to be estimated by the Hon. John Winthrop, Governor of Massachusetts Colony, who fixed the amount at four bushels of Indian corn, in consideration that the country was a wilderness, and that the natives pretended some claims to the land. This deed of Farrett was given also about a month after the disposal of the vessel and signing the articles of agreement since, as the reader will remember, at that time the year was reckoned to commence on the twenty-fifth of March.

§ The next we hear of them, the Lynn emigrants arrived in the following month of May at Manhasset at the head of Cow Bay (or Schout's Bay, as the Dutch called it). Here they found the arms of the Prince of Orange erected upon a tree, and Lieutenant Howe, the leader of the expedition, pulled them down. This was on the 10th of May, 1640.* But the Sachem Penhawitz who had just before ceded all his rights to the Dutch, promptly informed Governor Kieft that some "foreign strollers" had arrived at Schout's Bay, where they were felling trees and building houses, and "had even hewn down the arms of their High Mightinesses." Commissary Van Curler (Corlear) was sent to ascertain the facts, and the Sachem's story was found to be true. The arms of the State had been torn down, and in their place had been drawn an "unhandsome face," "all which aforesaid appeared strange to us, being a criminal offense against his Majesty, and tending to the disparagement of their High Mightinesses."

May 13th, the Council of New Amsterdam order Cornelius Van Tienhoven to arrest and bring before them the "strollers and vagabonds" of Schout's Bay who had so insulted their Dutch dignities. On the next day, with two officers and twenty men, he started on his mission of ejection, and arrived at the clearing May 15th, finding one small house built and another unfinished. "They were first asked, what they were doing there; by what power or by whose authority they presumed to settle on our purchased soil, and told that they must show their commission. Eight men, one woman and a little child, made answer that they intended to plant there, and were authorized thereunto by a Scotchman who had gone with their commission to Red Hill.

Secondly they were asked, for what reason did they throw down their High Mightinesses' Arms and set up a fool's face in the stead. To which some answered, the escutcheon was cut down by a person who is not present; another answered, such was done in their presence by order of a Scotchman, James Farrett; and he and Lieutenant Howe were then at Red Hill.† Hereupon six men were brought to Fort Amsterdam, leaving two men, and one woman and a child on the ground, to take care of their goods; they arrived on the 15th of May."

At the subsequent examination, the following facts appeared. They went to Long Island to settle, from Lynn, Mass., and others were to follow. They came under authority of James Farrett with consent of Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts Bay Colony. It was intended to bring twenty families, and "many more would come if the land was good." They should have lived free under their own laws, and would have been obedient to whomsoever was lord of the land. Job Sayre on examination, said, he was born in Bretfordshire (probably Bedfordshire—he was examined through a Dutch interpreter), was twenty-eight years old, and had resided in Lynn, Mass. George Welbye said, he was born in Northamptonshire, was twenty-five years old, and resided in Lynn. John Farrington said, he was born in Bockinghamshire (Buckinghamshire), was twenty-four years old, and lived in Lynn. Philip Cartelyn (Kertland) twenty-six years old, and Nathaniel Cartelyn (Kertland) twenty-two years old, birthplace and residence the same as Farrington's. William Harker said, he was born in Cincenshire (Lincolnshire?) and was twenty-four years of age. On May 19th, they were discharged as not guilty of tearing down the arms of the Lords States, and set at liberty on "condition that they do promise to depart forthwith from our territory, and never to return to it without the Directors' express consent." Thus ended the first attempt at a settlement; the "strollers and vagabonds" departed, and low Dutch alone was spoken in that land.*

Now in all this, there is no intention to cast a slur upon the Dutch of New York, who as a nation by their bravery, fortitude and perseverance in long and bloody wars with Spain, when in the zenith of her power, for their independence and for the cause of protestantism, and when protestant England too stood by an idle spectator of the struggle, deserved and won the respect of all mankind. But it was nevertheless a shabby treatment of these New England colonists, the equals of their best in wealth, culture and social position, who, like themselves, were seeking homes in the new world. If Hudson's third voyage, previously spoken of, gave to the Netherlands a claim to this territory, Cabot's previous discovery of the continent gave the English a still greater. But Verazzano's voyage of discovery before Cabot's was considered by Henry IV. of France a sufficient basis for his granting all the (now) Middle and New England coast states to M. des Monts. And still previous to this, the Pope conferred the title of the whole continent upon Ferdinand and Isabella. It will be remembered that the elder Cabot actually made the discovery of the continent of America some fourteen months before *Columbus saw the main land. And for this reason the pretensions of the Pope were in 1620 treated with derision in the English Parliament. With all these conflicting claims, the best title seems to have been actual possession maintained by the sword.

* Subsequently (Sept. 19, 1650) when the English settlements had increased and strengthened on the eastern part of the island among other questions submitted to four arbitrators for settlement was the boundary line between the Dutch and English in Long Island. This was then declared to be a "line run from the westernmost part of Oyster Bay, and so a straight and direct line to the sea," the Dutch west and the English east. See Trumbull's Ct. vol. 1, p. 192.

CHAPTER III.

THE SETTLEMENT AND THE SETTLERS.

OF the movements of the English immediately after the expulsion, the town records afford no clue, and tradition happily is dumb. I am inclined to think the leading minds of the company, in harmony with Governor Winthrop, proposed in the beginning to plant a colony as near the Dutch settlements as possible, as a barrier to their further eastward progress, and failing in this, to establish a strong colony as a center or basis of operations on the eastern part of the Island. The former plan having failed, they immediately proceeded to execute the latter. Whether there was such a plan or not, the fact remains that such a course was actually pursued. This settlement was effected in the early part of the following June, and makes Southampton the first town settled by the English in the State of New York. The general impression has been that the sister town of Southold, settled in October (Wood) of the same year, was entitled to this distinction. But this impression was based upon the supposition that the Southampton emigrants came there in the month of December, in which month the deed which they received from the Indians is dated. Now although this is no great matter, yet as a point of historic interest, we may as well know, if we can, the precise date of the occupation of this territory by the English. The reasons that seem to establish the fact of this settlement in the early part of June are as follows:

1. The presumption is in favor of an immediate attempt to secure a settlement. That was their prime business. Delay involved the loss of a planting season. They held in their hands a commission from Farrett authorizing them to select and occupy, and the land was all before them where to choose.
2. Other instruments from Farrett show the same. June 12, 1639* (or rather 1640), James Farrett makes a conveyance† of land from sea to sea between Peaconeck and Montauk Point, to Edward Howell & Co., for £400 already received, they having been (as saith the instrument) driven off by the Dutch previous to this transaction. This writing has that vagueness in defining the limits characteristic of the imperfect knowledge that might be acquired by the visit of the "Blessing." It is probable that one of the company went on to obtain this second writing from Farrett in person, while the others continued on their voyage and settlement. The memorandum, as it is called, of July 7, 1640, appears to have been obtained by a second embassy to Farrett, after actual occupation of the new plantation. We infer this from its mention of local names and the precise boundaries which could only be learned on the spot. August 20, 1640, Lord Stirling confirms this sale. And as he was in Scotland, sufficient time for sending by a sailing vessel across the Atlantic, the application for a deed of sale from him, must be allowed, so that this fact confirms a settlement at least as early as the first part of July, 1640. A temporary verbal agreement was made with the Indians as the deed of December intimates, for the sale of their lands, ratified by the said deed of December 13, 1640, which acknowledges that partial payment for the land had been made previous to that date.

3. Felt,‡ in an account of Rev. Hugh Peters, says, that he (Peters) attended the ordination of Mr. Abraham Pierson at Lynn, and the organization at the same time and place of a church "composed of individuals who had emigrated from that place and settled at Southampton." This was in November, 1640, showing the settlement had been effected before December. The same historian§ says in another work that a church was formed in Massachusetts, part of the emigrants being there at the time of Rev. Abraham Pierson's ordination in November, and part on Long Island at their plantation. By another New England his-

* The date of the year, 1639, is evidently an error. It is so found in the London documents which are a copy. The Dutch records and those of the town are in agreement on all points.

† Col. Hist. of N. Y., v. 3, pp. 21, 22.

‡ Hist. and Gen. Reg., v. 5, p. 233.

torian it is said that on the 11th of October, 1640, Mr. Pierson was appointed at Boston, to be the minister of the colony then settled and residing at Southampton.

4. There is another clause in the* Indian deed of December 13, 1640, which leads to the same conclusion. It is, "as also all the old ground formerly planted lying eastward from the first creek, etc." The phrase "old ground" is used a number of times in the town records to signify land that the settlers themselves had broken up and cropped. When this had been done by Indians, such land was called "the Indian field." The settlers had, therefore, come in time that season to raise one crop of oats and Indian corn and gather hay for their cattle.

5. Edward Johnson in his† Wonder Working Providence, has this statement which contains other points of interest.

"CHAPTER XVII—Of the Planting of Long Island.—This year [1640] came over divers godly and sincere servants of Christ, as I suppose, among whom came over the reverend godly Mr. Peirson. This people [of Southampton], finding no place in any of the former erected colonies to settle in to their present content, repaired to an island severed from the Continent of Newhaven, with about 16 miles off the salt sea, and called Long Island, being about 120 miles in length, and yet but narrow: here this people erected a Town and called it South Hampton, there are many Indians on the greatest part of this Island who at first settling of the English there did much to annoy their Cattel with the multitude of Doggs they kept, which ordinarily are young wolves brought up tame, continuing of a very ravening nature. This people gathered into a church and called to office Mr. Peirson, who continued with them 7 or 8 yeares, and then he, with the greatest number of the people, removed farther into the Island; the other part that remained invited Mr. Foordum, and a people that were with him, to come and joyne with them, who accordingly did, being wandered as far as the Dutch plantation, and there unsettled, although he came into the Country before them."

† Mass. Hist. Coll., 2 s., v. 7, p. 22.

To this it is necessary to remark : (1.) The title of the chapter and the first sentence presuppose this to be the first venture of the English into an unsettled region of the country. There could have been no previous settlement at Southold known to Johnson. (2.) The name of this settlement is almost universally written in the records and in New England documents of early times as Southampton. (3.) There is evident over-statement of the truth concerning the number of families who removed with Mr. Pier-son to Branford, Connecticut, and not to any other part of Long Island. Few comparatively left at that time and no considerable number came in with Mr. Fordham.

6. *Lechford, in his "Plaine Dealing," 1641, speaks of a settlement by the Lynn people, but knows nothing about a plantation at Southold, though apparently very conversant with the affairs of the colonies.

7. But Winthrop,† in his History of New England, says expressly the second and successful attempt at a settlement was made in the fourth month (or June) of the year 1640.

There is one other curious fact which fixes the dates of the Farrett deed, June 12, 1639, the memorandum of July 7, 1639, and the Stirling deed of August 20, 1639, to belong all of them to the year 1640. The London documents, as we have remarked, by some strange perversion, have them as above, in 1639. In the Dutch account of the attempt of the Lynn men to settle at Cow Bay in the Colonial History of New York, volume 2, page 149, it is said that on Saturday, May 19, 1640, the English were released from captivity. Now May 19, 1640, by the Dutch reckoning (as they had then adopted the new or Gregorian calendar), fell on a Saturday, but May 19, 1639, would fall on Thursday. So that this attempt to settle on the west end of Long Island was really in 1640, and not 1639, as it is dated in the English deed on page 21 of volume 3 of the same work, where the having been "drove off by the Dutch" is spoken of as an event which had occurred before June 12, 1639 (i. e. 1640), when the deed was given. Furthermore, May 19th of the Dutch calendar was May 9th of the English, leaving the settlers ample time to get to Southampton before June 1, 1640.

†Vol. 2, p. 4

The English records in the office of the Secretary of State at Albany also correct the dates of these London documents. In the MSS. book marked "Court of Assizes," volume 2, page 439, is recorded the first deed to the Southampton settlers of date April 17, 1640, under which they were to take up eight miles square of land where they should select on Long Island. This record gives the date 1640, and not 1639, thus being in harmony with the Dutch records.

Finally, among the records in the office of the town clerk at Southampton a writing has been discovered which begins with the words "Southampton, June, 1640." The day of the month is given also, but I do not remember it at the time of writing this.

In a later edition of Winthrop's History, edited by Savage, page 5, an account is given of another settlement somewhere on Long Island, effected before August, 1641. James Farrett makes a vigorous and solemn protest against their intrusion on the rights of the Earl of Stirling. But these people had no connection whatever with the settlers from Lynn, as Savage, in a foot-note, seems to think. They were what we should now term filibusters, and probably soon returned to the main land.

But to return to the movements of the little colony. Sailing up the Peconic Bay, they landed at what is now called North Sea, a little hamlet about three miles from the village of Southampton, whence they took up their march through the woods to find a place for their new homes. It was a perilous undertaking to venture with their wives and little ones into a wilderness, hemmed in on two sides by water, and the other two by savage tribes. Like their brethren of Plymouth, however, they were brave men and Christians, resolved on doing their part toward forming an empire for freedom and Christianity.

The Indians whom they found here proved to be friendly, and released to the settlers sufficient land for their necessities in "consideration of sixteen coates already received, and also three score bushels of Indian corne to be paid upon lawful demand the last of September, which shall be in the year 1641, and further in consideration that they above named English shall defend us the said Indians from the unjust violence of whatever Indians shall illegally assail us." The date of this deed is December 13, 1640. Two additional purchases from the natives were afterward effected extending considerably the limits of the town, and finally when a new generation of Indians were causing trouble, as they saw their old hunting grounds melt away, the colony, in order to preserve peace, again bought the whole township of them for twenty pounds, for which a deed was given of date August 16, 1703. The first of these purchases, known as the Quogue purchase, was made by the town in 1663.* The second, known by the name of Topping's purchase, is recorded as having been sold to Thomas Topping, April 10, 1662, for twenty fathoms of wampum by Weany, (Sunk Squa) Anabaekus, Jaekanapes, Cobish, Toqnobin and Wetaugom, all Shinnecoeks except Weany, the widow of the Montauk Chief. The purchase ran from Niamuck or Canoe Place, westward to Seatuck and thence northward to the head of Peconic Bay. Again September 17, 1666, a number of Indians claiming the right to Topping's purchase, gave a deed of sale of the same to the "Townsmen of Southampton" for such consideration as Governor Nicoll shall determine.

The first attempt at a settlement here was in a place now called the Old Town, about three-quarters of a mile from the main street of the present village. Here they remained for about eight years as appears from the following orders.

"June 11th, 1647, it is ordered by all the inhabitants of this towne, this daye, that this towne is to bee divided into fortie house lots, some bigger, some less—as men haue put in a share sixe thousen pounds to be devided into fortie parts."

"This instant, the †23d of March, 1648, it is ordered by the fve men apoynted for towne affaires that the whole towne shall be called together on the second day next, at the setting of the sunne, to consider of a towne plot that shall be then and there presented to them, and to determine concerning the said plot or some others that may be presented by any other mans advice, and also to consider of such home accommodations as may be most suitable to the comfort, peace & welfare of this plantation as touching the proportion to every man in his taking vp according to his valuation, & that there be men appointed forthwith to divide the same, and this to put in execution the order above written."

March 27, 1648, three acres for a home lot was settled upon as to the proportion to a fifty right.

The main street to this day retains the divisions then made of house lots of three acres, though, in the changes of two centuries, some of the old landmarks have been removed. Here, then, at last, they find permanent homes after all their wanderings. The articles of agreement entered into before their departure from Lynn showed that they formed a joint-stock company, owning the land as tenants in common until it was set apart, according to the regulations of the company, to individual occupation. Each man was entitled to a house lot of four acres (afterward changed to three acres), twelve acres for cultivation, and about thirty-four acres of meadow and upland, together with a certain number of shares or rights in the undivided common land, according to the amount of money he had disbursed toward the expenses of the settlement and the purchase of the town. These were called Proprietor's Rights, and were handed down with inherited estate from father to son. There is no question but the land of the town was, from the first, and always down to the present time, owned in two distinct modes or tenures — first, as divided into certain lots, whether homesteads, meadows, uplands, arable lands or wood lands; and, secondly, the remainder of the undivided lands within the limits of the town was owned by the proprietors, their heirs, assigns or successors in joint tenantry. Latterly, it became a question whether, under the patent of Governor Dongan, all of the inhabitants of the town had not each an equal right in the undivided lands of the town. The records preserve this distinction of tenure, and, upon the coming of a stranger into the place, it appears that he simply owned what he bought — a purchased freehold estate by no means entitled him to any share or right in the undivided land of the town. He might purchase a proprietor right, but the purchase itself proves the distinction of tenure. Such is the historical view of this question, the legal merits of which must be decided by the courts.

The time came when the proprietors, however, began to claim the products of the bays of the town, hitherto regarded, as in England, as property common to all the inhabitants. This claim was met by a counter-claim by the inhabitants in general, not only to these products, but to all the rights and privileges of the proprietors in land or water in the town. The basis of this claim was the patent of Governor Dongan, which, in their opinion, abolished all the proprietor rights. Whether this claim was good we need not here discuss. The proprietors, however, were alarmed. December 23, 1816, a town meeting was held, the whole matter discussed and a committee of ten men was appointed on the part of the town to confer with the proprietors. It was further voted, "That this committee confer with the committee of the proprietors, that if the proprietors will give up their exclusive right to the waters in the said town, the town at large will give up their right to the undivided land and meadows which the proprietors claim. Also for the town to have free access to the waters in any part of said town when they please, and to have all the products arising from said water."

February 17, 1818, the affair, still remaining unsettled, a special town meeting was called in which two committees were appointed, respectively by the town and the proprietors, to agree upon a proper bill to be presented to the Legislature to settle the whole question forever. This bill was read and approved by both parties, and, being taken to Albany, passed the Legislature on the 15th of April of the same year.

It vested in the trustees of the proprietors the right to superintend and manage, to sell, lease or partition, the undivided lands, meadows and mill-streams of the town, and that is all it did give them. It further says: "Nothing in the fore-recited act shall be construed to give the proprietors or their trustees any power to make laws, rules or regulations concerning the waters (other than the mill-streams), the fisheries, the sea-weed, or any other productions of the waters of said town, or in any manner or way to debar the inhabitants of said town from the privilege of taking sea-weed from the shores of any of the common lands of said town, or carting or transporting to or from, or landing property on said shores, in the manner heretofore practiced; which waters, fisheries, sea-weed and productions of the waters shall be managed by the trustees of the freeholders and commonalty of the town of Southampton for the benefit of said town, as they had the power to do before the passing of this act."

As Shinnecock Hills was then the common undivided property of the proprietors, the right to the sea-weed drifted on the shores thereof could not be sold with the sale of that tract in 1861. The rights that were given to the town in 1818 have never been alienated, and cannot be, except by the town itself. The common right of fishery in the town pond, in the two fresh ponds on the road to North Sea, and to old town pond is, therefore, for the same reason, as good and as clear to-day as it ever was. The right to the productions of Mecox and Shinnecock bays also remains vested in the commonalty of the town, as the town has, to this day, done nothing to alienate its rights therein.

From the following extract from the town records, it will appear there was some difficulty with the Indians concerning the title of the colony to the lands of the town.

"At a town meeting held in Southampton, the 23d day of November, 1686,—it is agreed upon by major vote of the town that Major John Howell shall go to New York about the present affair of making good our title to our lands called into question at Shinnecock, and Henry Ludlam is likewise chosen to wait upon him.

"At the same meeting it is ordered that the patentees concerned in our patent, shall make a conveyance of the land held within our township to the persons respectively, according to the interest of allotment of hundred and fifties, or fifties when they hold in this town.

"Also, there are chosen six men to be a committee in behalf of the men, to give Major Howell his instructions, and also to attend Col. Youngs when he comes to hear the Indians acknowledge our deed; and the men so chosen are Mr. Edward Howell, Henry Pierson, Matthew Howell, Thomas Cooper, Obadiah Rogers and Joseph Pierson."

The immediate result of this order was the obtaining of Governor Dongan's Patent, dated December 6, 1686, which is given in the appendix. So far as the records show, this step appeared to quiet the Indians until 1703, when, as before narrated, they united in conveying the whole township again to the colonists.

But besides this trouble with the Indians which is alluded to in the records above rather indefinitely, Governor Dongan issued an order that the towns on the east end of Long Island should take out a patent from himself. Against this order the people of Southampton protested on the ground that they were living in peace and quiet possession of their lands under a patent already given by the Governor of the Colony of New York, and that another patent was superfluous. However, to keep the peace, and prevent trouble and litigation, they sent their committee as before stated to obtain their patent. It is not easy to discover any good reason why Governor Dongan should issue such an order to these towns at that late day, unless to make a show of his official authority, or to increase the revenues of his office.

As to the locality of the settlement, the mass of evidence goes to show it was for the first few years in the village alone. I concur with the opinion of Mr. Wm. S. Pelletreau, who says on this point: "Notwithstanding the common impression upon this subject, that settlements were begun simultaneously at North Sea, Sagabonack and Southampton, it is certain such was not the case; nor is it at all probable that in the beginning of the settlement and at a time when there were but few families, and these in constant fear of the Indians, they would venture to scatter their numbers so widely." The first permanent one, after the one at Southampton, was at North Sea, in 1650, when John Ogden received permission from the town to settle there with six families, who were to have 321 acres of land, and were to form a community by themselves upon conditions agreed upon as follows: "Feb. 21, 1649 [i. e. 1649-50]. It is granted by the major parte of this towne that Mr. Ogden and his company shall have Cow Neck and Jeffery Neck for their owne proper Right; also, that they shall have for their planting Land in either or both of said necks three hundred 24 Acres of said Land provided they settle upon it and upon the same grant they are to have all the meadow betwixt the brook by the Sachems house and Hogneck Spring for their proper Right, provided it bee not above a mile from the sea side the North Sea: Upon these conditions following: first that they must pay to all Common Rates with the Towne after the rate of nine hundred pounds according to the takeings up of those men that dwell in the Towne: 2ly that Hee shall plant there six families or more that shall there Live and have there abode: 3ly that In Case the whole bounds of the towne come to bee stinted for Cattell, then they must bee stinted for summer feed as they are that live at the towne: by the same Rule in Common Rates as aforesaid is alsoe included the misters means."

The land at Sagg or Sagabonack as it was then called, was divided in 1653, and settled very soon after, since in an order of the court it is mentioned that Josiah Stanbrough had a residence there in 1658. In 1670, there was quite a settlement upon the east side of Sagabonack pond (whence the present village of Sagg derives its name), and along the shores of Mecox bay.

In 1679, Mecox is spoken of as "lately layed" out to the inhabitants, and in 1680, Hogneck to be "suddenly" (i. e. soon), divided.

The names of the eight original "undertakers" are as follows: Edward Howell, Edmond Farrington, Edmund Needham, Thomas Sayre, Josiah Stanborough, George Welbe, Henry Walton, Job Sayre, and, if we include the Captain of the Vessel, Daniel How, making nine. To these were added eleven other heads of families before the company departed from Lynn, viz.: John Cooper, Allen Breed, William Harker, Thomas Halsey, Thomas Newell, John Farrington, Richard Odell, Philip Kyrtland, Nathaniel Kirtland, Thomas Farrington and Thomas Terry.

During the next few years, the settlement was further increased by the coming of Richard Barrett, William Barker, William Barnes, John Bishop, Robert Bond (1643), John Bostwick, Thomas Burnett, Ellis Cook, John Cory (1643), Samuel Dayton, Fulk Davis, Christopher Foster, John Gosmer, Thomas Goldsmith, James Hampton, John Hand, James Herrick,

Many of these, however, stayed but a short time. The following is a list of families mentioned above, now extinct, or not residing in Southampton: Barker, Barnes, Barrett, Bond, Bostwick, Breed, Cory, Davis, Dayton, Farrington, Goldsmith, Gosmer, Hampton, Harker, Howe, Kyrkland, Lun, Mills, Merwin, Moore, Mulford, Newell, Norris, Odell, Ogden, Oldfields, Smyth, Stratton, Talmage, Walton, Welbe, Wells and Willman.

CHAPTER IV.

CHARACTER OF THE SETTLERS.

OF the character of our ancestors there can be no question. They were men of sterling worth, the Puritans of England. They were more than mere colonists—they were the exponents of a new civilization founded on the idea, that under God, men could govern themselves. Their flight from England and self-exile on these shores was the strongest protest they could give against the divine right of kings in civil and religious government. That they acknowledged Christ as the only head over his church is not only manifest in their actions, but also in the touching language at the close of the “articles of agreement,” given in the appendix, “and that whensoever it shall please the Lord, and he shall see it good to adde to us such men as shall be fitt matter for a Church, that then wee will in that thinge lay ourselves down before the Constitutes thereof, either to bee or not to bee received as members thereof, accordinge as they shall discern the work of God to be in our heart.”

That they were men of intelligence, is seen in their free charter, their just laws, and liberal institutions. They secured in their patent, land tenure by gavelkind* which had from time immemorial prevailed in the county of Kent, in England. While the tennres in all other counties of England had been more or less burdened from the time of the Norman conquest with restrictions, liabilities, or knight service, the Kentish men had always held their land in free and common socage; contributing only proportionally their share in the expenses of government. In addition, upon the death of a landholder intestate, instead of the real estate devolving upon the eldest son, the more equitable and democratic custom prevailed of dividing it equally among all the surviving children.

*1 Blackstone, 74.

At the foundation of their colony they adopted for their government the * “Laws of Judgment as given by Moses to the Commonwealth of Israel, so farre foarth as they bee of worrath, that is, of perpetuall and universall equity among all nations.” Like the Jewish Commonwealth too, the form of government was a kind of theocracy. Church and State were united, and its head was the Lord Jesus Christ. Offenses which would now be tried (if at all) by courts ecclesiastical, were then tried by the General Court of Freemen. A taxation, pro rata, was levied on all property to raise the salary of the minister. Even the right of suffrage appears for some little time to have been confined to the members of the church.

It was the difference of opinion on this question, whether any but church members should exercise the right of freemen, that induced the Rev. Abraham Pierson to leave them for a connection with the New Haven Colony, in 1647, Southampton having united with the Hartford or Connecticut Colony, in 1644. The New Haven people, led by John Davenport, were for giving the rights of freemen only to the members of the church — the Hartford Colony would open the door to all. However this question may appear to us in this day, still there is something striking — something that reminds us of the stern uncompromising spirit of the old prophets in the doctrine that no man was fit to govern or legislate for others until he was himself obedient to the laws of God.

They were formed into a church organization at Lynn, a few months after a settlement had been effected in Southampton, and brought over their minister with them, the Rev. Abraham Pierson, and erected their first church edifice in the second year of their settlement. Like their brothers in New England, wherever they went, the school-house, too, followed in their wake. It is worthy of remark, that of the twenty who signed the articles of agreement, four only were obliged to sign by proxy, at a period when many a baron in England was compelled to make his mark. Some peculiarities they had — faults too, doubtless, and yet they were men to be honored for their bravery and revered for their virtues.

* See Appendix.

They were also men of means and of good social standing in the mother country. Of one of their number, an eminent man, in correspondence, writes: "He was a gentlemen of coat-armor, and his place in the settlement always magistrate—the proprietor of the mill (like the old French Sieurs, and English Lords of the manor,) and the acknowledged head in everything, coupled with the style and manner of such writings of his as I have seen, sufficiently show that he was of the best class of those which came over—the class which included Winthrop and Humphrey."

In Governor Dongan's report of the Province of New York, in 1687, occurs something more equivocal. He says: "The first year there was £52 offered for the Excise of Long Island, but I thought it unreasonable, it being the best peopled place in this Government, and wherein theres great consumption of Rumm, and therefor I gave commission to Mr. Nicholls and Mr. Vaughan, &c. * * * Most part of the people of that Island, especially towards the east end, are of the same stamp with those of New England, refractory and very loath to have any commerce with this place to the great detrimnt of revenue and ruin of our Merchants."

Although this village is now of but little importance in wealth and population compared with the large cities and towns of the Empire State, yet in the early times it was far different. Its name appears on all the old charts and maps of this period alone, of all the villages on the east end of Long Island. And Governor Andros in a letter (N. Y. Col. Hist., v. 3, p. 261) of answers to inquiries about New York says, among other things, "Our principall places of Trade are New York and Southampton, except Albany for the Indyans, &c."

In 1703, Wm. Vesey, in a report of the state of the churches in the Province of New York, says: "In Suffolk County, in the East end of Long Island, there is neither a church of England minister, nor any provision made for one by law, the people generally being Independents and upheld in their seperation* by New England Emissaries."

There is one other feature in their laws which merits our attention.

With all their puritanic strictness, they allowed more freedom of conscience than was usual in that period of intolerance, whether in England under the Stuarts, or in New England among the Independents. Toleration was practised so far as to allow the existence of heretical doctrine, provided the dissenter confined his dissent or unbelief to his own bosom. The legal prohibition was directed only against the promulgation of false doctrine. This liberality in matters of conscience and religious belief, was far in advance of that persecuting spirit, which stains the history of these times through the civilized world.

Their puritanic principles made their mark on the civilization and morals of the community, that lingers even to this day, and for purity of morals and sobriety of life, the village will only find a parallel in those other villages, where dwell the descendants of the Pilgrim Fathers of New England.

CHAPTER V.

CIVIL RELATIONS—PURE DEMOCRACY—UNION WITH CONNECTICUT—WITH NEW YORK—DUTCH INTERREGNUM—AGAIN WITH NEW YORK.

THE civil relations of the colony afford an interesting field for investigation. In the very beginning the principle of self-government is developed in admirable perfection. For the first four years, these thirty or forty families formed a little republic by themselves. It was a pure democracy without a parallel, save in the short-lived republics of ancient Greece. For the time being, Southampton was their country, and we cannot bestow too high praise on their efforts to secure justice and equal rights and protection to every individual. They reversed the maxim of Louis XIV., "I am the State"—with them the State was the people, and for the people, and not the people for the State. A town meeting, or General Court, as it was called, was held half-yearly, composed of the adult males, who were obliged to attend regularly under penalty of a fine. This court exercised the extraordinary powers of a legislature and a judiciary; defined the limits and powers of the magistrate's court; received and decided appeals from the same; was the proper tribunal for trying crimes punishable with death (though happily they were spared from any such duty); settled civil cases; allotted lands and elected officers; enacted a code of laws founded on those given by Moses to the Jewish nation; made by-laws and regulations necessary to the safety and well-being of the community, and had general supervision over the interests of the body politic. These powers are defined in an act of the General Court, passed January 2, 1641.

*For reasons that do not appear on the record, they deemed it

* May 29, 1643, the plantations of Massachusetts, New Plymouth, Connecticut and New Haven, with the plantations in combination with them, adopted articles of confederation for their mutual welfare and protection.

Felt (Eccles. Hist. of N. E., VI, p. 563) says that on the 9th of September, 1644, the commissioners of this confederation consented to the application of Southampton to come under the jurisdiction of the Connecticut colony. Hazard State Papers, v. 2, p. 7, seems to assign this event to the date of September 7, 1643.

expedient to unite themselves to the colony of Connecticut, which union occurred in 1643, as will appear from the following order :

March 7, 1643-4. "It was voted and consented vnto by the Generall Court, that the towne of Southampton, shall enter into combinacon with the Jurisdiction of Connecticote."

The date of this union with Connecticut has been a subject of some difference, but the records of Southampton afford enough evidence to settle the question. *Trumbull in his history after the marginal date of October 25, 1644, says: "A little before this Southampton through Edward Howell, John Gosmer and John Moore petitioned to be received in the jurisdiction of Connecticut."

The exact date of the union is stated in the following decision of the General Court.

June 20, 1657. "At a Towne Meeting it was voted and concluded by the major part to accept of, and receive all the lawes of the Jurisdiction of Connekticot, not crossing nor contradicting the limetations of our combination bearing date, May 30, 1645."

These articles copied from Trumbull's Colonial Records of Connecticut, vol. i, p. 566, are as follows :

"A coppie of ye combynation of Southampton, wth Harford.

"Whereas formerly sune Ouerturs haue by letters paste betwixt sune deputed by the Jurissdiction of Conectecote and others of ye plantation of Southampton vpon Long Island, concerning vnion into one boddy and gouernment, whereby ye said Towne might be interested in ye general combination of ye vnited Collonies for prossecution and issuing wherof, Edward Hopkins and John Haines being authorised wth power from ye Generall Corte for ye Jurisdiction of Conectiente, and Edward Howell, John Gosmer and John More, deputed by ye Towne of Southampton, It was by the said parties concluded & agreed, and ye said Towne of Southampton doe by their said deputies, for themselves and their successors assotiate and joyne themselves to ye Jurisdiction of Conecticote to be subject to al the lawes there es-

By the original charter of the Connecticut colony the executive power was vested in the Governor and four magistrates. As the colony increased, the number of magistrates was enlarged, and each town had one or more. It must be remembered that this, the colony of Connecticut, was a separate one from the New Haven colony, which latter was begun in the fall of 1637, when Mr. Theophilus Eaton with others, went out on an exploring expedition, and settled themselves about the Quinnipiac river at the

the head of what is now New Haven harbor. *From this colony thus commenced, came the founders of Southold, who, about the middle of October, 1640, formed themselves into a church organization at that place.

In 1645, on the 30th of May, the articles of combination of Southampton were signed. This made it necessary for the Southampton magistrates to attend officially the general court of election, which occurred at Hartford on the second Thursday in May. There was a second general court held in Hartford in the month of October, which until 1662 was presided over by the Governor and the bench of magistrates, for the enactment of all necessary laws, and for the transaction of other public business.† In April, 1662, a new charter was granted to or imposed upon the Connecticut colony, ordaining that there should be annually two general assemblies, consisting of the Governor, Deputy-Governor and twelve assistants (magistrates) with two deputies from each town. These assemblies were to be held as before, on the second Thursdays of May and October, and for the same purposes. About this time (1662) the New Haven was united to the Connecticut colony, and in the same year Southold came under the jurisdiction of the Connecticut colony.

It would appear from a comparison of the Southampton and the Connecticut records, that while the former town uniformly elected three magistrates, only two of these were accustomed to attend the General Court at Hartford as representatives of their townsmen.

** It also appears that New Haven, or their confederates, purchased and settled Yennicoek or Southold on Long Island. Mr. John Youngs, who had been a minister at Hingham, England, came over with a considerable part of his church, and here fixed his residence. He gathered his church anew on the 21st of October, 1640, and the planters united themselves with New Haven." Trumbull's Hist. Ct., vol. 1, p. 119. But this plantation ceased to be a dependency or a property of New Haven soon after, for (Col. Rec. of Ct., vol. 1, p. 110), at a General Court held at New Haven, October 23, 1643, this language is used: "And whereas Stamforde, Guilforde, Yennicoek have upon the same foundations and ingagements entered into combination with vs," &c. There had been, therefore, at that date already, a union similar to that of Southampton with Connecticut, in 1645. Palfrey says the settlers came from Norfolk, England, and settled here October, 1640. East Hampton united with the Connecticut colony in 1657, and Setauket was also admitted a member of the same October 6, 1658. Trumbull, ibid., p. 235.

In 1662, according to the new charter, John Howell was sent as deputy. In 1663 the deputy was Joshua Barnes, and in 1664, Thomas Halsey, Sen., and John Jessup.

In 1658 East Hampton was first represented at Hartford by Thomas Baker and John Mulford. In 1659, '60 and '61 by Thomas Baker and Robert Bond. In 1662 and '63 by Thomas Baker, and in 1664 by John Mulford and Robert Bond.

As before stated, March 12, 1664, Charles II. granted with other territory Long Island and Islands adjacent, to his brother James, Duke of York, and in the following August, New York was surrendered by the Dutch to Col. Richard Nicolls. Under the patent granted to Connecticut, November 30, 1644, that province claimed jurisdiction over Long Island. This question of boundaries was referred to Commissioners of Charles, who decided that "the Southern bounds of Connecticut is the sea," and that Long Island belonged to New York. Governor Winthrop on seeing the letters-patent to the Duke of York, informed the English on Long Island, that Connecticut had no longer any claims upon that Island.

This union with New York, however, was very unacceptable to the inhabitants of the east end of the Island. Their intercourse with the towns along the Connecticut river was frequent, and in customs, education and religion they were identical with their New England brethren. A considerable trade had grown up between the three towns on the east end and Connecticut, and the efforts of his Royal Highness' officials to divert this to New York, met with hearty remonstrance.

An extract from a report of Gov. Nicolls about 1669, in Doc. Hist. of New York, Vol. i, p. 87, will show the change effected in the government of the town by its union with New York.

"1st. The Governor and Councill with the High Sheriffe and the Justices of the Peace in the Court of the Generall Assizes, have the Supream Power of making, altering and abolishing any Laws in this Government [of the province of N. Y.] The County Sessions are held by Justices upon the Bench. Particular Town Courts by a Constable and eight Overseers. The City Court of New Yorke by a Mayor and Alderman. All causes tried by Juries."

A copy of the code of laws by which the government of the Province of New York was administered was sent to the town and is still in good state of preservation.

These laws are familiarly known in the history of New York as the "Duke's laws," i. e., those of James, Duke of York and Albany. They were compiled partly from the several laws in force in the the Massachusetts and Connecticut colonies, but shaped in the interest of the government by Nicolls at the court of assizes, held in New York in June, 1664, Governor Nicolls calling a convention or assembly representing the counties of Suffolk, Queens and Westchester, ostensibly for the purpose of settling the boundaries of the towns in these counties, but chiefly to lay before them this code of laws and secure their assent to the same. This last was grudgingly given by some of the towns of the east end of Long Island, inasmuch as they were not deemed as liberal as those of New England. This assembly met at Hempstead, February 28, 1664-5. These laws erected Long Island, Staten Island and Westchester into a shire called Yorkshire, which was divided into three Ridings or court districts, Suffolk county being the east Riding, Kings County, Staten Island, and Newtown the west Riding, and Queens County the north Riding.

The deputies to this assembly from Long Island, as given in a Mss. book in office of the Secretary of State at Albany, marked "General Entries," vol. 1, page 93, were as follows :

*According to their requirement, among other things is the following regulation in substance, which explains the appearance of a new set of officers on the Southampton town records. Eight overseers were to be chosen in each town, four for two years and four for one year, and out of the retiring overseers the constable was to be chosen. An overseer on a "sudden and necessary occasion" might perform the duty of constable, provided he carried with him the staff of the office. The overseers were to act as the former assessors, and with the constable (who was also collector of taxes), might enact ordinances for the welfare of the towns not of a criminal nature. Oct. 1666. The number of overseers is changed from eight to four. The town marks as given in the same code are: For East Hampton, A; Southampton, B; Southold, C; Seataleott, D; Huntington, E; Oyster Bay, F; Hempstead, G; Jamaica, H; Flushing, I; Westchester, K; Newtown, L; Bushwick, M; Brookland, N; Flatbush, O; Flatland, P; Vtricht, Q; and Gravesend, R.

The Episode of the Dutch interregnum is interesting as it reveals the sturdy tenacity of the Long Island people in maintaining their civil and religious liberty. The following documents taken from the Colonial History of New York, Docs., vol. ii, p. 583 ff, present of themselves a clear history of the events.

Pursuant to previous letters and summons appeared at the Council the Delegates from the English towns situate on Long Island, east of Oyster Bay, delivering the following in writing:

The Delegates from East Hampton, Southampton, Southold, Setalcot, and Huntington, requested an audience, and entering, delivered in their credentials with a writing in form of a petition: they further declared to submit themselves to the obedience of their High Mightinesses, the Lords States-General of the United Netherlands and his Serene Highness the Prince of Orange, etc. Whereupon the preceding Petition having been read and taken into consideration, it was ordered as follows:

On the first point: They are allowed Freedom of Conscience in the Worship of God and Church discipline.

2d. They shall hold and possess all their goods and lawfully procured lands on condition that said land be duly recorded.

3d. Point regarding the Oath of Allegiance with liberty not to take up arms against their own nation is allowed and accorded to the petitioners.

4th Article is in like manner granted to the petitioners, to nominate a double number for their Magistrates, from which the election shall then be made here by the Governor.

5th. It is allowed the Petitioners that the Magistrates in each town shall pronounce final judgment to the value of five pounds sterling, and the Schout with the General Court of said five towns, to the sum of twenty pounds, but over these an appeal to the Governor is reserved.

6th. In case any of the Dutch towns shall send Deputies, the same shall in like manner be allowed the petitioners.

On the 7th and 8th Articles it is ordered, that the petitioners shall be considered and treated as all other subjects of the Dutch nation and be allowed to enjoy the same privileges with them

9th Article cannot in this conjuncture of time, be allowed.

10th Article: 'Tis allowed that all the foregoing particular contracts and bargains shall stand in full force.

Why the council of Governor Colve chose thus to snub the English in these five towns in the matter of providing a few whale irons and necessary tackle for capturing the whales that happened along the coast, is inconceivable.

The following is the oath which the Dutch government required to be taken by the inhabitants of the eastern towns of Long Island.

“ Oath of Fidelity.

“Wee do sware in the presents of the Almighty God, that wee shall be true and faithfull to ye high & mighty Lords ye States Gemerall of ye united Belgick Provinces and his serene highnesse the Prince of Orange and to their Governrs here for the time being, and to ye utmost of our power to prevent all what shall be attempted against the same, but uppon all occasions to behave ourselves as true & faithfull subjects in conscience are bound to do, provided that wee shal not be forced in armes against our owne nation, if they are sent by a Lawfull commission from his Majesty of England. Soo help us God.”

This oath was refused to be taken by the men of East Hampton, Southampton, Southold and Huntington, they understanding that it was to be administered to their Magistrates only, in behalf of the people. Whereupon the Dutch sent a vessel to compel the people to take it in October, 1673.

The commissioners came from New York in the frigate "Zeehond," arrived at Southold, and called a meeting of the inhabitants to take the oath of allegiance to the Dutch Government. The flag of the Prince of Orange was brought in and displayed. Failing in their attempts to force the oath upon the Southold people, they resolved to break up the assembly and depart. An extract from the frigate's Journal affords an interesting item :

"On leaving the place, some inhabitants of Southampton were present; among the rest one John Cooper who told Mr. Steenwyck, to take care and not appear with that thing at Southampton, which he more than once repeated : for the Commissioners, agreeably to their commission, had intended to go thither next morning. Whereupon Mr. Steenwyck asked what he meant by that word thing, to which said John Cooper replied, the Prince's Flag: then Mr. Steenwyck inquired of John Cooper if he said so of himself or on the authority of the Inhabitants of Southampton. He answered, Rest satisfied that I warn you, and take care that you come not with that Flag within range of shot of our village."

They did not visit South and East Hampton fearing they would "do more harm than good." The commissioners, on their return to New York, reported that the inhabitants of these towns "exhibited an utter aversion thereto, making use of gross insolence, threats, &c., so that the commissioners were obliged to return their object unaccomplished."

Doubtless this was a very sorry report for the countrymen of Van Tromp to be compelled to give of their ill-success in reducing these truculent Puritans to subjection, and it might have been expected — the idea of treating these people as subdued rebels and subjects of executive clemency was simply ridiculous. Governor Winthrop did all in his power to help the Long Island people in this difficulty.

In the month of August of this year, 1673, previous to the visit of the "Zeehond," the Southampton people addressed a letter to the New England colonies, setting forth the demand of the Dutch to surrender to the arms of the Prince of Orange, and their deplorable situation, and the necessity through their weakness, to submit to these demands, this declaration serving to remove any odium attaching to their sudden and unwished for change of allegiance. On the receipt of this John Winthrop, Major of the Connecticut militia, was sent with such force as could be spared in a vessel to Southold, to assist the Long Island people. *February 25, 1673-4, Major Winthrop writes from Southold of a spirited engagement between his forces and the "Snow," a Dutch ship, with one ketch and two sloops, who first summoned the town of Southold to surrender. Upon this Major Winthrop in command replied :

"SIR: . . . I am here appointed by the authority of his Majesty's colony of Connecticutt, to secure these people, in obedience to his Majesty and by God's assistance I hope to give a good account thereof, and you may assure yourself that I will receive you in the same condition as a person that disturbs his Majestys subjects."

Captain John Howell, with forty soldiers from Southampton, and twenty from East Hampton, came promptly at the summons of Major Winthrop for assistance, and took part in this engagement. The Dutch withdrew their forces and the last that was seen of them the vessels were on their return passage through "Plumme Gutt."

But their High Mightinesses were soon compelled to surrender a second time the province of New York to the English crown. It was in July, 1673, that Captain Manning, commander of Fort James, in the absence of Governor Lovelace, made the surrender of New York to the Dutch, and November 10, 1674, the Dutch Governor Colve again surrendered it to Edmund Andros, in behalf of the King of England. Thus closes the history of the civil changes of the town down to the war of the revolution.

Here it may be proper to relate one incident that grew out of the English repossession of New York, illustrating the high and mighty way persons in authority in those days were apt to deal with their subjects. As soon as the new Governor, Andros, was firmly in his seat at New York, to increase his revenues he turns on the Long Islanders and demands that the three easternmost towns shall take out new patents for their lands from himself. In response they unite in sending him the following letter, found on record in the State archives at Albany, Council Minutes, vol. 3, pt. 2, p. 7.

“It was unanimously advised: That the Governor should with all Expedi<sup>con</sup> dispatch an Expre<sup>ss</sup>e with reiterated orders to ye said Towns, for the Admission and resettling of ye Constables and Overseers in their places forthwith as directed in the former Orders, and for default to be declared rebells and prosecuted accordingly.

“That ye Governor by ye same Expre<sup>ss</sup>e send an Order commanding John Mulford, John Howell and John Young, who signed ye said Letter forthwith to make their personall appearance before him at New Yorke, to give an account of ye said Letter, and make answer to w<sup>ht</sup> may be objected against them. The which if they do not do presently Obey to be declared Rebells, and proceeded against accordingly; as also all others within this Government who may or shall presume to abett or assist them in such Rebellious practices agst his Mat<sup>ys</sup> and Royall Highness Authority, to incurre the like penalty. All which, after mature deliberation, was resolved on and accordingly ordered by the Governor.”

So far the Minutes of Council. In desiring to engage in the business of reissuing patents, Governor Andros, and after him Governor Dongan, only did on a small scale what their sovereigns had been doing and did all the time—that is, to issue to company after company of applicants, or to some royal relative or favorite, patents for the same land over and over again. Thus the charter of Connecticut gave to that colony the land west of the Connecticut river to the present boundary of New York ; and the charter of New York, given in 1664, grants to that colony the tract of land eastward to the Connecticut river. So long as the golden stream continued to flow into the royal revenues, however, it mattered little to the monarch how his subjects in distant America settled their disputes growing out of these conflicting grants. Doubtless Charles the Second looked upon it all as a good joke. However, to complete this episode in the history of the three towns, we may add, they were compelled to obey the Governor's mandate and take out new patents. And soon after, to answer the many charges against him of malfeasance of office, their lofty master was himself put under arrest and sent back to England, and another reigned in his stead.

CHAPTER VI.

DURING THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR — OCCUPATION BY THE BRITISH — PERSONAL INCIDENTS — COLONIES — SOLDIERS IN THE SLAVE-HOLDERS REBELLION.

DURING the Revolutionary war the people of Suffolk county were exposed to peculiar hardships. So remote from the field of operations, it was a region strategically not worth defending, but by its wealth of forage and stock well worth the attention of the enemy while in occupation of New York. Until recently it has not been known how extensively the inhabitants participated in the actual struggle in the field, nor has another element in the history of the Island during this period been estimated at its due importance in influencing the condition of the people. This was the oath of allegiance to the British crown exacted by Governor Tryon of the islanders, and will be referred to presently in the course of the narrative. There are four factors in the history of the war in Long Island, or four several points to be treated in writing this history. The first is the preliminary steps showing the spirit with which they entered into the contest. Second, the battle of Long Island overthrowing all the plans of the inhabitants and of the commanding officer for the protection of the Island. Third, the oath of allegiance that sent all that could get away into exile within our lines on the main, chiefly in Connecticut, it being understood that a liberal representation were fighting in the field. Fourth, occupation by the British for seven long years while the land was plundered by friend and foe. In the first place the people of English descent on the Island were intensely loyal to freedom and the cause of independence. Taking Southampton and East Hampton as examples of the patriotic feeling generally pervading the east end of the Island, we learn from the records in the office of the Secretary of State of New York * just what was done in those first days that ushered in the war of independence.

* Calendar of historical MSS. relating to the war of the Revolution, published in 1868.

As early as the summer of 1775, associations were formed throughout the county composed of the male inhabitants capable of bearing arms, from 16 to 50 years of age, the members of which pledged themselves to the support of the measures of the provincial congress, and the union of the American colonies to resist the oppression of the British government. Every male inhabitant in East Hampton and Southampton signed his name to this instrument of association. In Southampton two or three hesitated at first, but soon joined with their neighbors in this pledge of resistance to the claims of royalty. As the signs of war became more ominous this feeling crystallized in the formation of two regiments, whose services were ready at the call of their country. April 5, 1776, the First Regiment of Suffolk county reported thirteen companies, 1030 men, officers and privates, made up from the county west and north of Southampton. February 10, 1776, the Second Regiment reported nine companies, 760 officers and privates, of whom East Hampton furnished two companies, Bridge Hampton two, Sag Harbor and Bridge Hampton jointly two, and Southampton three companies. Bridge Hampton doubtless furnished as many as three companies. In addition to these, Bridge Hampton, East Hampton and Southampton furnished a company of minute men to act as a home guard. The staff officers of the Second Regiment were David Mulford, Colonel; Jonathan Hedges of Bridge Hampton, Lieut-Colonel and Uriah Rogers and George Herrick of Southampton, Majors; Adjutant, John Gelston; Quar. Master, Phineas Howell; Sergt. Major, Lemuel Pierson; Drum Major, Elias Matthews. This was the first step, the preliminary work to the fast coming contest.

When General Sir William Howe awoke one morning and saw that General Washington had during the night occupied and fortified Dorchester Heights which commanded Boston and its harbor, he saw that for the time being New England was lost. He accordingly sailed away with all his forces to Halifax, preliminary to moving on New York. Washington divined his plans, and sent a large body of troops who were posted, some in the city and some, the largest body, on Long Island in the rear of Brooklyn, guarding the approaches to the city. Four days after the landing of the troops of General Howe on Staten Island, his brother, Admiral Richard Howe, arrived with reinforcements, and then the American army of 9,000 troops was confronted with the British and Hessians to the number of 30,000. The British, under General Clinton, landed 10,000 troops in the rear of the Americans on Long Island, and marched upon them in three divisions. On the 27th of August, 1776, the opposing forces met and began the famous battle of Long Island, so disastrous to the cause of the patriots, and one that was lost through the neglect to fortify or guard one of the approaches to the American position.

In this battle were engaged, besides the two Long Island regiments before mentioned, two other bodies of troops, as follows :

EAST HAMPTON COMPANY.

Capt., Ezekiel Mulford ; 1st Lieut., John Miller ; 2d Lieut., Nathaniel Hand. Commissioned February 23, 1776.

FIRST SOUTHAMPTON COMPANY.

SECOND SOUTHAMPTON COMPANY.

Capt., David Pierson ; 1st Lieut., John Foster, Jr. ; 2d Lieut., Abraham Rose ; Ensign, Edward Topping. Commissioned February 23, 1776.

FIRST SOUTHOLD COMPANY.

Capt., John Bayley ; 1st Lieut., Joshua Youngs ; 2d Lieut., John Tuthill ; Ensign, James Reeves. Commissioned May 3, 1776.

SECOND SOUTHOLD COMPANY.

COMPANY.

Capt., Selah Strong; 1st Lieut., William Clark; 2d Lieut., Caleb Brewster; Ensign, Nath'l Brewster. Commissioned April 4, 1776.

May 30, 1776, a return of this regiment gives Isaac Overton, 2d Major, vice Baker, and Captain, Nathaniel Platt, vice Selah Strong.

The second military organization was an Artillery Company attached to Col. Smith's Minute Regiment, the officers of which were as follows:

Capt., William Rogers, of B. H.; Capt. Lieut., John Franks; 1st Lieut., Jeremiah Rogers; 2d Lieut., Thomas Baker, of E. H.; Lt. Fireworker, John Tuthill.

The rosters of these military bodies have never been published excepting that of Col. Smith in Munsell's History of New York, and it is not known whether they are in existence.

A third regiment of Suffolk county is mentioned and commissions were issued to its officers, but no roster has been found.

There is a paper in the archives of the State Library indorsed: "Return of the names of the persons for officers of the Second Battalion in Suffolk county, taken according to the directions of the Provincial Congress by the committees of East Hampton and Southampton."

I suppose this to be the list of the commissioned officers of the Second Regiment whose staff officers were before mentioned, but of the regiment as reconstructed after the battle of Long Island. The list is as follows:

FIRST COMPANY.

Capt., David Howell; 1st Lieut., Jeremiah Post; 2d Lieut., Paul Jones; Ensign, Zephaniah Rogers.

SECOND COMPANY.

Capt., John Dayton; 1st Lieut., Isaac Mulford Huntting; 2d Lieut., John Miller, Jr.; Ensign, William Hedges.

THIRD COMPANY.

Capt., David Pierson; 1st Lieut., Daniel Hedges; 2d Lieut., David Sayre; Ensign, Theophilus Pierson.

FOURTH COMPANY.

FIFTH COMPANY.

Capt., Stephen Howell; 1st Lieut., John White, Jr.; 2d Lieut., Lemuel Wick; Ensign, Isaac Halsey.

SIXTH COMPANY.

Capt., William Rogers; 1st Lieut., Jesse Halsey; 2d Lieut., Henry Halsey; Ensign, Nathaniel Rogers.

SEVENTH COMPANY.

Capt., Josiah Howell; 1st Lieut., Nathaniel Howell; 2d Lieut., Matthew Howell; Ensign, William Stephens.

EIGHTH COMPANY.

Capt., Samuel L'Homedieu; 1st Lieut., Silas Jessup; 2d Lieut., Edward Conkling; Ensign, Daniel Fordham.

NINTH COMPANY.

Capt., John Sandford; 1st Lieut., Edward Topping; 2d Lieut., Philip Howell; Ensign, John Hildreth.

The officers above named of the "battalion" were commissioned September 13, 1775, and were composed of some of those of Colonel Smith's Minute Regiment which was disbanded as a regiment after the battle of Long Island, as it is reported, by the orders of Washington, in order that such as was needed to protect their homes should return, and others as preferred could enlist under a new organization.

The third element in the history of this war was the oath of allegiance exacted by Governor Tryon. This included the promise not only to refrain from engaging actively in war, but also from furnishing any supplies to the American army and from harboring or assisting in any way those who were in the field. In short, as Rev. Dr. Buel of East Hampton wrote in bitter irony, they were "subjects of his Majesty, King George." Large numbers were compelled to remain for the support of their families. Many heads of families to avoid taking the oath of allegiance fled to Connecticut, and remained while their farms were tilled by slaves under the direction of the women or some neighbor who could not get away. These were frequently men past the age of bearing arms but utterly unwilling to take the oath of allegiance. Dr. Buel of East Hampton, in correspondence with Governor Tryon, made vigorous endeavors to mitigate the terms of this oath, but all his efforts seemed to be in vain. So revolting was it to the feelings of the people that tillage was neglected, and only enough land was cultivated to keep the inhabitants from starvation, while the heads of families above fifty years of age to escape insult and imprisonment of person and confiscation of property were compulsory exiles in a neighboring colony. Not all fled thither—not all could. Some had wives or sisters or daughters to protect, and some were too poor or too infirm to depart and were compelled to remain as “subjects of his Majesty King George.” Mere neutrality did not satisfy the royal Governor. Not only the allegiance to the crown, but material aid in carrying on the war was demanded and taken. This brings us to the fourth element in the history, the British occupation from the battle of Long Island to the evacuation of New York city, November 25, 1783. During all this seven years the Island groaned under the oppressive occupation of their soil by the hostile invader. Their circumstances exposed them, however, to sufferings and outrages from both parties. Their forced submission to the Royal Army (their misfortune, not their fault), caused them to be viewed with suspicion by their brethren upon the continent, and often invited parties of plunder from that quarter. Multitudes fled for shelter and protection to the shores of Connecticut.

“Dr. Buell writes from E. Hampton, Sept’r 22, ’76, that the People are as a torch on fire at both ends, which will speedily be consumed, for the Cont. Whiggs carry off their stock and produce, and the British punish them for letting it go,—hopes the Whigs will not oppress the oppressed, but let the stock alone.

“The history of that seven years’ suffering will never be told. Philosophy has no adequate remedy for silent, unknown, unpitied suffering. . . . Left to the tender mercies of the foe; plundered by countryman and stranger of their property and ripened harvest; robbed of the stores which they reaped and garnered;

slandered by suspicious brethren; taunted and scoffed at by the mercenary victors, they never wavered. Their hearts were in their country's cause; and in the memorable language of their great compatriot, 'sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish,' they were true to their country. Unterrified, unalterable, devoted Americans." *

Aside from these occasional raids, from friend and foe, the winter of 1778-9 was memorable for the occupation of Southampton by the British. A squadron of cavalry were quartered there, who, by their disregard to the rights of property and usages of war, contrived to gain the ill-will of all the inhabitants. One old house standing in 1866 still bore marks on the kitchen floor of the axe of the British quartermaster. They constructed two or three small earth-works or forts overlooking the town, the escarpments of one of which are still quite sharply defined. † There were two small iron field pieces, carronades, in possession of the town, which the inhabitants, it is said, placed in the belfry of the church as weights to the town clock, to prevent them from falling into the hands of the enemy. It is certain one of them was removed thence in 1843, when the spire was demolished, and the other had been used for many years on the anniversaries of our nation's independence.

Onderdonk, in his Revolutionary incidents of Suffolk and Kings counties, cites some of the newspapers of the day, which state that in February, 1779, fourteen companies of light infantry, 700 men, were quartered at Southampton. In March the force was increased to 2,500 men by the coming of General Clinton with a body of troops. In April of the same year 500 foot and 50 horse were in Southold, and 100 men and two field pieces at Sag Harbor. The number of men actually in possession was a varying quantity, as the plans and circumstances chanced to determine.

During the occupation by the British, such frequent calls for forage were made upon the farmers that sufficient food did not remain for their own stock. A kind Providence, however, provided for their wants. The frost came out of the ground early in February, and continuous warm weather brought out the grass abundantly, and their cattle were saved from starvation.

However, the rigors of a military occupation were somewhat softened in Southampton by the presence of the commander-in-chief, Lord Erskine. He had his headquarters while remaining here in the house late the residence of William S. Pelletreau. He was a man of integrity and even-handed justice and restrained to some degree the soldiers quartered in Southampton from committing the depredations so common in the neighboring parish of Bridge Hampton. It is said that his coming here prevented the use of the church for stabling purposes, which was the design of the officer in command before Lord Erskine's arrival. At length, having become convinced of the injustice of the cause of England in her quarrel with the Colonies, he resigned his commission and returned to Europe.

A Mr. Benjamin Foster, who resided in a locality known by the name of Littleworth, had one or more petty officers quartered in his house. He was a very devout man and not ashamed to own his Lord. One of these British officers one day asked him in derision to pray with him. Mr. Foster replied that he had regular hours for prayer, and if he would come in the morning when the family were assembled for prayers he should be welcome. This the officer did, bringing with him a comrade to enjoy the proceeding. But his comrade soon divined the motive which led his brother in arms to such an unusual scene, and having at least a respect for religion and his worthy host, immediately after prayer took up a hymn book near him and read aloud :

I'll not be overawed ;
But let the scoffing sinner hear,
That I can speak for God.”

Major Cochrane was the commanding officer at Bridge Hampton while the Island was occupied by the British. He is still remembered as a merciless tyrant. He once caused a peaceable and inoffensive man, William Russell by name, to be tied up and whipped till the blood ran down to his feet, and this with no adequate provocation. As before remarked, the people of this parish suffered much from the lawless soldiery — not only from nocturnal marauders, but from vandalism perpetrated in open daylight. Cattle were wantonly carried off, forage seized without payment, loose property appropriated and even furniture in their dwellings demolished. They came to the house of Mr. Lemuel Pierson and turned him out. Against their orders he was determined to carry off some of his furniture, and although they stood over him with drawn sword, he persisted and gained his point. At another time they came to his house to secure any plunder that might offer itself. Mrs. Pierson was alone in the house with young children, but nothing daunted met them at the door with a kettle of hot water and threatened to scald the first man who attempted to enter her doors; and the British, thinking discretion the better part of valor, quietly retreated.

At another time a number of British soldiers, with blackened faces and coats turned inside out, came at night to the house of Mr. Edward Topping. Mr. Topping was awakened by their noise, and, seizing his gun, ran to defend his castle from the intruders. A window was raised from the outside and a man appeared about to make an entrance. Mr. Topping commanded him to retire and threatened to shoot if he persisted. No attention was paid to his warning, however, and, as the man was climbing in, he shot, and the soldier fell back dead. He was carried off by his comrades, and the next morning word was sent to Gen. Erskine at Southampton. He came over to Bridge Hampton, investigated the affair, and having learned the facts, said to the British soldiers around him: "Is that one of your best men? Dom him, (kicking the body,) take him down to the ocean and bury him below high water mark." And so ended the affair, which under Major Cochrane might have had for Mr. Topping a more tragical termination.

David Hand of this Township, residing in Sag Harbor, was a sailor both in privateers and vessels of the navy during the Revolution. He experienced with many others, the horrors of the Jersey prison ship. On one occasion a small frigate of the navy was captured after a short action by a British vessel of superior armament, off the harbor of Charleston. Being a carpenter he was detailed to make repairs on the prize with promise of pay by the English commander. After the repairs were completed, he was taken in a boat to the British frigate. When about half way between the two vessels, at a signal from the coxswain, the oars were hove up, and after a fruitless struggle on his part, his clothes were taken by the sailors and divided among them. On their arrival at the British vessel, he marched up to the commander and demanded restitution of his clothing, but gained no further satisfaction than a surly, "Go and find them — I have got nothing to do about that." He then asked for his promised pay for repairs of the American frigate, and he was equally unsuccessful. Completely disgusted with the "perfidious Albion," he said to the captain: "All I ask now is, to begin at your taffrail rail, and fight the whole ship's crew forward, and die like a man." The captain, of course, paid no attention to this, and he was ordered forward among the other prisoners. Having survived all the dangers of the war, he lived long, a man of note and respectability, honored by his fellow citizens for his bravery and manly virtues.

Thomas and Abraham, sons of Ethan Halsey, also served in the war of the Revolution.

It has been impossible up to this date to ascertain the number of men of the east end, who served in the Revolutionary war, but the number was considerable. Captain Henry Halsey, of Southampton, informed the writer that his grandfather, Jesse Halsey, and another man, on hearing the news of the battle of Lexington, and the movement of the British forces on Boston, at once started for the scene of action. Leaving their horses at Sag Harbor, they crossed over to New London in a small vessel, and from there marched to Boston where they arrived just at the close of the battle of Bunker Hill. They then joined the Continental army, and Halsey, at least, served through the war, part of the time as captain. He was present, standing near General Lee at the battle of Monmouth, when Washington rode up in terrible indignation, and, rising in his stirrups, thundered out: "In the name of God, Lee, what do you mean?" The old revolutionary hero often spoke of it, and was certain of the language used by General Washington. Two other townsmen were in this battle, and did service during the war — John and Elias Pelletreau, the sons of Captain Elias Pelletreau. This town also furnished four surgeons for the war of the Revolution, Henry White, Shadrack Hildreth, William Burnett, and Silas Halsey.

Among the celebrities of these times was a negro slave by the name of Pompey, owned by the Mackie family. He was born in the colonies, was shrewd, a man of good sense, of much force of character, always ready for a joke and very apt to perpetrate one at the expense of another. Many characteristic stories of his doings are handed down, of which we give a few.

Some dragoons were quartered on his master in 1778. Considering himself insulted on one occasion, and doubtless with good reason by some of them, he mixed pounded glass with the feed of some of their horses, so that quite suddenly a number were found dead in their stalls. Pomp, who was cross-examined, expressed profound ignorance of the misfortune and thus the matter ended.

On another occasion he had a difficulty with a soldier who interfered with his barnyard arrangements. The dragoon drew his sword, but Pomp charged and routed him from the field with his pitchfork.

One saying of his has become proverbial in this region. Mr. Mackie had a horse which being wholly in charge of Pomp, was pampered with good care and light work. One day the horse drawing a load refused duty, and suddenly stopped in the middle of the road. This was too much to be borne; accordingly Pomp provided himself with a stout cudgel, marched up to the horse, and, shaking the stick in his face, said, "Well, old horse, if you won't bear prosperity, you'll have to try adversity," and thereat he gave him a severe drubbing—and it is said, "Adversity made the mare go." On another occasion he was at work for some one in the neighborhood and was invited by his employer to ask a blessing at the dinner table. Pomp observed a skunk served up to his great disgust. He complied with the request however, in part, asking the Lord to bless the bread, but to curse the skunk.

This little town, besides sending out pioneers singly all over the United States, has even sent off its colonies at various times in its history. The first of these was a few years after the settlement, when the Rev. Abraham Pierson was directed by the Association in Connecticut to remove to Branford of that State. Quite a number accompanied him, and some even when afterward he again removed to New Jersey where with others he founded the town of Elizabeth.

The next colony was one that founded and settled the sister town of East Hampton in 1649. That this is true, however contrary to the common impression, is evident by comparing the list of the settlers of East Hampton as given in Hedges' address with personal and genealogical notices throughout this volume. Of the names there given the following were known to have been previously residents of Southampton: John Hand, Thomas Talmage, Daniel Howe, Thomas Thomson, John Stratton, Robert Bond, Robert Rose, Joshua Barnes, John Mulford, William Hedges, Ralph Dayton, Thomas Chatfield, William Simonds Fulke Davis, Nathaniel Bishop, William Barnes, Jeremiah Veale, John Miller (?) Richard Shaw and Jeremiah Meacham. Besides these only nine heads of families are found in the list of the East Hampton colonists. These may have come from the two colonies of New Haven and Connecticut as Governors Eaton and Hopkins united in purchasing the land of this town from the Indians.

Considerable numbers also removed from time to time to New Jersey, during the first hundred years dating from the settlement. The Southampton family names are found scattered all over the State. Quite a strong colony went out to Blooming Grove, Orange county, N. Y., about 1760.

Another colony, strongly represented by Southampton and East Hampton families, was that of Achter Kol or Feversham or Elizabethtown, New Jersey, which settlement had successively all of these names. Among the inhabitants who took the oath of allegiance in Elizabethtown in 1665, February 19, and again about 1714, were the following :*

About the year 1800 another emigration went out from Southampton to Montrose, Penn. Bartlett Haines or Hinds, originally from Boston, but from Southampton, in 1800 married Agnes, the widow of Isaac Post, and removed with her and her two sons, Isaac and David Post, to what is now Montrose — then a wilderness. Both of these boys lived to rear families themselves, whose descendants now live there.

Among others, Daniel Foster, Ichabod Halsey and David Harris went there about the same time. Isaac P. Foster removed there in 1811. Austin Howell, William Foster, Francis Fordham and Abraham Fordham in 1812.

Benjamin Sayre, a native of Southampton, went to Montrose from Cairo, N. Y., with his wife Priscilla and six children about this time also.

Judge William Jessup, born June 21, 1797, graduate of Yale 1815, married 1820 to Amanda Harris, emigrated there later. He died September 11, 1868, honored alike in church and State.

From a sermon of Rev. Horace Eaton, of Palmyra, N. Y., we give the following extract concerning another Southampton Colony.

“In 1788 a company was formed of eleven, in Southampton, Long Island. In the early spring of 1790, Elias Reeves and Joel Foster took their way to the far west, as their agents,—first to Fort Pitt, now Pittsburg, where they found Luke Foster, an acquaintance. Together they penetrated to the vast wilderness of Virginia, to the Ohio, and passed down to Fort Washington, now Cincinnati. There they purchased land on what was called Turkey Bottoms. They left Luke Foster to build and make preparation while they returned to conduct the colony to their forest home.

“But a singular circumstance turned the locality and the future history of the projected immigration. When Joel Foster and Elias Reeves, arrived at Long Island, they found William Hopkins, an uncle of Elias Reeves, and Abraham Foster on a visit from New Jersey. Hopkins was a son of the Hon. Stephen Hopkins, whose trembling hand stands so prominent among the signers of the Declaration. William Hopkins had been connected with the ‘Leasee Company,’ was acquainted with the Genesee country and saw its prospective importance. He urged upon his friends the value of a God-fearing community. He told them of the colonies from New England, that they were descendants from the Puritans, with principle and purpose congenial with their own. His arguments prevailed. The company relinquished the purpose of settling on the Ohio—and directed Elias Reeves and William Hopkins to pass by the northern route, beyond the military Tract, while Joel Foster, Abraham Foster, and Luther Sanford were to explore along the boundaries of Pennsylvania. The Fosters and Sanford started June, 1791, but found the country mountainous and forbidding. Being carpenters, on consideration of good wages, they stopped at a place called Lindley town, and engaged in the erection of mills, leaving the work of exploration to Reeves and Hopkins, who, on the 20th of August, 1791, left Long Island with their rifles and knapsacks, came by water to Albany—then on foot, following the Indian trails to Geneva,—thence to town ‘No. 12’ [afterward called Swifttown—then Tolland—and finally, Palmyra]. These valleys were well watered. The height and strength of the trees were an exponent of the depth and richness of the soil. They resolved to try the effect of hard work and honest principles upon a region more luxuriant than that from which they came. Upon the tall maples and the sturdy oaks, they placed their names as a pre-emption mark. This done, Hopkins and Reeves made their way across the State to the Pennsylvania line, where they found Joel Foster, Abraham Foster and Luther Sanford. There they drew and signed the following bond :

"This instrument of writing witnesseth, that Wm. Hopkins, of the State of New Jersey, Elias Reeves, Joel Foster, Abraham Foster and Luther Sanford, all of the State of New York, do agree and bind themselves severally each to the other, under the penalty of fifty pounds, to abide by and make good any purchase of land which Elias Reeves and Abraham Foster shall make of Oliver Phelps, Esq., or any other person, within twenty days from the date hereof. The proportion of land which each of us shall have is to be concluded among ourselves hereafter. In witness of all which we have hereunto set our hands and seals in Ontario County, State of New York, this ninth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety one.

"WILLIAM HOPKINS,

"ELIAS REEVES,

"JOEL FOSTER,

"ABRAHAM FOSTER,

"LUTHER SANFORD."

After concluding this engagement, all, save Elias Reeves and Abraham Foster, returned to the Island. These made their way back to "No. 12," stopping at the house of one Crittenden, residing in the "Old Castle," at Geneva. From him they received a peck of apples, the fruit of the old Indian Orchard, as a present to John Swift. [Swift was the "first pioneer" in Palmyra, and had bought the land of the town, though it was not then entirely paid for.] When they arrived they were offered some of the apples. They craved only the seeds, and proceeding to a beautiful bluff on the farm now owned by Gen. Lyman Reeves, they planted them, which proved the first bearing orchard west of Geneva. Having selected their lands, they contracted with Phelps at Canandaigua, for five thousand five hundred acres, for eleven hundred pounds, New York currency, one hundred of which they paid down. It will be noticed this was in September, 1791. The Durfee family had not yet arrived. As Swift could not meet his engagements, his title was doubtful. Hence, Reeves and Foster, to make the thing sure, treated with Phelps and Gorham directly. But when Gideon and Edward Durfee arrived, his hard money met the hard times, and Swift was enabled to pay his notes, and received a genuine title to the town. Hence we find the Long Island Company the next year taking their deed from John Swift.

"Having viewed the land, the spies returned, bringing back, all of them, like Caleb and Joshua, a good report. This enterprise was not a failure. The coming winter, Joel Foster built a sail boat, Cyrus Foster making the nails, and launched it on Heddy Creek, near Southampton. After a well-spent Sabbath, on Monday morning the 4th of April, 1792, the first colony, from Long Island, embarked on their voyage of nearly five hundred miles. They sailed through the sound * to New York, then to Albany: from Albany they transported their boat by land 16 miles to Schenectady — with ‘setting poles’ pushed the boat up the Mohawk to Rome. There the boat was taken from the Mohawk and conveyed by land something less than a mile, to Wood creek, thence floating down to Oneida Lake — through the lake and the outlet they came to Oswego River; thence into Seneca River — through that to Clyde River — from Clyde River through Mud Creek to Saw-mill Creek, landing near the present residence of Hiram Foster. The whole voyage occupied twenty-eight days. Mrs. Joel Foster brought in her arms her eldest son, Harry Foster, then an infant of eleven months.

“The way now being open, the same old hive sent out repeated swarms of working bees. The Clarks, Posts, Howells, Jaggers, Culvers, Jessups and many others followed. ‘The wilderness and the solitary place were glad for them.’ This old boat did good service in going and returning, with other companies, as they arrived from Long Island at Schenectady. It was finally conveyed around to Seneca Lake, and used as a pleasure boat. Truly a noble craft! I would go as far to see that old boat as the ship in which Dr. Kane penetrated the frozen North.”

Besides this colony others removed to Seneca county, N. Y., and still others to Susquehanna county, Pa., about the beginning of this century. Among the latter was the Hon. William Jessup of Montrose, who beginning his career in his new home, rose to eminence and obtained a name honored widely both in church and State.

(but not like them by plunder), and engaged in the perilous enterprise of whale fishery, who had circumnavigated the world, a trip to the mines of the modern Ophir was a trifling matter. Consequently, besides a large company who purchased a ship, and in the winter of 1849-50, set sail from Greenport for San Francisco, others followed in their footsteps from time to time, some of whom found there a home and some unhappily a grave.

NEW YORK ANNEX.

The fact that the shores of Southampton are the first coming from the west, to border directly on the ocean, and its beauty, healthfulness and the high tone of morality pervading the place, all have combined to induce a large settlement of the people of New York seeking a country residence for the summer. The first to come here was a grandson of the Rev. David S. Bogart, before mentioned. Mr. Leon D. DeBost with his older brothers had spent his boyhood days here and about 1872, purchased a lot of Mr. Wm. S. Pelletreau and built a residence. The impulse to a settlement, however, was given by Dr. T. Gaillard Thomas, a well known successful physician of the city. His residence was built in 1877 and annually thereafter house after house has been erected. Though styled cottages they are of liberal dimensions, often finished in hard woods and elegant without and within. They have all two full stories and most of them have parlors on each side of a central hall. In general terms they belong to the Queen Anne style of architecture though no two are similar in appearance.

At the time of writing this, September, 1886, nearly all the land bordering upon the ocean has been purchased and occupied by the Annex. Lawn tennis grounds were given by Dr. Thomas for this amusement and daily through the summer months young men and maidens are seen in friendly competition for the highest score. The people of the Annex have united with the villagers in a Village Improvement Society and the name is justified in the results of their labors through the streets and about the residences of the inhabitants.

SOLDIERS IN THE SLAVEHOLDERS' REBELLION.

The repeated demand for men to fill the armies and sustain the cause of freedom during the war of the Slaveholders' Rebellion, from 1861 to 1865, were met in a patriotic spirit by the people of Southampton. Her quotas were always promptly filled, either by her own sons or by substitutes which her wealth procured, as was customary throughout the country.

The limits of this work will not permit a detailed list of the soldiers who served in this war, but a copy taken from the original returns of the census of 1865, now deposited in the New York

State Library, will be deposited in the office of the town clerk at Southampton. This list shows that from the first election district, including that portion of Sag Harbor lying in the town, were sent forty-one soldiers. From the second district, Bridgehampton, fifty soldiers. From the third, Southampton village, thirty-one soldiers. From the fourth, including Goodground, etc., twenty-nine. From the fifth or westernmost district, eleven soldiers. Total, 162. Besides these the town procured a large number of substitutes.

CHAPTER VII.

CIVIL LAWS — COURTS — DECREES OF COURTS.

WE have seen before how the jealous care for the liberties of the people resulted in the institution of the General Court, the fundamental idea of which was that the people, being the fountain of power, should be invested with it. We have also seen that for the government of the colony they enacted a code of laws founded on those of the Jewish Lawgiver. Besides these are found occasional regulations for temporary purposes scattered through the Records. And when the union with Connecticut occurred, they accepted its code of laws also, so far as they did not interfere with their own. Again when the Island came under the jurisdiction of New York, in 1664, they received a copy of laws from Governor Andros, which, of course, superseded all the former.

Of course the execution of their laws must be committed into the hands of proper officers. The first of these were two and afterward three magistrates chosen annually. A record defining their functions is found, dated January 2, 1641, as follows:

“The magistrates shall govern according to the laws now established and to be established by General Courts hereafter. They and either of them shall be able to send out warrants to any officer to fetch any delinquent before them, and examine the cause and to take order by sureties or safe custody for his or their appearance at court. And further, to prevent the offenders lying in prison, it shall be lawful for the Magistrates or either of them to see execution done upon any offenders for any crime that is not capital according to the laws that [are] established or to be established in this place.”

The first town meeting on record was held April 6, 1641.

By an order of the General Court, December 22, 1644, four quarter courts were to be held annually, commencing on the first Tuesdays in March and June, the third Tuesdays in September and the fourth Tuesday in December. These were the Magistrates’

Courts. At the same time it was ordered to hold an annual General Court on the first Tuesday of October for election of town officers.

For many years this was the county seat of Suffolk county, and, of course, county courts were held here, concerning which the town records are silent.

TOWNSMEN.

The office of "Townsmen" appears to differ from the Magistracy. Their duties embraced those that are now divided between the supervisor and assessors, as will be seen from the following:

"Feb. 4th, 1664. John Jessup, Edward Howell and Henry Pierson were chosen Townesmen until the 6th of October next. During wh time they have given them, and are by the Towne authorized to make any rate or Levvy they shall see necessary, to use all lawfull means they shall see meet for getting in the debts due from any pson or psons unto the Towne, to make any law or order (thit contradicts not some former order made by the Towne) concerning fences or any other publique occasion, and to doe or act any thing wh in there judgments may conduce to the Townes advantage. And whatsoever they shall act or transact as afforesaid the Towne doe ratify & confirme and shall observe. Moreover the said select men setting up thereir order or orders on the Meeting house poste at the beat of the drum the same shall bee, and bee accompted sufficient and lawfull publishmt thereof. The Towne beeing to defray the cost the said 3 men shall be at in the premises."

The mere insertion of the orders and decrees of the General Court, while it preserves the records that are yearly growing more illegible, also, perhaps depicts more vividly than a narrative could possibly do the surrounding circumstances of our founders. No other apology is therefore needed for the following extracts:

FREEMEN.

"South<sup>on</sup> this 8th of the 8th month, 1647. It is ordered by this generall Cort that if any man be chosen to be a freeman of this towne shall refuse it shall paye fortie shillings for his fine.

In the New Eng. Entries, Plantation office London, the qualifications of a freeman in New England about 1680 are said to be as follows: A freeman must be orthodox, above 20 years old and worth about £200.* But the latter qualification was not exacted in Southampton.

"Imprimous, at this instant Generall Cort, that Richard Odell Gentleman was chosen freeman and Edward Joanes Josias Stambro and John White.

"It is ordered this 7 day of October 1648 by the Generall Court that Mr. Richard Smyth, Mr. William Browne, John Howell were chosen Freemen of this towne of Southampton.

"Traynings are to begin at seaven of the clock in the morning from the first of March to the last of September, then from the last of September to the first of March to begin at eight of the clock in the morning."

MEASURES FOR THE SAFETY OF THE TOWN.

“May 4, 1657. It is ordered by the seven men empowered to devise and take means to preserve the town — that one half of the Inhabitants of this town shall keep centinell or ward in the town according as they shall be disposed by officers for that purpose for one day — and the other half of the Inhabitants shall have liberty to goe about their planting or occations, provided they goe together and work soe neere together that in the judgment of those appoynted by a centinell, the company that soe goe forth may come together before any danger in respect of assault, as came upon them the other day, and so successively untill further order in this respect. And all those that soe goe forth are to have their armes with them, & it is left to Sergeant Post to see to and effect the aforesaid order.

LAND ALLOTTED.

“October 13, 1643. Thomas Burnett hath a lott granted unto him one the Southeast side upon Condition that hee staye three years in the Towne to improve it.

“May 6, 1648. It is ordered that Thomas Robinson shall be accepted as an Inhabitant & hath a fifty pound lot granted vnto him provided the said Thomas be not vnder any scandalous crime wh may be layd to his charge within 6 moneths after the date hereof & that he carry himself heere as becometh an honest man.

This is the first mention in the Records of the Fowler family.

“Jan. 25, 1655. It is ordered that noe Inhabitant within the boundes of this Towne shall sell his house and Land or any part thereof unto any pson tht is a forrainer at any time hence forward except the pson bee such as the Towne doe like of."

BENEVOLENCE.

In 1679-80 (March 11) at a time when money must have been very scarce, as the usual transactions in "country pay" or barter of agricultural produce was called, sufficiently indicate, the people of Southampton contributed a fund of £18, 15sh., as a "free-will offering towards the reliefe of the captives which is in slavery in Turkey."

THANKSGIVING.

This custom of setting apart a day for public thanksgiving to the Almighty for the usual or extraordinary blessings experienced in their lives is found quite early. As we find in the MSS. records at Albany.* Thus June 7, 1675, and February 8, 1676-7, were appointed as days of Thanksgiving and prayer by Governor Andros.

VOTING ENFORCED.

"October 13, 1643. It is ordered that whatsoever matters or Orders shall be referred to the publick vote every man that is then and there present and a Member of the Courte shall give his vote and suffrage eyther against or ffor any such matters and not in any Case to be a neuter."

LICENSE LAW.

“March 3, 1653. It is ordered that whereas Thos. Goldsmith is prevailed with by the towne to keep an ordinary in this towne — there is no person shall retaile any liquors or wines, or strong drink within the bounds of this plantation but hee the said Thomas Goldsmith vpon penalty of ten shillings per quart.”

“Jan. 25, 1655. At a Generall Court Jan. 25, 1655. To prevent abuses by drinking liquor: It is ordered that noe liquor whatsoever that is distilled shall bee sould within the limitts of this towne by any but by our neighbour John Cooper who shall have liberty to sell to the people, as necessity or occasion in his judgment requires, whom this court did intrust that the bounds of moderation and sobriety bee not exceeded by any in his presence or at his house. And that hee will carefully observe the quantities hee doth sell to any out of his house tht soe hee may prevent this great disorder at present in respect of the Indians, their having liquor and abusing themselves therewith, and that to his best skill or understanding hee may prevent any from buying liquor from him that will or may sell to the Indians. Alsoe it is concluded that hee the said John Cooper, shall not exceed the quantity of nine Ankers* by the yeare to sell to the Inhabitants of all the towne and the price thereof to be reasonable. And the North Sea men finding a man that shall ingage as the said John Cooper doth, they shall have the allowance alsoe of three Ankers by the yeare and not to exceed. And if any defect be in this aforesaid order soe that it reach not the end, the Magistrates have power to supply any deficiency herein according to their discretion.”

* Anker, a Dutch measure of 10 gallons.

This is the first restriction on the sale of liquor (known to the writer) within the bounds of this State.

VARIOUS ORDERS.

“1652. At a Towne Meeting Oct. 15, 1652, Isack Willman in a passionate manner said that some of them that voated for the raising of the Mill knew not more what belonged to the sea-poose than a dogg. A note appended says ‘hee hath made satisfaction.’

“1651. Sarah Veale, wife of Thomas Veale, was at the quarter Court held upon the 4th day of June, 1651 sentenced by the Magistrates for exorbitant words of imprecation to stand with her tongue in a cleft stick soe long as the offence committed by her is read and declared.

“1651. At a generall Court held the 13th day of August 1651 Yf any person or persons be found or it can be proned that by them any fruit be stolen or taken away uniuistly off from any mans land or ground, yf the person or persons be vnder the age of sixteene years of age, the parents of the saide child or children shall then severely correct them by whipping of them, and that to be done before some sufficient spectator, yf the parent or parents of the said child or children doe refuse soe to doe, then the said person or persons to be corrected before the Magistrates and the parents for their neglect of the children to undergoe such penalty as the magistrates shall lay upon them, as alsoe the offending persons shall pay for the frutes stolen, and by them, double of the value of the fruits stolen shall be payd to the owners of the saide fruites, and one sufficient witness shall serve for conviction.

“Alsoe any person or persons that is above the age of sixteene yeares shall for any fruit stolen by them pay vnto the owners of the saide Goods fourefold as for other stolen goods.

“Sept. 22, 1658. It is ordered by this Court that Mary Cleare shall lue no longer wandering to and fro from house to house, but that shee, shall lue a year in a place, Except shee change her condition by marriage.—(Query : was she sentenced previously to a vagabond life for some indiscretion, and this the remission of the sentence ?)

“Aug. 13, 1651. At the saide Generall Court it is ordered that M<sup>r</sup>. “Nov. 6, 1666. Ordered that each man shall set up a ladder by his chimney reaching to the top of his house.” (The houses were usually two stories in front, always facing south, and one in rear — thus giving one short and one long roof — the ladder was placed on the long roof. So invariable was the custom of building their houses with front to the south, that one of unusual antiquity demolished only a few years since, was so erected on the south side of an east and west street with the kitchen actually fronting the street.)

WITCHCRAFT.

About 1683 “Thomas Travally enters a complaint agst Edward Lacy for that the Defend. injuriously called the Complainant’s wife a witch and said that she set his corne on fire and sat upon his house in the night. A witch and that hee was hagriden 3 nights by her ; and hee was Confident she was an old witch.

the charges to somons           0   1   0 action to be paid by ye Deft       0   2   6"

It does not appear from the records or otherwise that this delusion so prevalent in New England, ever seriously troubled the peace of Southampton. The case above recorded stands alone—the only intimation on record, and in this matter tradition is equally silent.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE EARLY CHURCH—PRESBYTERIAN MINISTERS — CHURCH EDIFICES — SCHOOLS.

THE common impression is that the early settlers of New England and the eastern portion of Long Island were all Congregationalists. How contrary this is to the actual facts may be seen not only in the contemporaneous histories of the emigration, but in the ecclesiastical histories of New England, like the Mag-nalia of Cotton Mather. Up to 1640 it is estimated that about 21,200 emigrants had arrived in New England. Cotton Mather says that of this number 4,000 were Presbyterians. During the commonwealth, under Cromwell, the tide of emigration for about fifteen years, was much diminished as the Independents or Congregationalists were perfectly secure at home. After the restoration of Charles I., who violated all his pledges to the Presbyterians, by the act of uniformity of 1662, 2,000 Presbyterian ministers were cast out of their pastorates, a large number of whom betook themselves to New England. Emigration again increased and for twenty years a steady stream of English, Scotch and Irish Presbyterians as well as English Congregationalists poured into this country. Both of these denominations for a hundred years were thoroughly Calvinistic — of this there never was a doubt. As to form of government there was some diversity. It arose from the peculiar circumstances of the people. Almost every church in the various towns, as they were successively planted, was in its interior organization Presbyterian. Its officers were pastor, ruling elders and deacons. In some cases the church had a teacher as well as pastor, but this custom was not of long continuance because found to be unnecessary and financially burdensome. The Cambridge platform adopted by all New England in 1648, and received as the basis of doctrine and church government for nearly a hundred years throughout this section of country, recognized the three officers above mentioned. It says: "Of elders some attend chiefly to the ministry of the word as the pastors and teachers; others attend especially unto rule, who are therefore called ruling elders." And again:—"The ruling elder's office is distinct from the office of pastor and teacher." His "work is to join with the pastor in those acts of spiritual rule which are distinct from the ministry of the word and sacraments. Among his specified duties are admission of members, convening the church, preparing matters in private for a more speedy dispatch, etc." It says the government of the church is thus an aristocracy. The histories are full of this evidence of the Presbyterian form of government prevailing in the separate churches. But had they presbyteries and synods? Here the peculiarity of their condition brought about a diversity. Each church as it was established had a jealous regard for its own individual independence and wanted no metropolitan bishop or council to dictate to it laws or injunctions. And yet, as in all human affairs, cases would arise where it became necessary to appeal to outside churches to settle disputes between pastor and people or divided congregations. This necessity brought into existence the New England synods, or as they were later called, associations, to whom were often committed the same appellate powers as are exercised by the presbytery, and even the same powers of original jurisdiction.

That the Long Island churches sympathized more with the Presbyterian than Congregational order can readily be conjectured from the evidence afforded. In the Southampton town records, of date 1644, occurs the collocation "John Cooper the elder," referring to the original settler of that name. That this is not a title of seniority is evident from the fact that never once on the records is it used elsewhere, but invariably, when this is to be indicated, it is by the addition of Senr. But there are two documents of quite early date that expressly show the minds of the people on this question. In the purchase deed of the site for the church erected in 1707, a copy of which I have in my possession, occurs the following language: "And whereas the last mentioned partys to these presents having pious intentions for the founding, raising and building a convenient house, structure and building to have continuance forever for the worship of Almighty God by praises and prayer, preaching of God's word and administering of the sacraments according to the usage, practice, rites and discipline, and the forms used and approved by those churches or congregations of Christian Protestants usually known and distinguish'd by the name or stile of Presbyterians, . . . . and that the same lands and premises shall be appropriated to the only use of the church or congregation of Presbyterians in Southampton, aforesaid, and soe to be and remaine and have continuance for ever." (This church, by the way, is still standing, having been sold to the Methodists in 1846, and bids fair to stand, if not "forever," for a century to come.) The other evidence is the authoritative declaration of the town in 1712, assigning land to Bridgehampton "for the use of a Presbyterian ministry and noe other."

Abiel Holmes's MSS. history of New England, also says explicitly, that the settlers at Southampton were Presbyterians.

But one inquiry remains, and that is as to the time and circumstances of the churches of Long Island uniting formally with the Presbyterian church. The Jamaica church, as Dr. McDonald claims, had been professedly Presbyterian from the first, and united with the Presbytery of Philadelphia (organized in 1704 and then the only one in America), in 1712; — that of Newtown united with the same presbytery in 1715; and that of Southampton in 1716. They all joined the presbytery then almost as soon as there was a presbytery to join. Their belief, their discipline and sympathies had always been with this church, and as soon as opportunity was afforded they enrolled themselves formally with their brethren.

1. ABRAHAM PIERSON.

The first minister was the Rev. Abraham Pierson, who was appointed, in October, 1640, at Boston, to be the pastor of this new church to be set up at Southampton: and subsequently in November, 1640, was ordained at Lynn as before narrated. Cotton Mather, in his Magnalia, says of him: "He was a Yorkshire man, and coming over to New England, he became a member of the church at Boston, but was afterwards employed towards the year 1640. . . . Proceeding in their plantation, they called Mr. Pierson to go thither with them, who with seven or eight more of their company regularly incorporated themselves into the church state before going, the whole company also entering at the same time with the advice of the Governor of Mass. Bay Colony, into a civil combination for maintaining government among themselves. Thus was then settled a church at Southampton under the paternal care of that worthy man, where he did with a laudable diligence undergo two of the three hard labors, teaching and governing, to make it become what Paradise was called, the Island of the Innocents. It was afterwards found necessary for this church to be divided—upon which occasion Mr. Pierson referring his case to council, his removal was directed into Branford over upon the main [Connecticut] and Mr. Fordham came to serve and feed that part of the flock which was left at Southampton—but wherever he came, [i. e. went] he shone. He left behind the character of a pious and prudent man and a true child of Abraham now lodged in Abraham's bosom."

He was graduated at the University of Cambridge in the year 1632, and having been ordained episcopally, as it is supposed,* he preached for some years in England. He arrived in New England in 1639. The cause of his removal to Branford is thus given in Dr. Sprague's Annals of the American Pulpit.

"Mr. Pierson agreed with John Davenport in wishing to rest all civil as well as ecclesiastical power in the church, and to allow none but church members to act in the choice of the officers of government, or to be eligible as such. Accordingly he was anxious that the little colony at Southampton should become connected with New Haven, as Southold had been, and was dissatisfied with the the agreement in 1644, to come under the jurisdiction of Connecticut. He therefore removed in 1647 with a small part of his congregation to Branford, Conn., and there uniting with others from Wethersfield, organized a new church, of which he was pastor about twenty-three years."

* Thus Dr. Sprague, but the ordination according to Felt in Hist. and Gen. Register, was in 1640 at Lynn. V. 5, p. 233.

While he was in Branford he learned the language of the New England Indians so that he preached to them in their native tongue.

He afterward removed to Newark, and was the first pastor of what is now the First Presbyterian Church of that city.

He died on the ninth of August, 1678. His son, Rev. Abraham Pierson, was the first President of Yale College.

2. ROBERT FORDHAM.

The second pastor over this church was the Rev. Robert Fordham, concerning whom the earliest record of April, 1649, is as follows :

"The agreement between the towne of Southampton and the reverend and well beloved servant of the Lord Mr. Fordham concerning his annuall mayntainance for his labour in the worke of the Lord amongst us.

"Imps wee the present inhabitants do ingage ourselves to pay in current cuntrie pay as it passeth at a common rate threescore pounds for this present year to beginne the first day of this present Aprill 1649, and to make our payments halfe yearly by equall portions, ffurthermore for the yeares to come & for all & every yeare God shall be pleased to continue Mr. Fordham amongst us after Aprill 1650 from the daye of the revolution of first yeare above menconed, it is ffully agreed and hearby confirmed that the sayd yearly mayntainance shall be fourscore pounds per annum to be levied upon every man according to their severall possessions of land in our plantation of Southampton and the bounds thereof.

"Lastly if fforty lotts shall not be filled, that then proportionable abatement of the sd fourscore pounds is to be made according to the number that is deficient, in consideration whereof Mr. Fordham's owne Accommodations are not to be liable to pay any part of his yearly mayntainance nor yet any of his estate if the towne shall see cause to alter the waye of payment as concerning the Ministry. This agreement was consented to by all the inhabitants, and by them appoynted to be recorded in the towne book to be established in the behalfe of the whole towne."

Farmer thinks he came to this country from England before 1641. Lechford in his "Plaine Dealing" or, "News from New England," published in 1642 says he was then at Sudbury, Mass., out of employment. He may have accompanied Mr. Denton to Hempstead in 1644 as he is the first person named in Kieft's Patent to that town.* He had wife Elizabeth and children Hannah w. of Samuel Clark, Mary w. of Edward Howell, both of Southampton; also sons Joseph, Robert, Jonah and John. The descendants of these children are given in the genealogies in another chapter. He came here in the latter part of the year 1648 or early in 1649 and here labored in the ministry until his death in September, 1674. Traditions concerning him† show that he possessed an amiable disposition, a character unexceptionable, and in the discharge of his pastoral duties gave general satisfaction. In the inventory of his estate his house and lands were appraised at £1164, and his personal property at £53, 7s. 6d, of which his library was valued at £53, 7s. 6d, plainly indicating that he was a liberal patron of learning.

His son Rev. Jonah Fordham was born in 1633, was graduated at Harvard 1658 and having been ordained served in the ministry as pastor of the church at Hempstead from 1660 to 1680. About this time 1680 he probably came to live in Southampton from whence in September 1687 he was invited to minister to a church in Brookhaven. Declining‡ this, in 1691 he received a second call from the same church which he accepted and remained there for several years. Returning to Southampton he there died July 17, 1696, aged 63. His daughter Temperance married the second Richard Woodhull of Setauket. He left a son Josiah who also entered the ministry and was some time the pastor of the Setauket church. His wife Martha died in Southampton October 4, 1688.

3. JOHN HARRIMAN.

The next in succession was the Rev. John Harriman, the son of John who was at New Haven 1646, and soon after married Elizabeth, and had two children; John, the subject of this sketch, baptized January 24, 1647-8 and Elizabeth baptized July 23, 1648.† Showing taste for letters early in life he was prepared for college in New Haven and at the age of fifteen entered the one at Cambridge, Mass., when he was graduated in 1667. Then returning to New Haven he taught the Hopkins grammar school several years and prepared himself for the ministry. He preached occasionally before 1674 in New Haven. A covenant or agreement of Mr. Harriman with the church at Southampton, written in crabbed short hand and deciphered in 1870 by J. Hammond Trumbull of Hartford, Ct., corrects some errors in his biography as generally written, and also in the history of that church. The covenant is as follows:

“Whereas at a town meeting in Southampton held May the 29th 1674 a Committee was chosen to make a finale [convention] [conclusion?] with Mr. John Herriman, the town having at the said meeting consented to some [further] terms than formerly was agreed upon; as [may appear] by a record then made: know all men by these presents that We the said committee for and in behalf of the said town, of the one party: and the said John Herriman Cl[erk] of the other party, do covenant and agree as followeth.: first that during the said John Herriman his life and officiating in the work of the ministry in the said town, he shall have the use of the thirty acres of land with the house lot purchased of John Cooper: and [presented] by the town for the use of the ministry for ever.: and the four acres in the ox pasture [together] with the forty acres in the [common] formerly [presented] to him the said Mr. Herriman, shall be and remain to him his heirs and executors, administrators and assigns forever: secondly the town shall and will pay unto him the said Mr. Herriman or his assigns twenty pounds per annum and the half of Mr. Fordham his stipend [that he] he voluntarily [conceded] for that use being forty pounds in like manner.: and if providence so disposes of Mr. Fordham that he deceases or be totally taken off from the work of the ministry so that Mr. Herriman performs the work wholly himself, then the whole sum usually allowed to Mr. Fordham, that is, eighty pounds per annum shall be well and [truly] paid unto him the said Mr. Herriman or his assigns in current pay at price current with the merchant here.

Thirdly the town do donate unto him the said Mr. John Herriman one hundred and fifty pounds [commonage] for the future and do promise to him to inclose with a five rail fence all the land laid out for him and for his use in the ox pasture.

Fourthly the town is with all [possible convenience] and expedition to build upon the said three acres of land procured of John Cooper, a good house of two stories high, for the ministry, with a brick chimney and two chamber chimneys, the same to be to the use of Mr. Herriman, as the land for the ministry.: And the town is to give unto the administrator or administratrix of him the said Mr. Herriman [after] his decease, one hundred pounds in current pay at price current with the merchant, at that time the said land and house for the ministry is to return unto the said town's disposal.

Fiftly that the said Mr. Herriman upon the [premises] doth promise and ingage unto the said town of Southampton to cohabit with them and to officiate in the work of the ministry among them and not to remove or dwell [from thence] [unless] a council of judicious men mutually chosen by him and the town do find and adjudge that it is not only law[ful] but of necessity that he and the town [should part] neither shall the town dis[miss] him but upon the same terms and conditions of the judgment of a council as foresaid.

Sixthly [Whatever] additions of building shall be made by him the said Mr. Herriman unto the said house to be built for his use on the said home lot or upon the said lot, at his decease shall be prized by indifferent men equally chosen by the town and the relict or administrator of the said Mr. Herriman [who are] to receive of the town the value of such said additions of building shall be prized at.

In witness whereof the said committee in behalf of the town as aforesaid and the said Mr. John Herriman have hereunto mutually set their hands this [fifth] day of June anno 1674.

This shows that Mr. Harriman was first settled here as colleague pastor with Mr. Fordham and so continued until the death of the latter in September 1674. He continued here until the early part of 1676, when he returned to New Haven* and in July of that year became stated supply of the church there established, and so continued for the most of the time until 1682. in East Haven as supply and pastor. Then employed October 1684 in surveying the boundary line between New York and Connecticut, for it seems he had no small skill in this business. Then installed as pastor of the church in Elizabethtown, N. J. probably September 30, 1687. He was very exact in his accounts and careful in his business enterprises which were numerous. "Not content with preaching, pastoral visitation, farming and carrying on a flour mill, he had, also, a cider press; he had an agency for furnishing glass to his neighbors; he surveyed lands now and then; he attended the Legislature as a Deputy, having been thus elected, in 1693, 1694, 1695 and 1698. Like most of his profession, he kept a boarding school also." He married as early as 1673 Hannah daughter of Richard Bryan of Milford, Ct. She was born in 1654 and her twin sister Mary married Edward Howell of Southampton. He had children John b. 1674 who became a surveyor, Samuel b. June 25, 1676, Ann b. July 5, 1678, Mary in 1680, Leonard in 1683 and Richard in 1685, and three others born in Elizabeth. He died August 20, 1705, in the 58th year of his age.

4. SETH FLETCHER.

The next minister of this church was the Rev. Seth Fletcher who was the son of Robert Fletcher* of Concord, Mass. He came to Southampton in 1676 and remained about three years, when he removed to Elizabethtown, N. J., and was installed there in 1680. He married (1st) Mary daughter of Bryan Pendleton of Portsmouth, N. H., and (2d) Mary widow of Henry Pierson of Southampton May 1682. He died in 1682, leaving estate valued at £559, 5, 8, of which his books were rated at £175, 4, 4.

5. JOSEPH TAYLOR.

Rev. Joseph Taylor was the son of Mr. John Taylor, of Cambridge, Mass., and was born in 1651. He was graduated at Harvard in 1669, and was appointed a tutor in that institution the following year. He then studied for the ministry, and was employed as a preacher in New Haven until the spring of 1679.

The Rev. John Taylor buried in the Southend burying ground was his son.

“At a Town meeting Aprill 1st, 1679. By Major voat it is concluded that a man shall be chosen to goe over to Mr. Tayler the minister, and to presente the Towne’s former request by letter unto him, namely to come over to us and give us a visit and if possible to prevaile with Mr. Tayler to come along with him; which sd messenger is also to follow such Instructions as shall bee given him touching this occation.

“By Major voat Mr. Justice Topping is desired to be the man to go over on the aforesaid occation, namely to procure Mr. Tayler to give us a visit if possible as soon as may be.”

Later in the same year we find the following record :

“Nov. 5, 1679. It is declared by a general voat, but one excepted of the towne that ye Rev. Mr. Joseph Tayler is the man they pitch upon and desire in the work of the ministry amongst us according to former voat of the Towne and endeavours put forth to procure him.”

The call was accepted and he entered upon his labors, being installed as pastor of the church about 1680. The following is an abstract of the “agreement” for the temporal support of Mr. Taylor, dated March 22, 1679–80.

1. To be paid to him £100 per annum raised in proportion to each man’s estate. To be paid in winter wheat at 5 shillings per bushel, or summer wheat at 3s per bushel, or Indian corn at 2s per bushel, and sundry other products with prices attached.

2. The use of a Parsonage and four acres attached and privilege of a 150 of commonage.

3. One hundred acres of land in woods or commons to him and his heirs forever; together with other four acres in fee and described.

4. To do a certain amount of fencing for him.

We cannot but take a just pride in this as in other evidences of our forefathers making a generous provision for the wants of their ministers. They believed the words of our Saviour, that “the laborer is worthy of his hire,” and acted accordingly.

The labors of Mr. Taylor, however, were cut short by an early death on April 4, 1682, in the thirty-second year of his age. His tombstone still stands in the old burying ground, in the rear of the residence of the late Captain James Post.

6. JOSEPH WHITING.

He was the son of Rev. Samuel, who was the second son of John, mayor of Boston, Lincolnshire, England, where Samuel was born November 20, 1597.* Samuel took the degree of B. A. at Emanuel College, Cambridge, 1616 and M. A. 1620. Arrived in New England in May, 1636, at Boston. He had three sons and three daughters who lived to maturity. Of these Samuel, born 1633, was a graduate of Harvard, entered the ministry and died while a pastor of the church at Billerica, Massachusetts. John, the second son, was also graduate of Harvard, returned to England and continued there until his death.* Joseph, the third son, was born April 6, 1641, graduated at Harvard in 1661, and assisted his father several years and was installed as his successor in 1679. He was twice married—first to Sarah, daughter of Hon. Thomas Danforth, deputy governor of Massachusetts, and president of Maine, and again to Rebecca, who died April 21, 1726.

Mr. Whiting wills, April 27, 1717, to wife Rebecca and children, eldest son John, Sarah Sparhawk, second son Samuel, third son Joseph, fourth son Benjamin, fifth son Ebenezer (not 21) and two youngest daughters, Elizabeth and Dorothy, not 18. Letters granted to son Ebenezer June 8, 1726, his wife Rebecca being then also dead. N. Y. Surrogate's Office.

On the 27th day of June, 1682, a committee were appointed to go to Lynn, Mass., to invite Mr. Whiting to come over and preach to the Southampton people on trial. It is not certain when he first came, nor when he was installed as pastor, but probably in the year 1683.

In 1688 we find an "agreement" with him in relation to his salary an abstract of which is here given.

1. £100 per annum to be paid in same manner as Mr. Taylors.
2. Use of the Parsonage and four acres and a 150 of commonage.

3. If he continue till his disease, in the ministry in this town, then his widow is to have from the town £100 in money and merchantable produce.

His labors in the ministry must have been acceptable to the people since he continued with them till the infirmities of age demanded a cessation of labor. His pastorate covered about thirty-three years, and his death occurred April 7, 1723, in the eighty-second year of his age. He sleeps among his flock in the old burying ground, and with them awaits his resurrection to eternal life.

7. SAMUEL GELSTON.

The coming of this minister marks a change in the form of government of the church and in its ecclesiastical connection. From Webster's History of the Presbyterian Church in America, we obtain the following account of him :

“He was born in the north of Ireland, in 1692, and came as a probationer to New England in 1715. He was received in the fall under the care of the Philadelphia Presbytery, and was sent to the people of Kent on Delaware. Though desired to stay, he left without the consent of Presbytery, and went to Southampton on Long Island. There his brother Hugh resided ; he was called as colleague with the pastor, Joseph Whiting, and the congregation placed itself under the Presbytery's care. The Presbytery of Long Island on its organization, took him on trial, and ordained and installed him April 17th, 1717. His stay was about ten years ; and Aug. 27, 1728, he was received as a member of Newcastle Presbytery, and took into consideration a call to Newcastle. The next month he was called to New London, Chester County, Pennsylvania.”

After many changes and wanderings and some trouble, he is said to have died October 22, 1782, aged ninety.

The Long Island Presbytery (being the first judicatory of that name in the Province of New York), was set off from the Presbytery of Philadelphia in 1716. It was organized at Southampton April 17, 1717, and was composed of the following ministers: Mr. MacNish of Jamaica, Mr. Phillips of Brookhaven, Mr.

Pomeroy (or Pumry) of Newtown and Mr. Gelston of Southampton. The church of Southampton having thus united with the Presbyterian body has remained ever since in connection with the same. The Reformed church of Holland, Independency and Presbyterianism appear to have occupied almost the whole ground throughout New York for many years after the settlement. It is said* that as late as 1664 there was not a single Episcopal church in the whole province.

S. SYLVANUS WHITE.

The eighth pastor was the Rev. Sylvanus White. Webster says of him: "He was born in 1704. His father, Rev. Ebenezer White, came with his parents from England to Massachusetts at an early age, and was the minister of Bridgehampton, Long Island, from its first organization as a parish in 1695."†

May 27, 1695. The town voted to give him fifteen acres of land if he came as pastor of the church at Sagg.

Rev. Sylvanus was graduated at Harvard University in 1722, and ordained by a council, November 17, 1727, pastor of the church of Southampton. He married Phebe, daughter of Hezekiah Howell of that town.

While in every town on the island, there were confusions and divisions growing out of the great revival [1741-2] Southampton seems to have dwelt in peace, united in their minister. In the formation of Suffolk Presbytery, Mr. White and his venerable father took an active part, and Southampton promptly and unanimously placed itself under its care, April 27, 1747. Bridgehampton was in circumstances of great difficulty: a separation had occurred and much animosity existed. The presbytery "treated with the venerable and aged minister to resign." He consented to do so, and then on the settlement of Rev. James Brown, they spent much time at Mr. Job Pierson's with the people of the separation on the point, whether they had not violated the rules of the gospel in their treatment of Mr. White. "Much seeming stiffness" appeared; but at length sixteen men and twelve women signed an acknowledgement "that, though according to their present light, they were right as to the cause, they were wrong in the manner." The aged minister signed a full humble avowal that under "the sore and awful frown of a holy God, in a time of much disorder, temptation and provocation, he had spoken unadvisedly with his lips, and asked forgiveness for having spoken to the disparagement of a work of grace, while intending to condemn what seemed fraught with evil." On the 3d of October he wrote to the presbytery expressing his opinion that the separatists who had been received back had been treated with too much lenity. They replied: "the object of church government was edification, not destruction." Still, the separating party as a whole, must have persisted in their separation for some time, for we find them soon after erecting a small church edifice in which Mr. Elisha Paine was installed pastor. This was known at that day as the "new-light" movement, and the organization was called the New Light church. However, as the original actors in the separation died off, none rose to fill their places—the organization dwindled, and finally about the close of the eighteenth century, whatever remnant remained was swept away in a great revival, and merged into the Presbyterian church. The tomb stone of Mr. Paine bears the following Epitaph:

In memory of the Rev | Mr. Elisha Paine V D M who | died Augst 26 A D 1775 Æ 83 | was born upon Cape Cod | and from thence with his | Hond Father Mr Elisha Paine |

 er of ye Gospel and was | Ordained ye first minister | over ye congregational | church of Christ in this |

 from his labors.

Mr. Silvanus White "lived in uninterrupted health through a ministry of fifty-five years, and after a week's illness, died October 22, 1782, his mind not enfeebled by age, and his hope strong and cheerful. He lived, honored and revered, happy in the affections of a large and warmly attached congregation. He left seven sons and one daughter ; most of these lived to advanced age. They removed, but his son, Dr. Henry White, remained in his native town, and died there at the age of ninety in 1840."

Some further particulars of his family are given in another chapter.

Mr. White used to regard his people as his children and kept an eye upon the reading matter which fell into their hands. On one occasion hearing of a new book going the rounds, bearing the suspicious title of "The Devil on two Sticks," he took pains to ascertain where it was, and marched off at once to examine and confiscate it (politely of course) should it prove contraband of Church.

After the death of Mr. White, October 22, 1782, it appears there was a vacancy in the pulpit until 1784. During this interval the pulpit was supplied by Mr. Osias Eels, and Mr. James Eels, of whom nothing is known to the writer save their names. Doubtless they are written in the Lamb's Book of Life and they themselves gone to their rest.

9. JOSHUA WILLIAMS.

The ninth pastor was the Rev. Joshua Williams. He preached as a candidate as it appears from his own record from September to December 1784. Tuesday December 14 the parish held a meeting and came to a determination to call Mr. Williams to the pastorate. After some time spent in negotiation an agreement was entered into upon the following terms :

"Copy of a covenant between the inhabitants of the First Parish in Southampton and Joshua Williams, A. M.

"To all people to whom these presents shall come greeting :

"Know ye that we ye subscribers inhabitants of the first Parish of the town of Southampton, in the County of Suffolk and State of New York do each of us covenant and oblige ourselves to pay unto Mr. Joshua Williams or his certain attorney Executors Administrators or Assigns yearly and every year during his continuance in sd Parish (a Collector being appointed to collect the same) a full and just sum of seventy pounds current money of the state of New York. Likewise to deliver to sd Williams at his door forty loads of wood yearly. Likewise to put the fences of the parsonage land in good repairs, sd Williams to keep them in repair hereafter so long as he shall improve said lands. Likewise we covenant to keep the buildings and well in repair. And (in case he should leave a widow) to give her the sum of forty pounds of ye aforesaid currency. On the receipt of which she shall quit the Parsonage. Sd Williams to carry no manure off sd lands nor cut more wood or timber than is necessary to keep the fences in repair or for his own firing in case he shall need more than what is above sd to be found him.

“Sd Williams to have the full improvement of sd lands and the buildings thereon, during the above said term. And for the true performance of the abovesaid covenant, We the subscribers have hereunto set our hands in Southampton this thirtieth day of December anno D. 1784.

“N. B. Be it remembered that one half of the above £70 for the first year is to be paid in three months from this date.”

On May 26, 1785, the Presbytery of Long Island met at Southampton, and, after examination of the pastor elect on the next day, proceeded to ordain and instal him over the church founded there in 1640. According to Mr. Williams' minutes of this occasion "Mr. Goldsmith made the first prayer. Mr. Buel preached a sermon. Mr. Goldsmith enquired concerning ye [rates?] Mr. Stores the ordaining prayer. Mr. Buel the charge. Mr. Davenport the right hand. Mr. Hart ye exhortation to ye people and concluding prayer."

The next June Thomas Jessup was chosen to be a deacon, and Christopher Foster and David Burnett to be elders.

Mr. Williams labored as pastor until April, 1789, a period of three years and eleven months, having admitted to communion in that time, as he says, 486 persons.

10. HERMAN DAGGETT.

From Dr. Sprague's Annals the following account is taken :

He was born at Walpole, Mass., September 11, 1766. He was a son of Dr. Ebenezer Daggett, a highly respectable physician in his day, who was a brother of the Rev. Naphtali Daggett one of the Presidents of Yale College. The first ancestor of the family in this country was John Daggett, who, a few years after the settlement of Plymouth, came and took up his residence on the Island of Martha's Vineyard. Dr. Daggett removed with his family from Walpole to Wrentham, when his son Herman was a boy, and there continued in medical practice till his death, which occurred February 26, 1782. The son was at his father's decease between fifteen and sixteen years of age. He had the reputation of being an amiable and discreet youth, and withal had an uncommon thirst for knowledge. Quickened however in his efforts, by his zeal for knowledge, he passed rapidly and successfully through his course preparatory to College, and became a member of Brown's University in 1784. His standing there as a scholar was highly respectable, and he graduated in 1788. In the second year of his college course, his mind, which had before been seriously directed by the influence of a Christian education, became deeply impressed with the subject of religion as a practical concern ; and it was to this period that he referred the commencement of his religious life. His ardor in literary pursuits, seems not to have been at all repressed by the change in his moral feelings, though all his faculties and attainments were from this time evidently consecrated to the glory of God and the benefit of his fellow creatures. Shortly after his graduation he placed himself as a theological student under Dr. Emmons, who even at that early period, had acquired the reputation of being very learned in his profession. Having spent about a year in his preparatory studies, he was licensed to preach by the Association, holding its session at Northbridge, in October, 1789, and preaching for the first time on the succeeding Sabbath in Dr. Emmons's pulpit. Within a short time after he was licensed, he visited Long Island with a view of being engaged as a preacher, thinking that the climate would prove more congenial to his health than that of New England. Here he was received with more than common favor. For a year he supplied the Presbyterian congregation at Southold; and though they gave him a unanimous call, yet being unwilling to practice on the "Half-way Covenant,"* he felt constrained to decline it. Thence he was called to preach at Southampton, where also he was unanimously invited to the pastorate. This latter invitation after considerable hesitation, he accepted, and was set apart by the presbytery to the pastoral office, April 12, 1792. On the 3d of September, following, Mr. Daggett was married to Sarah, daughter of Colonel Matthewson, a respectable and wealthy citizen of Providence, R. I. Mrs. Daggett was a lady of fine accomplishments and most exemplary character, and survived her husband many years. She died, having never had any children, November 20, 1843.

Mr. Daggett's continuance at Southampton was for less than four years. Almost immediately after his settlement, a difficulty arose between him and a part of his people on the subject of the "Half-way Covenant" (he being unwilling to practice on that principle), which ultimately extended to many other churches, and was the principal, if not the entire cause, of his resigning his charge. He behaved with great moderation and dignity throughout the whole controversy, and his character for discretion was never impugned. It was a sufficient evidence that he came out of this controversy at Southampton unscathed, that, almost immediately after he was at liberty, he was called to the pastoral care of the church at West Hampton, a village in the immediate neighborhood of the one he had left. Here he continued greatly respected and beloved by his people from September, 1797, to September, 1801, when he was dismissed chiefly on account of an inadequate support.

In October following he was installed pastor of the church at Fire Place and Middle Island in the town of Brookhaven, and preached alternately to the two congregations till April, 1807, when his health had become so far reduced that he resigned his charge with an intention of never resuming the responsibilities of the pastoral office. During the eighteen years of Mr. Daggett's residence on Long Island, and in each of the four several charges with which he was connected, he enjoyed a large measure of public respect, and his labors were, by no means, unattended with success. He was greatly esteemed, especially by his brethren in the ministry for the wisdom of his counsels, not less than for the consistency of his general deportment.

After leaving Long Island his health was considerably improved so that he was able to preach frequently, and even for a considerable time without interruption. For a year he preached and taught school at Cairo, Greene county, N. Y. For some time he preached also at Patterson, Putnam county, and for two years he preached and taught an Academy at North Salem, Westchester county. Thence he went to New Canaan, Conn., where he took charge of an Academy.

When the Foreign Mission School was established by the American Board of Foreign Com., at Cornwall, Conn., Mr. Daggett was placed at the head of it, May 6, 1818. Here a great and important work devolved upon him of harmonizing and instructing youth of all ages from the mere child to manhood, and of many various races. Although but about thirty in number, there were natives of Sumatra, China, Bengal, Hindostan, Mexico, New Zealand; of the Society and the Marquesas Islands; of the Isles of Greece and the Azores; and Cherokees, Choctaws, Osages, Oneidas, Tuscaroras and Senecas of the North American Indians. Here he labored with success for nearly six years until 1824. Ill health then terminated his labors and for the next eight years he rested, waiting for his eternal Sabbath rest to which he was called in peace on the 19th of May, 1832.

11. DAVID S. BOGART.

The Rev. David Schuyler Bogart was born January 12, 1770, in the city of New York. He descended from one of the oldest and most respectable Dutch families. He was graduated from Columbia College in 1790, with the highest honors of his class. After his graduation he studied for the ministry with his pastor, Dr. John H. Livingston, and preached frequently in various churches of New York. In the autumn of 1795 he visited Southampton, and his ministrations proving acceptable to the people, a call was made out. On the 20th of May, 1796, Mr. Bogart removed with his family from New York and intended to accept there the pastorate. Before the Long Island Presbytery met, however, to install him, he received an urgent call from the First Presbyterian Church in Albany. After consultation with his friends he concluded to accept the call to Albany, where he remained from January to August, 1797. His health having been impaired at this place, and the church at Southampton being encouraged to renew their call, he returned to the church by the sea, and was installed in the autumn of 1798. Dr. Thomas De Witt, in the sermon preached at Mr. Bogart's funeral (from which sermon we have obtained some of the facts herein stated), says that while at Southampton he received several calls but refused them on account of the united affection of his people. Influenced by the associations of his earlier years he, in 1806, accepted a call from the Reformed Dutch Church of Bloomingdale in the city of New York, but was prevented by circumstances of a domestic nature from moving his family. The Southampton Church then made out a third call and he was re-installed as their minister and so remained till his final dismissal, April 15, 1813.

In this year he accepted a call to the two Reformed Dutch Churches of Success and Oyster Bay. He continued in these churches, fourteen miles apart, for thirteen years until failing health obliged him to resign. In 1826 he returned to New York and there resided until his death on the 10th of July, 1839, preaching as he found opportunity.

The people of Southampton were very warmly attached to him, as is evident from their repeated invitations to him to settle among them. He is still spoken of by some of his old parishioners in terms of the warmest affection. In the pulpit he used much action, was full of vivacity, flowery in style, and graceful in delivery.

During the next three years, from 1813 to 1816, the pulpit was supplied by Mr. Joshua Hart, Messrs. Andrews and Fuller, Herman Halsey and Amos Bingham, of whom nothing except their names is known to the writer.

Mr. Hart once upset a peddler's wagon which was in his way. The next Sunday morning he found a note on the pulpit enclosing a pistareen with the following distich :

"Eighteen pence to Mr. Hart
For overturning a tinman's cart."

Here is another pulpit token found by a minister on his desk one Sabbath morning, an old riddle simple enough in itself, but the pertinence of which is not so evident :

"A certain something there may be,
Which earthly kings may often see ;
Poor mortal worms may oft desery it,

12. JOHN M. BABBIT.

The twelfth pastor was the Rev. John M. Babbitt. He was installed November 19, 1817, and dismissed April 18, 1821.

Rev. James M. Hunting, of Jamaica, says, in reference to the revival in Mr. Babbitt's day: "For some time previous to that revival an increased tenderness, fervor and interest in prayer, became manifest in the social meetings generally but seemed to me most manifest in one attended weekly at Miss Harriet Foster's, on the road leading to Bridge Hampton and opposite where the Messrs. Elias and William Woolley then lived. I had for several years greatly desired to see a revival such as I had seen at East Hampton, and which left me, much to my sorrow, without hope and God in the world. Hence I visited all the prayer meetings I could. Others noticed it. On one evening, however, when I was not present at the meeting above alluded to, the joyful news was communicated that Capt. James Post and his wife were rejoicing in hope. The next morning a young friend of mine hastened to me to tell me the joyful news. The whole village soon was filled with deep solemnity and on the following Sabbath the sanctuary was unusually full, and the presence and power of the Holy Spirit were very manifest. The prayer meeting that evening was at Mrs. Hunting's, and so many came that the store and all the rooms adjoining were opened and filled with the solemn assemblage. Many not able to find seats, stood the whole evening — prominent among them, and near the front window, stood Capt. James Post. When the meeting closed nearly all remained and many approached him to hear him speak of Jesus. Meetings became very frequent at once, and very full at evening, and the church was opened and largely attended one afternoon and evening each week, when the neighboring ministers came to help Mr. Babbit, and elders and members from the neighboring churches were often present, and took part in the prayer meetings—prominent among whom was Deacon Stephen Rose, of Bridgehampton. Conversions were constantly occurring among all classes; and the church, which I understood consisted of 70 members when the revival began, received an accession of about 45 among whom were nine husbands with their wives. Many of the most interesting youth of the place had been gathered in Bible Classes, which the Pastor conducted so as greatly to increase the study of the Bible, and make the new members of the church able to give a scriptural and satisfactory reason of their Christian hope. The Word of God was the chief theme of conversation in the youthful circles I visited, especially the lessons we recited from it weekly to the Pastor and Elders. Rev. Dr. McDowell's Question Book was used, and some of the class found out and interlined the answers with pen and ink, from the beginning to the end of that Question Book. The attachment of the new converts to each other and to Christ, made life pass so sweetly along, that deep regret was often expressed when any of them had to leave the place. And on my return to the place to teach school, after a year's absence to study in the Academy at East Hampton, I found that delightful Christian grace 'Brotherly love,' delightfully prevalent. So it remained during the two and one-half years that I remained there in the school."

Mr. Babbit says in answer to an invitation to be present at the celebration of the 225th Anniversary of the settlement of the town, December 13, 1865:

“The meetings held frequently, for the special benefit of those seeking an interest in Christ and indulging recently obtained hopes that they had found it, were very useful. The counsel given in them and from house to house was well adapted to lead all to build their hopes of heaven entirely on Christ. The views of the converts were elicited, and when erroneous, thoroughly corrected, and advice given adapted to make their practice also correct. Town meeting day had often been a day for social recreation by the young. On its approach that spring, some experienced Christians counseled us to take care and not let it be injuriously spent. To the delight of many it was suggested that the young who were not needed among the electors, should meet in the north school-house for social prayer. The house was soon filled and word reached the electors’ meeting of it, and several of the good deacons and elders came to the school-house and delighted us, and seemed delighted themselves, as they addressed us and prayed with us.

The church which had for a long time before seemed languishing, from that time grew so that I found the last time I preached there just four times as many members in it, i. e. 280 instead of 70.

May the Lord ever bless that church, as dear to my heart then and ever since, and make your anniversary a soul refreshing time.”

In 1815 Mr. Babbit founded the Education Society of Southampton, which has since done much good in educating pious young men for the ministry.

13. PETER H. SHAW.

The thirteenth pastor was the Rev. Peter H. Shaw, who was ordained and installed September 19, 1821, and dismissed June 2, 1829. His grandfather, John Shaw, came to this country in 1785, with two sons, John and William, the latter of whom was the father of Rev. Peter H. The grandfather was a ruling elder in the Associate Church in Greenock, Scotland, and the two sons, with their wives, were members of the same church. They settled by the advice of Dr. Witherspoon, of Princeton, N. J., in Barnet, Vt. His great grandfather, Rev. John Shaw, together with Rev'ds Ralph and Ebenezer, formed the first Seceding or Associate Presbytery of Scotland. The library of this worthy minister brought to this country by his son, contributed much to moulding the mind and shaping the principles of his great grandson in his youth. He graduated at Dartmouth College.

Mr. Shaw, while pursuing his education in New York, came under the influence of two eminent Christian ladies, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Hoffman, and from their pious efforts in establishing Sabbath schools for the instruction of the poor, he learned the value of this institution. On his instalment in Southampton, he first instituted the Sabbath school here, which, however, soon embraced all the children in the community. He also, in 1826, was the originator of the temperance reformation in Southampton. Under parental training his mind had been directed to the evils of intemperance, and the publication of Dr. Beecher's sermons on this subject, opened the way for action. With characteristic modesty he obtained these sermons, and at his third meeting on Sabbath evening, he read them on three successive Sabbaths. They caused much excitement and even opposition. Many said they could as well do without bread as ardent spirits. The following spring the General Assembly recommended the clergy to preach on the subject. After a reluctant consent of the session, a day was appointed when Mr. Shaw would preach on the evil which was increasing in the community to a fearful extent. On the day after the appointment was made, he was informed that none of the neighboring ministers had co-operated with him on the subject, and went over immediately to Bridge Hampton, Sag Harbor and East Hampton, and asked the clergy to countenance him at least so far in the movement as to be present. But they all declined — he stood alone, the youngest member of the Presbytery, but determined, under divine assistance, to go on. He says of this — "The day came. It was a cold, uncomfortable day, I think, of November. I had endeavored to prepare myself with what care I could. As I entered the pulpit I saw the house was filled to overflowing. Every drunkard was staring me in the face. I saw not only that attention, but that feeling was awake on the matter before me. I quailed under it ; but it was to be met. I never had had such a sensation before nor since. But God sustained me. I preached a sermon in the morning an hour and a half in length, and in the afternoon better than an hour. The object was to present the whole subject so far as I was able. And so large and attentive an audience I had not seen before nor since in Southampton. And before the blessing was pronounced, a motion was made to adjourn to my house that evening, to draw up a constitution and form a society on the principle of total abstinence."

14. DANIEL BEERS.

The fourteenth pastor was the Rev. Daniel Beers, who was installed June 8, 1830, and dismissed April 21, 1835. On leaving Southampton he was called to the Presbyterian Church of Greenport, where he was installed, December 2, 1835, and remained till January 31, 1839. Thence he removed to Orient, preaching, as stated supply, for a number of years, having commenced his labors there in February, 1839. He was a laborious, painstaking and useful pastor, and his labors in Southampton were abundantly blessed. It was in some measure owing to his energy and ardor in pushing on the enterprise, that the Academy was erected in 1831.

15. HUGH N. WILSON, D. D.

The fifteenth pastor was the Rev. Hugh N. Wilson. His father was James Wilson, Esq., of Elizabeth, N. J. He was born May 7, 1813, was graduated at the College of New Jersey, in Princeton, in 1830, and elected tutor there in 1832. He studied theology in the Seminary at Princeton, and was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Elizabeth, April 23, 1835. He commenced his labors in the ministry in this place in September, 1835, and was ordained October 7, 1835, and installed June 29, 1836. In 1837 he was married to Jane, the daughter of Capt. James Post of this village. He had children Eleanor, Henrietta, Julia

A., and Mary P. The pastoral relation was dissolved in the spring of 1852. Sorrowfully the people parted with their pastor, for during his long ministry of seventeen years, his labors had been abundantly blessed in extensive revivals and large accessions to the church. In April, 1852, he departed with the good wishes and prayers of his congregation for his success in a new field of labor in Hackettstown, New Jersey. From Hackettstown he was called to the Second Dutch Church of New Brunswick, whither he went in the year 1858. Having been dismissed from this charge, he was invited to preach as a stated supply, once more to the people of his first charge, in Southampton, in the summer of 1863. Here he continued with acceptance, the Lord blessing his labors, until a call was made out for his settlement, which having accepted, he was again installed the second Sabbath of October, 1864.* The sermon of installation was preached by the Rev. William H. Dean, of Amagansett, and the charge to the people delivered by the same. Rev. Charles Sturgis, M. D., gave the charge to the minister. He resigned his second charge here May 1, 1867, and removed to Germantown.

16. JOHN J. A. MORGAN

The Rev. John J. A. Morgan was first employed June 26, 1852, and installed as pastor, January 20, 1853. The installation sermon was delivered by Rev. Edward Hopper, of Sag Harbor, the charge to the pastor and ordaining prayer by Rev. E. C. Wines, D. D., of East Hampton, and the charge to the people by Rev. Mr. Edgar of Bridgehampton. Mr. Morgan was dismissed in September, 1855, and ministered to a church as pastor in Bridesburg, Pa.; afterwards he accepted a call to the pastorate of the church in Hempstead, L. I. In 1871 he connected himself with the Episcopal church.

From 1855 to 1863 the congregation had no settled pastor, being supplied by various individuals of whom the principal were Messrs. Crane, Kennedy and Cleveland. Rev. Elias N. Crane labored as stated supply from November 4, 1855, to April 3, 1856.

* Church Manual 1870 says his reinstallment took place September 25, 1864. Which is correct? I will not change this as it was not here recorded without reason or care.

The Rev. David Kennedy began his labors here as stated supply November 23, 1856, and continued till October 24, 1858. Rev. Abijah Green was employed by Mr. K. as substitute from December 10, 1856, to February 7, 1857.

The Rev. William Neal Cleveland, remained here as stated supply, from January 1, 1859, to July 2, 1863. He was a graduate of Hamilton College and Union Seminary of New York city.

17. HUGH N. WILSON, D.D.

See notice before given of him as fifteenth pastor.

18. F. E. SHEARER, 1867-1870.

19. ANDREW SHILAND, D. D.

20. WALTER CONDICT.

This church has raised up an unusual number of ministers, the most of whom are still laboring on earth in the Master's cause. Their names are: Jonah Fordham, Walter Wilmot, James M. Huntting, Robert Shaw, Samuel Hunt, Samuel Hampton Jagger, Samuel Huntting, Henry M. Parsons, Edward Halsey Sayre, Samuel Edward Herrick and George Rogers Howell, and from the Methodist Society, Barnabas F. Reeve.

Dr. Lyman Beecher (Autobiography, vol. 2, p. 510) says in reference to Edward Herrick, who was then in Yale College preparing for the ministry, and a man of brilliant talent and shining piety: "Oh, how I remember that day when God first flashed deep conviction upon my soul, and tore away the veil from my heart, and set my sins in order before me! I was overpowered, and broken down with grief and confusion; and when I went out of my room, whom should I meet but Edward Herrick of Southampton, Long Island, who was a student with me at Yale College. How he happened to know of my feelings, I can't tell, unless he saw it in my face, but he came up to me, and kindly taking my hand, began to talk with me upon the subject of religion. Oh, he was an angel sent from heaven to my soul! You ought all to be ministering spirits too."

Mr. Herrick was a brother of Mr. Micaiah Herrick, and an early death prevented him from entering upon that labor of love which he coveted. He graduated in the class of 1796.

REV. PAUL CUFFEE.

The following account of him is derived substantially from Prime's History of Long Island. He was the second of seven sons of Peter Cuffee, a native Indian of the Shinnecock tribe, and grandson, on his mother's side, of the Rev. Peter John, who was also a Shinnecock and a faithful and successful preacher of the gospel to the native Indians of the Island. He was born in the town of Brookhaven, March 4, 1757. His mother was said to have been an eminently pious woman, and a member of the native Indian Church at Wading River. She being of African descent, Paul was, of course, not of pure aboriginal blood. At an early age he was indentured as a servant to Major Frederic Hudson, at Wading River, with whom he labored until twenty-one years of age. During his minority he was reckless and much addicted to such low pleasures as presented themselves to him in his sphere of society. But it pleased the Lord to call him to a nobler career. During a revival in 1778-9, he was converted, and at once felt an ardent desire to labor for the salvation of his brethren on the Island. Though possessing a very limited education, he early commenced preaching — upon what authority, or licensed by whom, it does not appear. Removing from Wading River he went to Moriches, where he remained about two years; and thence to Poosapatuck, where, in 1790, he was ordained to the work of the ministry, by a council of ministers from the Connecticut Convention. He afterward removed to Canoe Place, which continued to be his residence till his death.

On the 17th of October, 1792, he was admitted a member of the "Strict Congregational Convention of Long Island" (whatever that was), which had been organized about a year before, in fellowship with the "Strict Congregational Convention of Connecticut."

In 1798 he received a commission from the "New York Missionary Society" to labor with the remnants of the Long Island

Indians, in whose employ he continued till his death, and annually received a liberal compensation. The principal field of his labor was Montauk, Canoe Place, and Shinnecock, though he occasionally visited Poosepatuck and Islip, where there were then a few scattered remnants of the native tribes.

He had a retentive memory, a fertile imagination, a musical voice, a graceful manner, and, as Mr. Prime narrates, a most unaffected humility of heart. He died as he had lived under the smiles of his Savior. His grave marked with a plain white slab, and enclosed with a paling, is on the borders of the old country road leading west from Canoe Place, and about one mile from that settlement. The headstone bears the following inscription :

Erected | by | The New York Missionary Society | In memory of | The Rev Paul Cuffee | An Indian of the Shinnecock tribe | who was employed by that Society | for the last thirteen years of his life on the | Eastern part of Long Island | where he labored with fidelity and success. | Humble, pious and indefatigable | in testifying the gospel of the grace of God | he finished his course with joy, | on the | 7th of March 1812 | aged 55 years and three days.

THE METHODIST SOCIETY.

In 1845 the old Presbyterian Church, erected in 1707, was purchased and repaired for a house of worship for a Methodist society, which was then organized.

In 1884 the Methodists sold the old church to an incorporated company for a village hall and built a new house of worship on land purchased of Mr. Albert J. Post to the north of his residence.

This society, commencing with small numbers, has grown largely, chiefly, however, by immigration, and at present is vigorous and prosperous. It has done a good work in the village, and the relations between its members and the older church have always been marked with good feeling. The tolerant spirit of the fathers has descended to the sons, and both churches have labored cordially side by side for the promotion of piety and good morals in the community.

CHURCH EDIFICES.

The first church edifice was erected in 1640 or 1641, within a twelve-month from the settlement of the town. Its site has been a matter of doubt till recently, when a deed was discovered in the office of the Town Clerk by Mr. William S. Pelletreau, for a lot described as the "Old Meeting House Lot" bounded on the east by Old Town street, and north by the highway; showing the site to be what is now the homestead of Mr. Joseph T. King. This house, according to tradition, was thatched, as probably were many of the first dwelling houses.

In 1652 (N. S.), March 20, at a General Court, steps were taken to build a church thirty by twenty-four feet; posts to be set in the ground and to be eight and a half feet from the ground to the plate. This was the second church. October 14, 1667, John Tennison acknowledges receiving part "pay to the building of the Meeting House." From the records of the town again (Liber A, No. 2, p. 51) it appears that this church was not completed until some time between 1669 and 1672. As to the location of this church, there is no doubt whatever. It stood on what is now the homestead of Mr. Edwin Post. Its location is given in a record of a settlement of a dispute between Isaac Willman and the town, on November 29, 1672.

The third was erected in 1707, and stood on the south-west corner of the land of the late Captain Albert Rogers, facing the main street and the lane. (See frontispiece.) It is still standing, after having been used as a house of worship by the Methodist society from 1844 to 1884. The steeple of this church, pulled down by ropes in 1842 or 1843, was built in 1751.

The fourth was erected in the year 1843.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF BRIDGEHAMPTON.

1. The first minister was the Rev. Ebenezer White, who was ordained here October 9, 1695. He served as a supply here for some time previous to this and in April of that year purchased ten acres of land having thereon a residence and other buildings, in Sagg. On May 27, 1695, the town granted him fifteen acres of land. Mr. White labored here fifty-three years and died February 4, 1756, aged eighty-four.

2. The second pastor was the Rev. James Brown, who was ordained June 15, 1748. He resigned his charge March 27, 1775,* and removed to a farm at Scuttle Hole, now owned by George Strong. He died April 22, 1788, in the sixty-eighth year of his age, and was buried in the cemetery in Scuttle Hole.

3. The third pastor was the Rev. Aaron Woolworth, a brilliant scholar and one loved by all his people for his many excellent traits of character. He was a native of Long Meadow, Mass., and a graduate of Yale. He married a daughter of Rev. Dr. Samuel Buel of East Hampton, and one of his sons, Samuel Buell Woolworth, LL.D., was long the secretary of the Regents of the University of the State of New York. Dr. Woolworth was ordained August 30, 1787, and continued here in the ministry for thirty-four years and died among his people.

4. The fourth pastor was the Rev. Amzi Francis, who was ordained April 17, 1823, and continued here for twenty-three years until his death on October 18, 1845, at the age of fifty-two.

5. Rev. Cornelius Edgar came to this place November 21, 1845, and was ordained June 10, 1846. He resigned his charge October 2, 1853, and removed to Easton, Pa., where he still remains as pastor of the Reformed church.

6. Rev. David M. Miller was installed April 27, 1854, after having preached about three months as stated supply. He married Isabel, only daughter of Judge Hugh Halsey, of this village, and died in June, 1855.

7. Rev. Thomas M. Gray, son of Rev. John Gray, of Easton, was installed April 23, 1856. He resigned April 10, 1866.

8. Rev. William P. Strickland, D.D., preached from May, 1866, to October 5, 1875, as stated supply, when he was installed as pastor. He resigned in October, 1878.

9. The present pastor is the Rev. Arthur Newman.

A Methodist church was organized here in 1820 and is now in a flourishing condition.

The first church was erected probably in 1695, when the parish of Bridgehampton was organized. It stood about half-way between the main north and south street of Sagg, and the street leading from Bull Head to the beach. It was situated on a road now closed up a little south of the present residence of Hon. Henry P. Hedges.

The second church edifice, erected in the year 1737, stood about fifty rods from Francis' corner, eastward on the north side of the street, and half in the street and half in the lot. The stepping stone before the entrance door still remains in situ. It stood until 1842 when a new church was erected which is now used. In 1764 Whitefield preached one of his great revival sermons in this second church.

The "New Light" church stood about five rods from the main highway, between South and Bridgehampton, on Rufus Rose's lane, and on the west side of the lane. The building itself was removed to a site near the residence of Dr. Wright, and is now occupied as a dwelling house.

SAG HARBOR CHURCHES.

Sag Harbor began to be settled about 1730. No full history is given of this place, since a work giving its history in detail is already prepared by Luther D. Cook, Esq. The first church edifice in this village was Presbyterian, and erected in 1766. John Foster, of Southampton, Wm. Hedges, of East Hampton, and Maltby Gelston, of Bridgehampton, were appointed at a meeting of its inhabitants to solicit aid in their several villages. It stood where the present Episcopal church now stands. The second Presbyterian church edifice was erected in 1816, and afterwards was sold and became the first church of the Episcopal Society. The third was erected in 1843. The ministers of this Presbyterian church have been as follows: John Taylor, 1789; James Richards, D.D.; the first pastor, Daniel Hall, ordained September 21, 1797, removed to Shelter Island in the spring of 1806; Nathaniel S. Prime, stated supply, October 26, 1806, to the fall of 1809; Stephen Porter and Mr. Gaylord stated supply each for some months; John D. Gardiner, pastor, ordained October 1, 1812, resigned June 16, 1832; Samuel King from August, 1832, till his death in November, 1833; Ithamar Pillsbury, stated supply, 1834-35; Joseph A. Copp, pastor, October, 1835, to 1851; John Lowrey, 1863-67; William G. Barnes, 1868-72; Alexander W. Sproule, 1873; Edward H. Camp. There are besides those mentioned, now in Sag Harbor, a Methodist and a Roman Catholic, and two churches for colored people.

CHURCH MATTERS.

A few of the decrees of the General Court will throw some light both on ecclesiastical matters and on the constant uncertainty and anxiety, if not peril, of our forefathers while living in proximity to another and a barbarous race.

“Oct. 29, 1645. Ordered by Generall Court that there shall be a cessation of taking armes to the Meeting House on the Lord’s day from Nov. 1st to the first of March ensuing.

“Dec. 28, 1669. Whereas there was a contest in the towne about a piece of ground to set the meeting house upon, now at a towne meeting it is staked out for that purpose lying upon the front of Isake Willman’s home lot. (Liber A, No. 2, p. 51.)

“Aug. 4, 1681. At a Town meeting the building of the galleries of the church was postponed till another year.”

The salary of the ministers in early times was raised by a pro rata tax as appears by the following order:

“At a towne meeting held Feb. 17, 1687, it is ordered and Concluded by the generall voate of the towne, that if any pson shall faile to pay his Respective Rates to Mr. Whiteing of his yearly maintenance at or before the first of Aprill next ensuing after the said Rates shall become Due that then the Constable for the time being shall take by distress the said proportions for the year past, of the severale persons so Defective for the use of the said Mr. Whiteing which is to be at the proper cost and Charge of those soe behind in their rates.

“Thomas Halsey, John Cooper, Arthur Howell, James Herrick,” (and 46 others.)

The town set apart also land in Sagg for the parsonage, when Rev. Mr. Ebenezer White was called as the first minister of the Bridgehampton parish. Some years later in March 20, 1712 (or 13), the following report was made to the town :

“ March the 20th 1712-13.

“ Wee the layers out that are herennto subscribed doe make our return of laying out the twenty Acres of land granted by the towne to Bridge Hampton for the use of a presbyterian ministry and noe other, and we laid out the land on the west side the highway that goeth from Mecox to Mr. Wicks and on the north side of the highway that is by James Hildreths lot that he had of Christopher ffoster and wee began at the South east corner and left a highway between James Hildreths and said land sixteen poles wide and run to the westward 50 poles and the highway att the South west corner is eight poles, then we run northward 60 poles and left a highway between John Wicks lot on the North side of East Hampton path eleven rods wide, three poles of it is within Mr. Wicks fence ; then we run Eastward 50 poles, then we run Southward 70 poles and att the south east corner we left a highway between John Wicks and the said land 12 poles wide.

By this it appears the people at Southampton called themselves Presbyterians, and even from the beginning they had ruling elders in the church as witness, Liber A, No. 1, p. 39, where John Cooper is named and styled as such in 1644.

The Presbyterian Quarterly of January, 1859, as cited by Dr. Stiles, in his History of Ancient Windsor, says on this point :

“ As to the constitution of the individual church in the early history of New England, it was Presbyterian rather than Congregational. This was the case with the mother Church of Leyden, of which Robinson was Pastor, and Brewster a Ruling Elder. They seem to have borrowed their ideas of the proper and scriptural organization of an individual church, with scarce a modification from the writings of Calvin. In the French Reformed Church, as is well known, the principles of the Genevese Reformer were more perfectly and constantly carried out than in Geneva itself, and it is to the French Reformed Churches that the Leyden Church refers as the pattern from which they had drawn. In response to certain honorable members of his Majesty's Privy Council, Robinson and Brewster reply under their own signatures to the effect that ‘touching the ecclesiastical ministry, namely, of pastors for teaching, elders for ruling, and deacons for distributing the Church contribution, as also for two sacraments, etc., we do wholly and in all points agree with the French Reformed Churches, according to their public confession of faith.’ They add that some small differences were to be found in their practice, but such only as were ‘in some accidental circumstances’ and ‘not at all in the substance of the things.’ Yet in specifying these differences, they say, ‘We choose none for governing elders, but such as are apt to teach.’ ‘Their elders are annual, etc., ours perpetual.’ ‘Our elders administer their office publicly, theirs more privately.’ These are the only matters of difference between themselves and French Reformed Churches, to which they refer in connection with the form of government or the constitution of the individual church. * * * In accordance with such views the Leyden Church was constituted. They were of course reflected in the Constitution of the Plymouth Church in this country. * * * Bailie says, the settlers did ‘agree to model themselves (i. e., the people of Hampton, Mass.,) after Mr. Robinson’s pattern,’ and Cotton speaks of ‘the Plymouth Church helping the first comers in their theory, by hearing and discovering their practice at Plymouth.’ * * * The Cambridge Platform (1648) thus recognizes the Presbyterian Constitution of the Church. It says: ‘Of elders some attend chiefly to the ministry of the Word, as the pastors and teachers; others attend especially unto rule, who are therefore called ruling elders.’ Again; ‘The ruling elder’s office is distinct from the office of pastor and teacher.’ His ‘work is, to join with the pastor in those acts of spiritual rule which are distinct from the ministry of the Word and Sacraments.’ Among the specified duties, are admission of members; convening the church; ‘preparing matters in private’ for more speedy dispatch, etc. * * * In accordance with these principles the greater part of the early New England churches were established. * * * Of the importance of the eldership, Hooker speaks in very emphatic language: ‘The elders must have a Church within a Church, if they would preserve the peace of the Church. Nor would he allow questions to be discussed before the whole body, till the proper course had been resolved upon in the Presbytery or session of the elders.’”

As this was the forming or transition period in American church history, irregularity in practice might be expected and is certainly found. Lechford (Plaine Dealing) writes that there was great difference in the matter of ruling elders, some churches being organized on the present Presbyterian form with elders and deacons, and some without them. The ministers even in some cases virtually exercised presbyterial authority. Josselyn (Two Voyages) says the governments of the churches were Independent and Presbyterial, and each church has one pastor, one teacher, ruling elders and deacons.

In a MSS. written by Abiel Holmes, discovered in a cabinet of President Stiles, it is stated that the settlers of the east end of Long Island were chiefly Presbyterians. The manner of admission to church membership frequently was by a public examination in church, followed by a vote of the whole congregation upon receiving the candidate; and in other cases the examination of the candidate was in private by the ministers and elders, after which the party was received by the votes of the whole congregation.

MANNER OF SEATING PEOPLE IN THE CHURCH OF BRIDGE-HAMPTON.

About sixty years ago the pews of the church were free, but occupied according to this regulation: Men, called assessors, were appointed to seat the people in rank of age. The oldest and most venerable in the congregation were seated in the front seats — next the less old, and so on till all the seats below were occupied. In the galleries, by common consent, a similar custom prevailed. The young men held the front and the boys were behind them diminishing in age as they approached the walls. Thus a lad beginning with the back seat next to the wall would, if he lived to old age, by gradual promotion, have worked his way through the whole church, sitting in each rank successively as death thinned the ranks before him. The same regulation obtained with the female part of the congregation. A wife always sat in a seat of equal rank with her husband, but always on her side of the house. It was not till pews were annually rented that the sexes were allowed to be seated together in the same seats.

In the Southampton church the old men sat in side seats on each side of the pulpit, with the small boys in their front. It was not uncommon for an unlucky boy at play to be arrested by a vigorous box of the ear by one of the old men behind him.

“At a Towne meeting November the 5 1679 It is ordered that Mr. Justice Topping with the Constable and Overseers attended by Henry Pierson shall appoynt all the Inhabitants of this Towne their proper and distinet places in the meeting house on the Lord’s day to prevent disorder.”

The order of seating has not been handed down, yet something is known. The pulpit was very high, supported by a shaft and projected in front, leaving directly under it a space large enough for a pew called the deacons’ seat, in which these officers were seated in dignity, overlooking the congregation. Directly in front of them was the communion table, between which, and the congregation, sat the magistrates.

The clock in the church was made in New Haven about the year 1765.

CHURCH BELLS.

The following correspondence in relation to the first two bells from the Records is given as a curiosity:

WALTER MICO.

LONDON, May 19, 1694. Mr. Walter Mico writes to Matthew Howell that according to his order of July 25, 1693 for a new bell, he had one cast and ready to ship in November, 1693 but could not, it being prohibited by law. But an act for exportation of bells having since passed, he shipped it on that day May 19, 1694 on board the European, John Foy, Master. The bell weighed 173 lbs. and the bill was as follows:

Bell weighing 173 lbs 14d per lb	£10 01 10
Clapper & Screw 11 lbs 7d per lb	00 06 05

Credit for old bell 54 lbs 9d per lb	02 08 00

	<hr/> <hr/>

The bell was hung in the church in 1695. It was carted from "Northwest" near East Hampton, by Samuel Cooper.

The bell in the old church in 1843 weighed between 300 and 400 pounds.

In 1843 a bell was purchased for the new church, but broke within two years, and another was then obtained weighing about 800 pounds.

A Mr. Boyer came over from Havre in France, with or after Elias Pelletreau, and lived in Southampton. He was a merchant, and boarded with the Pelletreau family. In the year 1729 he had made and presented to the church two heavy communion cups of silver with the simple inscription engraved upon them, "S. church, 1729." Ten years later two others were made with the following inscriptions: on one "Sought Hampton Church;" on the other, "For the church of Sought hamton, 6 Decembr 1739." The inscription on the tombstone of Mr. Boyer in the Northend burying ground is as follows: "Here lyes ye body of Mr Stephen | Bowyer of Arver in France who | came to this place in ye year 1686 | Departed this life Oct ye 24 | 1730 aged 73 years."

"1645. Ordered by General Court that each family by turus shall sweep out the Meeting House every week, and also from the 1st October to 15th April, make a fire in it on Sabbath morning. A failure to do this to be fined 2s and 6 pence.

"May 14, 1649. It is ordered by Generall Court that the inhabitants of this towne being by the clarke of the band divided into two parts shall accordinge to the sayd Clark's appoyntment, bring their armes to the Meeting House every Lord's day, that is to say, the one half the one Sabbath, & the other half the other next after & that every man shall be provided with 4 charges of powder & shot or balles, hee that fayleth after due warning is to pay to the clarke six pence for every fault accordinge to the former order 3rd July 1648."

SCHOOLS.

From the earliest period of the settlement to this day, a deep interest has always been felt in sustaining the public schools. The character of the original settlers itself secured this in their generation, and their descendants appreciating the importance of education, have always sustained the teacher. Some of the earliest records discovered, together with others, are here presented.

Richard Mills who was here as early as October 7, 1650, when he was made freeman, and removed March, 1651-2, writes himself "schoolmaster" once on the town records, in January, 1650-51, showing there was a school here as early as this date.

"1663, Sept. 22. Jonas Holdsworth is engaged to keep school for two years at 35 lbs. per year.

"1664, Sept. 5. Ordered to build a school house 20 feet long and 15 feet wide before winter at the town's charge.

"1694. John Mowbray engages to teach six months from the 1st of May to the 1st of November, for 12 shillings per 'scholler,' teaching from 8 o'clock till eleven in the morning and from one o'clock till five in the afternoon."

The school-house in use for the latter half of the eighteenth century, and even later, was a large one-story building with a wide, open fireplace in each end. Capacious as the fire places were in the cold winter days, they were piled high with hickory logs, and under the genial influences thus diffused, our grandfathers and grandmothers played, or studied the old school books that now lie dusty and mouse-eaten in strange nooks and corners, in ancient houses with other garret trumpery.

About the year 1786 the people began to agitate the question of building an academy here, as one was much needed for all the surrounding country. At that time there was not a high school on the island, at which boys could be fitted for college, and they were comparatively few in New England. To undertake this enterprise so soon after the close of the war, when this town like the whole country had been drained of its resources, certainly shows a high appreciation of the importance of learning. But the undertaking was thwarted by a spirit of rivalry in the sister town of East Hampton, and by the superior enterprise of Dr. Buel, who, learning the purposes of the Southampton people, raised his subscriptions, and promptly obtained a charter from the State Legislature for the Clinton Academy. This was in 1787. The academy at Flatbush was chartered on the same day, and Clinton Academy was one of the first two incorporated academies in the State of New York.

However, the growth of the town at last made it necessary to erect a suitable building for a high school, and in the year 1831 such a one was erected, and for the most has met with a fair degree of prosperity. Since its erection it has exercised a marked and most beneficial influence on the community.

This academy met with a remarkable accident in the summer of 1853. A thunderstorm was passing over the village, and a heavy bolt of lightning struck it about seven o'clock in the morning. The charge divided, part passing down the chimney at one end, and on the steeple at the other. The chimney rested on two tough white oak posts on the ground floor; one of these posts was riven and split into whips, which were scattered over the room. The charge which struck the steeple also divided — part passing directly downward, tumbling the greater part of the steeple to the ground, tearing holes in the floors of the second and first stories and thence passing into the cellar — the other part of the charge running down the roof, hurled shingles at least twelve rods, and pushed off by main force at the north-east corner, the upper portion of the north side of the building for a little space. In the upper room now called the Academy Hall, nearly all the panes of glass in the windows were burst outward by the rarified and expanded air.

Since its establishment about fifteen young men of the village have received their preparatory course within its walls, most of whom have graduated at various colleges; many other young men from other villages on the Island have also been fitted for college here.

CHAPTER IX.

VARIOUS LOCALITIES — RESIDENCES OF SETTLERS — CHANGES OF RESIDENCE — RESIDENCES IN 1865.

It is to be lamented that the language of the aborigines, the Shinnecock tribe of Indians, passed away and was forgotten before some one arose to perpetuate it on record. However, it is perpetuated in the names of various localities, though their signification is lost. Other local names on the town records are now no longer heard, and still others exist whose origin is obscure. Some changes too in the laying out of streets and the configuration and state of the land have taken place, since the first settlers erected their houses in the forest. The ocean has made considerable encroachments upon the land during this period, variously estimated from forty to eighty rods. The town pond extended as a creek and swamp, at least as far as Hunting's lane. One lane or street has been opened, and another closed — the former Job's lane, or the Academy lane, which was originally a portion of the Sayre homestead, and was given to the town for a public highway by Job Sayre, the son or grandson of Thomas Sayre, the first settler of that name. The only way of reaching the fertile land of the "Necks" was originally around the corner opposite the house where Harriet Reuben Halsey formerly resided; then, very soon after the settlement, Hunting's lane was laid out as a highway, and finally the grant of Job Sayre succeeded for the same purpose. The first settlers seem to have occupied chiefly the land in the south part of the village, in order to place the barrier of a pond between them and the Indians. In 1884 a new road from the railroad station to Gin lane was laid out and opened, which has not been formally named, but which is being generally called the East road.

The island has been known under various names. By the Delawares it was called Matowacks, and is so named in the grant of New Netherlands, by Charles II., to James of York, and in various other documents. It was sometimes called on the main by the name of Sewanhacky, or the Island of Shells. By the Montauks and Shinnecocks it was known as Paumanake. From Ogilby's America we learn that the town of Southampton had then the musical name of Agawam. March 20, 1692-93, Governor Fletcher requested the Council to call the island Nassau Island, in honor of the King, William Prince of Orange, as he said "that the King's name may dwell among you." This change was decided upon by the Council April 10, 1693.*

In a similar way the name of the county was changed from the East Riding of Yorkshire to Suffolk, in honor of James, Duke of York and Albany, who was also Duke of Suffolk.

The town pond has lately been called very appropriately Agawam lake, a name which in 1865 was given to Little Fresh pond, between Southampton and North Sea. It is but just to give another name to this little lake in the woods, and Nippaug is suggested, a name which in the Indian language of Long Island signified a small body of fresh water. The large twin lake on the west of the road to North Sea might appropriately be called Missipaug lake, the Indian equivalent of Big Fresh pond.

Mill Neck was the local name of a tract of land about two miles eastward of the village, now known as Watermill.

Eastward of this was a strong settlement from about 1660, and later, called Sagabonack, and now known by the name of Sagg.

In some of the public documents of the town, we notice Shelter Island mentioned under the name of Farret's Island.

The Indian name of Canoe Place is variously spelled as Niamuck and Niamug.

Ponquogue appears to be a corruption of the original Indian appellation Paugonquague, and Quaquanantuck is now abbreviated and known as Quogue.

GREAT AND LITTLE PLAINS.

These names frequently appear on the early records, and as they are now no longer known as distinctive names of any locality, it may be worth while to describe the tracts of land so denominated by our ancestors. The Great Plains, or the General Field, as it was also sometimes called, were bounded on the north by Captain's Neck lane, east by the town pond, south by the beach, and west by Taylor's creek: thus it included First, Cooper's, Halsey's and Captain's necks.

The Little Plains were bounded north by Frog pond or Gin lane, south by the beach, east by old town pond and west by the town pond. The following report of the execution of an order of the General Court will throw light on this matter, while for other reasons it contains items of interest. It is to be remembered that some of the land therein mentioned now lies doubtless outside of the breakers in the Atlantic ocean. This tract of land was originally three lots deep north and south and has been diminished nearly one-half by the encroachments of the ocean since the settlement, incredible as it may appear.

"According to an order established by the Generall Court, held in Southampton vpon the 5th of March, An Dom. 1651, the plaine called the little plaine was layed forth in diuisions for the inhabitants of the saide towne per Richard Odell apoynted for the same, who layed forth the saide land in three seuerall diuidences, one of euery three making two achors, which two acors lying in the three diuidences aforesaid was layed out to an hundred & fifty pound lott, the said diuidences being drawn by the Inhabitants by lotery in & upon the 20th day of March, 1651.

"The first diuidence bounds with his front upon the pond at the West end of the saide plaine, onely a cart way being left betweene the saide front and the pond, the reeres being butted by the side of the first lott of the third diuidence along to, or west of the plaine, euery lot of the saide first diuidence facing according to the marke on the stakes, to Mr. Smiths home lott Northward of the saide plaine: half an ackor in this diuidence was layed to every hundred and fifty pound Lott."

OX PASTURE.

This was in two divisions, north and south, and must have been so designated rather later than the great and little plains, since the southern division of the ox pasture trenched upon the northern limits of the great field. The south division lay between Cooper's and Halsey's neck lanes on the south, and Captain's neck lane on the north. The north division lay between Captain's neck lane on the south, and the main highway to Shinnecock on the north — out of which tract, however, must be excluded thirty acres of parsonage land. The following order will add some light on this point, while it shows also that the eastern boundary of the ox pasture, both north and south divisions, was the town pond.

It was ordered "to erect a five rail fence to begin at a branch or creek of water belonging to Shinnecock bay, which divides the land of Major John Howell and Isaac Halsey Sr., at the west end of said plains, (Great) and so to run said fence Eastward on the North side of the highway which divides the North and South division commonly known by the name of the Ox pasture division, until it comes to range with the west line of the parsonage land, and then to turn Northward to the So. West corner thereof, and thence on Eastward upon the South line of both pieces of said parsonage land unto the town pond, which fence is to be the north bound of said general field and east bounded by the said pond."

LATITUDE AND LONGITUDE.

The latitude of the Presbyterian church in the village of Southampton, as taken during the United States Coast Survey in 1850, is  $40^{\circ}$ ,  $53'$  north, and the longitude  $72^{\circ}$ ,  $26'$ ,  $31''$  west of Greenwich.

BOUNDARIES.

Some little trouble was experienced quite early in establishing the east and west boundaries of the town; those on the north and south nature had happily settled for them beyond all dispute. This record pertains to the eastern and put an end to all uncertainty from its date to the present time.

"At a Court of Election May 16, 1661.

"It is agreed between Capt. Topping, Mr. Halsey, Mr. Stanborough and John Cooper in behalf of all Southampton unsatisfied about their bounds, and Mr. Baker, and Mr. Mulford in behalf of ye Towne of East Hampton, That ye bounds between the two Plantations shal for ever be and remaine at the stake set down by Capt: How, an hundred pole eastward from a little pond, the said stake being two miles or near thereabouts from ye east side of a great pond commonly called Sackaponack: and soe to run from ye South Sea to the stake and soe over the Island by a strait line to ye Eastern end of Hogneck."

Another controversy arose with Southold in 1667, and an extract upon this from the town record is interesting not only for its bearing on the case, but for other incidental mention of Indian customs.

Richard Howell and Joseph Rainer, aged about forty years, deposed this 15th of September, 1667. Saith as followeth: That vpon a time about the latter end of May last, Capt. John Youngs of Southold brought over to Southampton Thomas Stanton with some of the chief of Southold Indians, meeting at the School-house, some of the chief of the Southampton Indians with the Sachem being there. Capt. Youngs being asked the end of his coming, said, to finde out truth, viz.: whoe had the true right to ye lande, or meadows in controversie between the said two townes, and the debate thereupon grew on betweene the Indians, there being present some of the Southold Inhabitants, with divers of ye chief of the Inhabitants of Southampton: Thomas Stanton being ye Interpreter. These deponents heard the said Thomas ask both parties of ye Indians who had the true right to the said land and meadows, and the said Indians (after long debate) Joyntly answered, that ye young eagles that were taken in the nest and the deare that were drowned or killed in the water, It was ye Indian Custome to carry ye sd eagles & the skins of the deare to those Sachems or Indians that were the true owners of ye land, thereupon Tho. Stanton presently replied, saying, indeed the Eagles & the deare were something, but if there were a beare killed or drowned, that would put the matter out of controversie, And these deponents heard Southampton Indians affirme that there was a beare drowned or killed in yt same tract of land now in controversy between ye two sd townes: Then Tho. Stanton asked them to whome the skin was carryed and Southampton Indians answered, to Shinecock Indians. And Southold Indians allsoe acknowledged that ye said beares skin was carryed to Shinecock Indians by Southold Indians who took ye beare.

Taken before me, Thomas Topping.

Also the following :

October ye 17th 1667, the Testimony of two Ancient women that formerly had lived at Accaboneke, do affirme that all the land and marsh ground betweene Peaconeck and Niamocke did belong unto Shinecock Indians, and that there was a bear drowned in the meadow on the East side of Peaconocke and that the skinne and fatt was brought to Shinecocke Indians, and one doth further affirme that she eat part of the said Bare.

RESIDENCES EARLY AND PRESENT.

No one of our ancestors has done for Southampton what Col. Lyon Gardiner did for the town which he assisted to bring into existence, viz., leave for future generations a record of the residences of the original settlers. Many changes in the course of two hundred and twenty-five years have, of course, obliterated some of the old land-marks, and the difficulty is no small one, to reconstruct at this time the town of 1650. Yet some waymarks are found scattered all along, by which, with other assistance, much can be done in solving this problem. The list of inhabitants in 1649, 1657 and 1698, which have been given, will go far to confirm and complete the results of investigation of the town records. We take the following as a sure and reliable starting point; the facts are ascertained beyond all dispute.

ON THE EAST SIDE OF THE TOWN.

Obadiah Rogers lived on the residence of Captain Albert Rogers, deceased, and this homestead has always been in the Rogers family.

Henry Pierson lived on the opposite corner where the church now stands, or it may be a little to the south on the homestead now owned by Mr. Lewis Hildreth.

Isaac Wilman lived next north of the second church and on the home lot now belonging to Mr. Edwin Post.

James Herrick lived on what is now the homestead of Mrs. Hannah, widow of Captain James Post. This house was probably a little south of the dwelling of Mrs. Post.

Thomas Topping, Sen., lived on what is now the residence of Mr. Albert Foster.

ON THE WEST SIDE OF THE STREET.

There can scarcely be any doubt but that Edward Howell, in 1648, built the house formerly occupied by Mr. William P. Herrick. His homestead was bounded on the north by that of Thomas Sayre, and south by that part of the parsonage land lately sold to Mrs. Amanda Hildreth.

Thomas Sayre resided where his descendants still live, north of the Academy, and probably in the same dwelling, though one-half of the house was added many years after his death.

SAYRE HOUSE.

ERECTED IN 1648, STILL STANDING.

The Jones family resided on what is now the residence of the heirs of Mr. Wm. T. Jones, and their homestead embraced also that of Mr. Edward Huntting, deceased.

Besides these a large number of residences of a later period have been ascertained from the town records, the result of which investigations will appear at length in the following plot of the main street of the village. If space would allow I would reproduce the map of W. S. Pelletreau in volume 1 of the printed town records.

REMARKS IN EXPLANATION OF THE FOLLOWING PLOT.

The relative width of the lots fronting the main street is very nearly preserved in the plot, from Gin lane to the Meeting House lane, on both sides of the street; but from this point northward no such accuracy has been attempted, from want of sufficient data, and the design is merely to give the relative location of the residences in early and later times.

The placing of a [] in a lot is also not designed to mark the position of the house in that lot, but to indicate simply the fact of a residence somewhere in the same.

To the north, say of Robert Woolley, in 1648, the homesteads appear to have been larger than those south of this point, and, therefore, it has been impossible to indicate the exact locality of some who there resided. It is known that north of Manassah Kempton, on the same side of the street, lived James Hampton, who gave his homestead to his son-in-law, James Mappam. North of him lived Joshua Barnes. North of Barnes lived John Bishop in 1683.

After every attempt to make an accurate analysis of all the data furnished by the records, perfect certainty cannot in all cases be obtained — yet in the main the plot is believed to be correct in the location of the homes of our ancestors.

The west fork in the main street beginning at the residence of the late Capt. Austin Herrick, seems to have been laid out in 1712.

Previous to this the line on the west side of the street must have run directly from the south-east corner of the burying ground to the south-east corner of the homestead of Captain A. Herrick.

WEST.

NORTH.

1679. Residence or homestead of Capt. Mercator Cooper owned by Chris. Fowler. 1684, John Jennings sells same to Thomas Goodwin.

Cornelius Voncke, a Dutch shoemaker lived where Mr. Thomas Warren lives. He died, and his wife sold the homestead to Edward White, June 7, 1682, and on June 14, 1682, Edward White sold the same to William Mason.

North of him on the west street running by the swamp in 1679, lived Richard Painter; and north of his house a road was laid out in 1682, running at an angle of about  $60^{\circ}$  from this street to the hill street or main highway to the hills of Shinnecock.

West of Voncke, from 1646 to 1684, Thomas Cooper resided. Cooper must have sold a house-lot to Voncke.

John Tennison for a time, about 1668, resided on what is now the corner lot of Capt. Thomas Royce on the hill.

South of this, about where is the residence of James Pierson, deceased, in 1698, lived James Cooper.

Edmund Howell, in a deed of date about 1696, is spoken of as then residing in Cape May county, N. J.

Thomas Hildreth died, leaving widow Hannah and a number of young children, names not given. At the time of his death his eldest son Joseph appears to have arrived at the age of manhood, and inherited the homestead at Flying Point. But afterward either Joseph or his son Joseph lived on what is now the residence of William Woolley, the grandfather of the late Mr. William Woolley.

About 1650, Thomas Topping gives to his son-in-law, James Herrick, a lot of land on his front, about two rods wide, for a house lot. He lived on what is now the homestead of Mr. Albert Foster. At this time, probably, and certainly in 1681, John Jessup lived on what is now the residence of the widow of Capt. James Post; for in 1681 John Jessup sells this homestead to James Herrick. North of this, where some shops or wood houses of Mr. Edwin Post now stand, must have been the site of the second church. North of the church was the court-house and in the rear the jail. Still north of these, on the present homestead of Mr. Edwin Post, was the residence of Isaac Willman. Next to this was the house of Ellis Cook, now Mr. James Herrick's. Then next north lived John White very early, and north of him, embracing the late homestead of Mr. Lewis Hildreth and Mrs. Esther, widow of Dr. John P. Herrick, was the residence of Henry Pierson.

The house lot of William Russell was sold to Obadiah Sale in 1678, bounded north by home lot of John Laughton, east by the street, south by the home lot of John Jagger, and west by the highway leading to North Sea. Obadiah Sale sells this homestead to George Heathcote, and it was afterward purchased of Heathcote by the town for a burying ground and is still so used.

1676. Richard Howell exchanges a lot laid out for a home lot of four acres, bounded north by home lot of Joseph Raynor, south by home lot of Mrs. Raynor or Jonathan Raynor (R. Howell bought this of John Lum), for six acres of Ben Davis' which he had of Arthur Howell and which were next to and south of Richard Howell's home lot.

Arthur Howell and Hannah his wife, sell his home lot and house to Ben Davis, May 2, 1675, which lies between Joseph Raynor and Richard Howell's, containing six acres. Arthur Howell removed to Sagabonach.

We will add some statements communicated to the author, concerning the residences during the better half of the last century, by Mr. Charles Pelletreau, now deceased.

South of Mr. Isaac Foster's house was the residence of Obadiah Howell.

North of Mr. Isaac Foster lived Nathan Jagger.

South of Mr. Nicholas White lived Hugh Raynor, and James his son lived in the present residence of Mr. White.

North of Mr. White lived Benjamin Marshall.

North of Horsemill lane lived Adonijah Raynor.

South of the house of Mr. Barney Green lived John Howell. Deacon Thomas Jessup erected and occupied this house of Mr. Green. A windmill once stood on the south-west corner of the lot of Capt. Charles Howell, which lies south of the homestead of Mr. Albert Foster. Stephen Howell lived on the present residence of Mr. Edwin Halsey.

Jeremiah Jagger lived on the present residence of Capt.

George White. East of the homestead of Capt. Barney Green, deceased, lived John Fowler, Esq. Caleb Cooper lived on the present residence of Mr. Schroeder. Charles Cooper lived on the place of the late Sylvanus Marshall. Dr. Smith lived on the place of Mr. William Pelletreau, deceased. Joshua Sayre lived north of the present home of Mr. Caleb Halsey. Stephen Sayre lived on the present homestead of Mr. Jackson, but afterward removed from the town.

Elias Foster lived on the present homestead of Mr. Peter Fournier. John Foster, one of the convention to adopt the Constitution of the United States, lived on the late homestead of Mr. Lewis Hildreth. Deacon Samuel Howell lived on the homestead now of Mr. Jeremiah Squires.

To complete the list of present residences in the main street from the fork in the road opposite the burying ground, northward on the trapezoidal tract of land which forms the fork, lived on the end fronting the south, the widow of the late Capt. Austin Herriek. On the east side north of Mrs. Herriek lived Capt. Daniel Jagger and north of him Capt. Henry Halsey, and still north of him Miss Sayre. On the west side of the same lived Mrs. Agee Halsey. On the east side of the east branch of the main street line, successively advancing northward, the widow of Jonathan Fithian, Esq. (as in the plot before given), Charles Bishop, Caleb Halsey, Septa Jackson, Peter Fournier, James Bishop, William Jagger and Lewis Jagger. On the west side of the same branch live Mrs. Lewis Sanford, Albert Jagger, Albert Reeves and Francis Bishop. On the south end of a tract of land between the two branches aforesaid, and fronting south live Mr. Lewis Bowden, on the west, and Mr. John Burnett to the east of him. On the west side of the west branch, north of Capt. William Fowler (as in the above plot) lived Mrs. Harriet R. Halsey, Mr. E. Wines Payne and Captain Samuel McCorkle. On the east side of the same lived Mr. David Jagger.

VILLAGES AND HAMLETS.

Watermill. This was settled very early, the grist mill being erected there by Edward Howell in 1644, and the land being taken up by the sons of the first settlers. It is in the parish of Southampton village. It maintains a prosperous district school and has a population of nearly 200.

Sagg.

This village was settled as before stated about 1660. The earliest settlers were Josiah Stanborough, John and Elnathan Topping, Henry Pierson, Christopher Leaming and Rev. Ebenezer White. Theophilus, son of Major John Howell, settled here quite early on land now occupied by G. Clarence Topping. Daniel Hedges came here about 1702 from East Hampton and was the progenitor of those of the name in Southampton.

Among the oldest epitaphs in the village burying ground are the following :

"Here lyes buried the body of Theophilus Howell, Esq. Aged 77 years ; deceased March the 12, 1739."

"Coll. Henry Peirson deceased November the 15 in the 50 year of his age. 1701."

"Mr. Peregrine Stanborough, Deacon in the Parish. Departed this life Jan. the 4, 1701, in the 62 year of his age."

"Here lies the Body of Captain Elnathan Topping, who departed this life March the 26 anno Domini 1705, aged 64 years."

"Here lieth the Body of John Topping, Justice of the Peace, aged fifty years, who departed this life in the 29 day of May in the year 1686."

"Here was layed the body of Mr. Nathaniel Rusco, who dyed Augvst the 21st Anno 1714, in the 67 year of his age."

Canoe Place.

This is on a peninsula between the Shinnecock and Peconic bays, called Niamuck by the Indians, and Canoe Place by the settlers from the fact that canoes were drawn here from one bay to another by the Indians. The present hotel property was sold by the trustees of the proprietors in 1739 to Jeremiah Culver. Until the revolution his house was the only habitation between Riverhead and Southampton. From the revolution to the present day the successive owners have been Major George Herrick, John Howell, grandfather of Charles Howell late of Ketchabonnek, George Seaman and Israel Conkling.

Good Ground.

This thriving village has sprung up since 1800. It contains a Methodist church built in 1863 and a school-house. It is so named from the fact that it is an oasis amid the barren pine lands that surround it.

Ponquogue, formerly Paugonquogue.

This is a small hamlet on the Shinnecock bay and has a fine light-house erected in 1857. The Bay View Hotel erected here in 1875 is a large structure and attractive to sportsmen on account of abundant game in the vicinity.

Atlanticville.

Formerly Fourth Neck contained in 1880 a population of 267. It has a small Methodist church and a school-house. The creek on the east called by the Indians Achabacawesuck has been abbreviated to Weesuck by the later inhabitants. A large boarding-house frequented by sportsmen is located on Tiana bay, owned by Benjamin F. Squires.

Quogue.

This neck of fertile land was known as Quaquanantuck by the Indians, but as life was too short to grapple with the polysyllabic names of the aborigines, it soon dwindled to Quaqua and finally to Quogue, its present appellation. Settlements began here about 1740 by the Cooks, Fosters, Howells and Posts from Southampton. Among the epitaphs of the old burying ground we give the following : *

"Here lies the body of Jonathan Cook, who departed this life March 7, 1754, aged 54 years."

"In memory of Elizabeth, wife of John Foster, who departed this life the 18th of March 1773, in the 78th year of her age."

"In memory of Mr Elisha Howell, who died Sept. 7, 1777, in the 73d year of his age."

"In memory of Abigail, wife of Capt. John Post, who died March, 17, 1772, in the 67 year of her age."

[Capt. John Post, the first settler here, died Jan. 3, 1792, aged 92.]

"In memory of Mr. Nathan Herrick, who died March 24 A. D. 1783, in the 83d year of his age."

This village has now numerous large boarding-houses and is a favorite summer resort as the neck of land extends down to the shores of the ocean with Shinnecock bay on the east and Quantuck bay on the west.

Quioque.

This is a small village between Aspatuck and Quantuck rivers, on land formerly called Little Assup's Neck. Here stands the Presbyterian church of the parish of West Hampton and Quogue where Rev. Wm. B. Reeves, M. D., after preaching twenty years as stated supply was finally installed as pastor in 1875.

Ketchabonack.

This is a district with farm houses scattered here and there, lying next west and north-west of Quogue. Jonathan Raynor was probably the first white resident, having a homestead here in 1738 ; now occupied by Elisha Raynor. In this locality the late Governor John A. Dix had a country seat and near this was the summer house of Joseph Alden, D. D., ex-president of the State Normal School at Albany. Mr. Mortimer D. Howell has a large boarding-house ; has for several years been a popular summer resort for people of the city.

Onuck and Potunk.

These are two necks of land west of Ketchabonack. Onuck or Womunk was as early as 1738 occupied by Isaac Halsey, and is still the residence of his descendants. Potunk was settled some time previous to the revolution and one of the first to move here was John Jessup, whose homestead was occupied by his grandson Deacon John S. Jessup who but a few years ago full of honors for a life of integrity went over to the majority.

West Hampton.

There is no one village of this name at present, but it is the name of a station on the Long Island railroad and also is applied as a name to all that district generally between Quogue and Speonk.

Beaverdam.

A grist mill was built here on the mill stream as early as 1748. "Before the mill-dams were built on Beaverdam and Speonk rivers the old country road crossed these streams near their heads, and it is supposed, at the same places the Indians had their crossings. After the dams were built the roads were turned so as to cross them. At the old road, some distance north of the mill at Beaverdam, is the corner between the 'Upper Division' and the 'Last Division' in Quogue purchase. A line running from the center of the dam to the bridge at Riverhead separates Quogue and Topping's purchases, and this dam is also the corner of the 'Speonk Division,' and 'Last Division' in the latter."*

A Presbyterian church was erected here somewhat previous to 1758. Among the old monuments in the burying ground are the following:

"In memory of Stephen Jagger Esq., who died April 10 1796 in the 77th year of his age."

"In memory of Ephraim Halsey, who died August 20th 1764, aged 71 years."

"In memory of Cornelius Halsey, who died April 19, 1782, in the 61 year of his age."

* W. S. Pelletreau.

The people of West Hampton have honored themselves in erecting a monument to the memory of the soldiers from that neighborhood whose lives were sacrificed in the slaveholders' rebellion. It is of brown stone, about sixteen feet high and has the following inscriptions :

" West Hampton's tribute to the patriotism and bravery of her sons who in the war for the preservation of the Union heroically fought and honorably fell."

" Capt. Franklin B. Hallock, Serg't Cyrus D. Tuthill, Corp. Hiram A. Wines, Reeves H. Havens, Timothy W. Robinson, Thomas M. Smith, Edward Stephens, James E. Griffing, Henry S. Raynor."

Speonk.

This village was settled about 1740 and the earliest settlers were Abraham Halsey (son of Thomas, son of Thomas the first of the name in Southampton), John and James Tuthill, Joseph Rogers, from Bridgehampton 1760, and the Phillips family, consisting of four brothers, William, Josiah, Joseph and Moses, from Brookhaven in 1757. The village has a Methodist church and school-house and the population in 1880 was 196.

Waterville.

The westernmost village on the south shore of the town is Waterville, formerly Seatuck. It has a population of about 200 engaged in farming and fishing.

Flanders.

This is a small settlement in the north-west section of the town near Riverhead. The first house was erected here about 1770 by Josiah Goodale. Families of Squires and Fanning came soon after. The population is 126.

CHAPTER X.

INDIANS — FRIENDLY RELATIONS WITH THEM — PURCHASE OF THEIR LANDS — LEASE OF SHINNECOCK AND THE HILLS — SALE OF SHINNECOCK HILLS.

AT the time of the settlement of Southampton, five tribes of Indians were living in its vicinity. The tract of land originally settled was purchased of the Shinnecocks, leaving part of their lands still in their possession. The remainder of their territory was afterward purchased, and the western boundary of the town then was on the borders of the Poosepatuck, or Poosapatuck and Patchogue tribes, and the northern on the borders of the Peaconics. To the east roamed the Montauk, the royal tribe of the island whose chief, Wyandanch, a man of noble character, exercised supreme authority over the whole thirteen tribes who occupied the island. The aggregate population of these tribes is now unknown, though collateral facts confirmed by tradition afford good evidence of its being very great.

The Montauks are said to have been the most numerous and powerful. Tradition has it, that in early times when drawn out in "Indian file" the warriors of the Shinnecock tribe extended from Shinnecock gate to the town — this being about two miles would give them at least 2,000 adult men — but 200 seems far more probable. Nowedanah, a brother of Wyandanch, was the chief of the Shinnecocks, as appears in the deed of sale of East Hampton.

There is no reason to suppose the Indians on the east end differed in character from those on the main — they were bold, hardy and warlike. Yet never once was there any armed collision or serious disturbance of the peaceful relations initiated at the settlement of the town. There were indeed, at times, ominous threats and rumors, but they all originated in the machinations of the natives on the main, or, there is some reason to believe, of the Dutch in New York. This friendly feeling was owing partly to the fact of the fair and equitable treatment they universally received from the English; and partly from the peculiar circumstances of the natives themselves. The Montanks on the east, and the Shinnecoeks on the west, had been harrassed by incursions of the Narragansetts of Rhode Island, and were glad to enter into a treaty with the English for mutual protection. It will be seen from the Indian deed of 1640, given in the appendix, that this stipulation was made with the whites as a part of the consideration in the sale of the land. This understanding between the Indians and the English went far to secure peace within their borders.

The amicable relations between the two races was seriously threatened in 1653, when the Narragansetts, perhaps allied with emissaries of the Dutch, endeavored to seduce the Indians on the east end of Long Island into a combination with them to exterminate all the white settlers. In this they were unsuccessful, although the apprehensions of the English were greatly excited, and for some time unusual care was taken to guard against a sudden attack.

* The Narragansetts of Rhode Island exercised a kind of feudal authority over the Indian tribes of the east end of Long Island, although these in former times were said by ancient Indians to have mustered over 5,000 warriors. This sovereignty, however, was probably fluctuating and dependent on the results of their not unfrequent contests in the field.

† Another writer says of them: "The Indians upon L. I. were more fierce and barbarous, for one Capt. Howe about this time (1642 or 3) going with eight or ten men to a wigwam there to demand an Indian that had killed one Hammond an Englishman [of which the Southampton records are silent] the Indian ran violently out with a knife in his hand, wherewith he wounded one of the company, thinking to escape from them, so as they were forced to kill him upon the place, which so awed the rest that they durst not attempt any revenge. If they had been always so handled, they would not have dared to have rebelled as they did afterwards." Mather also says the English were obliged to arm themselves and be on the defense many days as the Indians were assembled (1649) in a "hostile posture."

Rev. Samson Occum, who belonged to the tribe of Mohegans originally dwelling in the territory between Norwich and New London, gives some account of the manners and customs of the Indians on the east end of Long Island. He labored among the Montauks and Shinnecoeks as teacher and preacher. His account substantially agrees with that of Lyon Gardiner, and adds in substance the following items: Marriages were often contracted by parents for their children in infancy, with the understanding, however, that the latter could ratify or ignore the parental agreement upon arriving at the age of discretion. It was usual to celebrate the marriage by a feast to which the friends of both parties were invited.

Children were named also at a similar gathering for a dance, and often a man changed the name so given and chose one for himself, especially to commemorate some great event in his life.

The great and good supreme being in the account of Occum is called Cauhuntoowat, and the great evil god, Mutcheshesunnetoo, to both of whom sacrifices were offered.

The bodies of the dead were washed before burial and then decked with ornaments and the face often painted. Mourning was continued a year during which the women usually blackened their faces. The period of mourning was terminated with a dance. He says "they used to bury great many things with their dead, especially the things that belonged to the dead, and what they did not bury they would give away, and they would never live in a wigwam in which any person died, but will immediately pull it down."* Mr. Occum was the first Indian preacher ever in Great Britain. He was educated by Mr. Wheelock, President of Dartmouth College, and was ordained by the Suffolk Presbytery.† He was the author of the hymn "Awaked by Sinai's awful sound."

He preached with acceptance in New York and Boston.

Mr. Prime, Hist. of L. I., says: "The conduct of the Long Island Indians towards the whites, is without a parallel in the history of this country. It was to be expected that individual acts of aggresion would occur on the part of a barbarous people, for real or supposed injuries. But even these were rare; and the Indians always showed themselves willing to submit to an impartial investigation, and just decision of alleged wrongs.'

From records of particular courts at Hartford, Ct., Liber 2. p. 99, as published in Hist. Magazine, by Mr. Charles J. Hoadley, we take the following:

These troubles began in 1655, when Ninigrate, chief of the Narragansetts, undertook to reduce the Long Island Indians to submission. The latter were obliged to appeal to the English on the Island and the main for assistance.

The only other occurrence of this kind which happened in Southampton was the murder of Mrs. Thomas Halsey, in 1649, which caused some apprehension of a general insurrection against the English. A messenger was immediately sent to the magistrates to summon Wyandanch to appear before them. "His counselors fearing that he would be summarily condemned to death by way of retaliation, advised him not to obey the summons. Before he expressed his own opinion, he submitted the case to Mr. Gardiner, who happened to be lodging in his wigwan that same night. By his advice he set out immediately for Southampton, Mr. G. agreeing to remain as a hostage to the tribe, for the safety of their beloved chief. With amazing celerity, he not only accomplished the journey of twenty-five miles, but actually apprehended on his way, and delivered to the magistrates, the murderers of the woman; who instead of being his own subjects, proved to be Pequot Indians from the main; some of whom were generally lurking on the Island for the purpose of promoting disturbances between the natives and the new settlers. These men being sent to Hartford, were there tried, convicted, and executed."

The only allusion to this murder found in the records is as follows:

"I the subscriber, namely, Thomas Halsey do witness that at the time of the trouble in this town of Southampton by reason of murder committed by the Indians; at a great assembly of the Indians for the settling of matters in fine, I saw Mandush (who was a man reputed and acknowledged generally by all Indians for those parts to be the great Sachem's son of Shinnecock) cut up a turf of ground in Southampton and delivering it to Wyandanch, gave up all his right and interest unto him. And he the said Mandush with many other of the chief of Shinnecock Indians, as ancient men did manifest their consent and that they were contented by their ordinary sign of stroking Wyandanch on the back and since that time the said Wyandanch hath acted upon the aforesaid interest given to him as by letting and disposing of lands at Quaquanantuck and elsewhere. And I never heard any deny Wyandanch his right and propriety in the premises until of late. And this I am ready to depose when thereunto called. Witness my hand the 19 day of September 1666."

"THOMAS HALSEY."

"I the subscriber namely Thomas Sayre do also witness all that is above testified by Thos Halsey except only the delivery of the turf and further that when Mandush gave up his right to Wyandanch, and stroked him on the back, Mandush also told Wyandanch that now he would be all one dog. And this I am ready to depose when I am thereunto called. Witness my hand this 19 day of September 1666."

"THOMAS SAYRE."

Confirmation of this relinquishment of the fee of the land similar perhaps to that under William the Norman, in England, that, according to the feudal system, the barons should hold their tenures of the King, is found in some documents which Weany, Sunk Squa (or the royal Squaw, or Squaw Regent, in court parlance) the widow of Wyandanch unites in signing with the Shinnecocks.

As to their religious belief, it has been found impossible to ascertain any information from the living representatives of the Shinnecock tribe. But Lyon Gardiner, the chronicler of East Hampton, has left on record a statement in reference to the Montauks, who, doubtless, differed in nothing in this respect from other Long Island tribes. As no man was better qualified than he, the worthy friend of the noble Wyandanch, we give his notes entire.

"They were, as I have before remarked, Polytheists. They had gods in great numbers ; many of lesser influence, having particular charges, and two of exalted degree, the good and evil Deity, having a general superintendence and control, as well over all other gods as over men. There was a god of the four corners of the earth, and the four seasons of the year ; another of the productions of the earth ; another of the elements ; one of the day and night ; and a god of the hearth, the family and domestic relations. The great, good, and supreme Deity they called Caulkluntoowut, which signifies one possessed of supreme power. The great evil spirit was named Mutesumetook, which signifies evil power. They worshipped and offered sacrifices to these gods at all times. They had small idols or images which they believed knew the will of the gods and a regular Priesthood by whom these idols were consulted. The priests were called Powawows, or Powwas, and declared to the people what the gods required of them. When dances and feasts should be made ; when presents should be given to the old people ; when sacrifices should be offered to the gods, and of what kind. These Powwas pretended to hold intercourse with the gods in dreams, and with the evil spirits in particular, who appeared to them under different forms, and by voices in the air. These were the Medicine-men. They administered to the sick ; relieved those afflicted with evil spirits and poison, and incantations and charms, protected the people from all harm. Subject to the Powwas' influence, neither fire could burn them nor water drown them ; nor could they receive any injury whatever. The most savory sacrifice made to the great Deity was the tail or fin of the whale, which they roasted. The leviathan, from which it was taken, was at times found cast upon the sea-shore, and then a great and prolonged Powow or Religious Festival was held. At these festivals great efforts were supposed to be necessary to keep the Evil One without the circle of their incantations. His presence, it was believed, would defeat the object of the Powwas in the procurement of the favor and particular regard of the good deity. Violent gesticulations, loud yells, and laborious movements of the limbs and body, with distortion of the features, were continued until the excitement produced approached to madness. When the Evil Spirit was supposed to be subjugated, the dance and the feast commenced. It is among the Indian traditions, that the existence of the Evil Spirit was evidenced by his having, when driven from the feast, left the imprint of his foot upon a granite rock on Montauk, and made three holes in the ground, at regular distances, where he alighted, in three several leaps from the stone on which he had stood, and then disappeared.

“They believed in a future state of existence, that their souls would go westward a great distance, and many moons journey, to a place where the spirits of all would reside, and where, in the presence of their great Sawwonnuntow, beyond the setting sun, the brave and the good would exercise themselves in pleasurable singing, in feasting, hunting, and dancing forever. The coward, the traitor, the liar, and the thief, were also there, but the enjoyments of the favored Sawwonnuntow only added to the pain of the punishments visited upon the misdeeds of the wicked. Servile labor, so painful to and so much despised by the Indian, was the allotment of the sinful. The making a canoe with a round stone, and the carrying water in a wicker basket were among the perplexing exercises of those who had sacrificed the happiness of their future existence to the will of Mutchessumetool or the Evil power.”

No more hopeless fate than this, the classical student will observe, was awarded by the grim Rhadamanthus to Sisyphus, Tantalus, or the daughters of Danaus.

In 1641 the General Court passed a law making it penal to sell any instrument of war, namely, guns, powder, bullets, lead, swords or matches to the Indians, and also against selling any liquor to the same. A second law was afterward passed, allowing certain specified parties to trade with them discreetly in these things.

For many years after the settlement the Indians derived their subsistence, like their brethren in other parts of the country, chiefly from hunting and fishing. But gradually adopting the civilized life, for generations past, they have cultivated sufficient land to supply their wants, together with the wealth they have drawn from the adjacent waters. They are now generally provided with comfortable homes, and maintain a school in their midst, and two small churches.

As before stated the first purchase from the Indians was made on December 13, 1640. Then the Quaquanantuck or Quogue purchase of which no record appears in the town records. Thirdly, Topping's purchase of land west of Quogue, effected April 10, 1662, and finally a re-purchase of the whole town, August 16, 1703, the deeds of all which will be found in the appendix.

The records at Albany* show that the settlers were not without apprehensions of violence from their dusky neighbors. July 10, 1675, Governor Andros writes to Governor Winthrop of Connecticut of a rumor that there was a conspiracy among the Indians of the Atlantic coast, from New England to Delaware bay, to make war on the whites. But in September following he writes again that all the danger is passed. There were general instructions to the magistrates to disarm the Indians of Long Island and the main land of all the guns they had. On page 133 of this same book, Governor Andros writes to Southampton that this was a false report, i. e., of the Indian war, the letter being dated September 8, 1675.

The restlessness of the Indians in regard to the title of the town is illustrated still further in the abstract of an entry in the town records in 1686, as follows :

“ At a town meeting held in Southampton the 23d day of November, 1686, it is agreed upon by major vote of the town that Major John Howell shall go to New York about the present affair of making good our title to our lands called into question at Shinnecock, and Henry Ludlam is likewise chosen to wait upon him.

“ At the same meeting it is ordered that the patentees concerned in our patent shall make a conveyance of the land held within our township to the persons respectively according to the interest of allotment of hundred and fifties, or fifties when they hold in this town.

“ Also there are chosen six men to be a committee in behalf of the men to give Major Howell his instructions and also to attend Colonel Youngs when he comes to hear the Indians acknowledge our deed, and the men so chosen are Mr. Edward Howell, Henry Pierson, Matthew Howell, Thomas Cooper, Obadiah Rogers and Joseph Pierson.”

THE CHIEF OF THE SHINNECOCKS.

In 1648 Nowedanah was the chief of the Shinnecock tribe as appears in the deed of sale of the town land of East Hampton.

January 22, 1670-71, Quaquashaug having been elected their chief by the same tribe, was on that day confirmed to be the chief by Governor Francis Lovelace. The same day Cawbutt an Indian was appointed by the same authority constable of the Shinnecock tribe. (Albany Records.)

LEASE OF SHINNECOCK TO THE INDIANS.

In order to settle all disputes which had arisen concerning the title to the land of the town, and quiet the Indians in their apprehensions at the disappearance of their hunting grounds, as before stated, a convention of the whites and Indians was held at Southampton, August 16, 1703. In addition to the re-purchase of the town, the whites gave to the Indians the following lease of Shinnecock and the hills :

“ This indenture made between the Trustees of the commonalty of the Town of Southampton in the County of Suffolk and province of New York on Island of Nassau on the one part and Pomgnama, Chice, and Manaman and their people belonging to Shinnecock of the other part, witnesseth : That the said Trustees of the Town aforesaid, by and with one full consent and agreement for divers good causes them thereunto moving, and one ear of Indian corn annually to be paid to the Trustees of said Town, for the time being, yearly, and every year, upon the first day of November, and for and upon the condition and proviso hereafter expressed, have demised, granted, and to farm letten, and by these presents do demise, grant, let, and let to farm unto the said Pomguama, Chice, Manaman, and their people abovesaid, all that their certain tract of land lying within the bounds of Southampton aforesaid, called by the name of Shinnecock and Sebonac, bounded west by Canoe place, alias Niamug, and bounded southward by Shinnecock Bay, and eastward by a line running from the head of Shinnecock Creek to the north-west corner of James Cooper's Close, and from thence northwardly to the westward part of Jonathan Raynor's land, at Sebonac old ground, and from thence on a direct line to a place called the warehouse by the North Bay, and on the north by the said Bay; meadows, marshes, grass, herbage, feeding and pasturage, timber, stone, and convenient highways only excepted, with all and singular the privileges and advantages of plowing and planting, and timber for firing and fencing, and all other conveniences and benefits whatsoever, excepting what before is excepted to the only use and behoof of the said Indians, their heirs and successors, for one thousand years thence next ensuing the date hereof: Provided always the said Indians do not keep nor cause to be kept, any part or parcel of the said land within fence or enclosed from the last of October to the first of April, from year to year, during the whole term aforesaid; and for the full confirmation hereof, the parties have interchangeably set their hands and seals in Southampton aforesaid, this sixteenth of August, Anno Dom. 1703.

Immediately after the above lease is recorded in the town records the following:

“We, the trustees within named, according to the town’s former agreement with the said Indians of Shinnecock, do hereby grant liberty to them and theirs, to cut flags, bulrushes, and such grass as they usually make their mats and houses of, and to dig ground nuts, mowing lands excepted, anywhere in the bounds of the township of Southampton aforesaid, as witnesseth our hands and seals this 16th day of August, 1703.

“Witness:

“Josiah Howell, Abraham Howell, Stephen Bowyer, Arthur Davis, Benjamin Marshall, Joseph Howell, Daniel Halsey, Hezekiah Howell, John Maltby, Jekamiah Scott, Joseph Fordham, Thomas Stephens, Gersham Culver, Trustees.”

Acknowledged same day before John Wheeler, Justice.

SALE OF SHINNECOCK HILLS IN 1861.

By a special act of legislature, the Indians, in 1859, were empowered to sell and did sell to the proprietors, all their rights to the Shinnecock hills which they possessed (or their children were to possess) by the above lease of 1703, in consideration of having in themselves the fee of Shinnecock neck. On February 19, 1861, the hills were sold by the proprietors at public auction, for $6,250, and purchased by a company of Southampton people, chiefly for purposes of pasturage. In the advertisement for the sale occurs the following: "Situated in the central part of said Town, and extending from Peconic Bay on the north, to Shinnecock Bay on the south, and containing about 3200 acres. The Indian claim and interest in these lands have been recently extinguished by agreement with the Indians, and by the consent and ratification of the Legislature of the State of New York, so that the title to the property is now undisputed and indisputable. A considerable portion of the land is of good quality, ready for the plough, and susceptible of being converted into fine farms. The remainder is well adapted to sheep and cattle grazing, to which the whole tract has been exclusively devoted for many years."

This same tract was sold in 1881 to parties in Brooklyn who propose to use it as its delightful situation deserves it should be, as summer residences for city people.

CHAPTER XI.

EARLY CUSTOMS — WHALING — BURYING GROUNDS — MISCELLANEOUS.

MANY of the customs and peculiarities of our forefathers have already been noticed in various portions of this work, so that but little remains to say on this point. Like their friends in New England, it appears from the records, that they for a time abandoned the use of the names of months and days as given in the calendar; dating an event, e. g., on the 7th day of the week of the 4th month, instead of Saturday, June 4th. This custom originated from conscientious scruples against the use of names of heathen origin.

Pope Gregory XIII. in 1582, observing that the vernal equinox occurred during the Council of Nice, A. D. 325, on the 21st of March, but happened on that year on the 10th, by the advice of astronomers caused ten days to be thrown out of the current year between the 4th and 15th of October. He further decreed that the year henceforth should consist of 365 days, 5 hours and 49 minutes and that every year exactly divisible by 100, excepting those divisible by 400, should not be considered a leap year. This alteration in the calendar was at once accepted in all Catholic countries, but it took longer time to introduce the change into England. In the year 1752, by act of Parliament,\* eleven days were dropped between the 2d and 14th of September and the year was to begin on the first of January instead of on the 25th of March as had been the practice. This, the “new style,” is now universal among all civilized nations except in Russia, where the “old style” still prevails. In reducing old to new style ten days should be added from 1500 to 1700, and eleven days from 1700 to 1752. Previous to 1752 any day in March was called the 1st, 10th or 30th (as the case might be) of the first month. But as a matter of fact, both in England and in her American colonies, clerks were slow to adopt the change, and often obstinately persisted for half a century in following the old mode of reckoning. This hesitation caused the use so frequent in the old records of such dates as the following: January 16, 173 $\frac{4}{5}$ , or March 16, 164 $\frac{1}{2}$ , in which the lower of the last two figures represents the year according to the present mode, and the upper one, the old style of reckoning.

We often find in the early records following names of the days of the week, dies solis, dies lunæ, dies Martis, dies Mercurii, dies Jovis, dies Veneris and dies Saturnii, or sometimes dies Sabbati. Although these are Roman names it must not be supposed they belong to the Augustan era. Neither Homer nor Virgil nor their countrymen of the classic age, Greek or Latin, knew of any division of time into weeks. This division was of divine origin and known and practiced by those who had the oracles of God and through them gradually was introduced into other nations. Not until the Roman empire, in the early part of the fourth century, came under the influence of Christianity, in the reign of Constantine, was the week known to the Romans. The French preserve these names yet in their language, while the Teutonic languages preserve the thing but not the precise name. We say Sunday because our Saxon ancestor said Sunnan-Dæg, and the Germans, Solhutag. So also Sax, Monan-Dæg; Ger., Montag; Eng., Monday. Sax., Tnes-Dæg; Ger., Dienstag; Eng., Tuesday. Sax., Woden's or Woodnes Dæg; Ger., Mittwoch or mid-week; and Eng., Wednesday. Sax., Thorsdæg or Thunres dæg; Ger., Donnerstag; Eng., Thursday. Sax., Friga's Dæg; Ger., Freitag; Eng., Friday. Sax., Seater's Dæg; Ger., Sonnabend; Eng., Saturday. Whence it may be seen that both Latin and Teuton have contributed each a share in our nomenclature. It may be added that the Roman names, dies solis, etc., crept in through the formal diction used in legal proceedings by the Norman conquerors and were continued long after they and their descendants learned and used the language of the conquered.

The Sabbath was reckoned to begin at sunset of Saturday, and ended with sunset of Sunday.

The autumnal thanksgiving, now customary through the country, was kept in early times here, as it was in New England, as we have before shown. And that occasional fast days were observed, we may infer from an anecdote of some old worthy long departed, who wished a certain fast on account of a long drought, might be deferred one day until he had gathered in some hay that was ready for the barn! There was some faith at least in the efficacy of prayer.

An interesting question is that of the food and appliances of the table of the colonists of the Puritan period. They raised on the farm Indian corn, wheat (both winter and summer varieties), oats, barley, beans and pease, but no potatoes. This esculent, now so common, came into general use some time afterward, in the latter half of the eighteenth century. The waters abounded in fish, clams and oysters, though the shellfish seem to have been used but sparingly. Cows, oxen, goats and sheep were raised in considerable numbers, both for home consumption and for export. At a later period many horses were shipped to the West Indies. Tea and coffee were unknown. * The first coffee house in England was kept by a Jew named Jacobs, in Oxford, 1650. One was opened in London 1652, and the Rainbow Coffee House, near Temple Bar, was in 1657 considered a nuisance to that locality. † In 1671 an Armenian set up a coffee house in Paris, but not meeting much encouragement removed to London.

Coffee does not seem to have been known generally in western Europe previous to 1660, except to travelers in the Levant. In 1554 it was introduced into Constantinople from Arabia. It is uncertain when it began to be used in America. Wine, cider, beer and ale, home brewed, milk and water were the only drinks used by the settlers upon the table. In Timb's Curiosities of London is the following: "The Earl of Arlington in the year 1666 brought from Holland for 60 shillings, the first pound of tea received in England." But a comment on this states that it was known in England as early as 1657. It is mentioned in an act of Parliament 1660. Pepys in his Diary, September 25, 1660, speaks of sending out for a "cup of tea (a China drink) of which I had never drunk before."

Heavy farm work was done by oxen. The only vehicle in use for a long time was the two-wheeled ox-cart. Men and women traveled on horseback, and when the horse was wanting, on one occasion at least, a bovine was pressed into service. An inhabitant of North Sea in early times rode on the back of his bull to New York to obtain from the colonial Governor a commission of justice of the peace for himself. The bull, it may be supposed, carried him safely and pranced in state to the Governor's gate post, since in due time a shout was heard in the town street of Southampton announcing his return. Waving his commission above his head, as he sat on his horned steed, he said in a loud voice, "Now I'll make Southampton fear and all North Sea tremble!" And yet, as legend hath told, man, bull and commission all failed to produce this effect on the inhabitants.

The transmission of news was only by letter and the last comer. For twenty years after the settlement not a newspaper was yet in existence in the mother country.

June 25, 1647. In an order on the affairs of the town, the word its is used, showing that this pronoun was in use more or less common, although it is not to be found in the Bible of King James — our present version. But the apostrophe is never employed with the possessive case of a noun, though the final "s" is so used.

FAIRS IN OLDEN TIME.

In 1692 the Governor of the province together with the colonial legislature enacted a law for the establishment of fairs to be held on Long Island at stated intervals.

In Kings county one fair annually was to be held at Flatbush from the second Tuesday of October to the following Friday, both days included.

In Queens county two fairs a year were to be held, both at Jamaica, from the first Tuesday in May to the following Friday, and from the first Tuesday of October to the following Friday.

In Suffolk two fairs were to be held annually, one at Southampton from the first Tuesday of July to the following Friday, and at Southold from the first Tuesday of September to the following Friday.

These were not fairs for the exhibition of the products of the country such as we have in these days, but a reproduction here of the fairs of old England. It was the occasion for everybody to offer for sale whatever he wished to dispose of for money or by way of exchange. These fairs were frequented by peddlers on whom the ladies depended for articles of finery and light silk goods.

The old English custom of having the Yule or Christmas log, was retained in some families, at least, until old-fashioned wide fire-places went out of vogue. This was an unusually large hickory back-log which was cut and selected for this purpose in the woods, and took its place on Christmas morning, though it was not customary, as in England, to preserve the charred remains for lighting the next year's Christmas fire.

Another singular custom prevailed which arose in England from the fact that the bakers there, when they came to supply their customers on Christmas morning, presented to the children little dough-boys fried as "dough-nuts." These dough children were to commemorate the anniversary of our Savior's birth. In course of time the customers took the hint and prepared these delicate sweets for their children themselves, and deposited them in the little stockings suspended in the chimney corner for the friendly visits of St. Nicholas.

WHALING SQUADRON.

From various scattered records, it appears that the number of whales that in a year drifted on the coast, have been considerable. How soon the settlers procured boats and tackle for capturing them on the ocean is not known.

This was really the beginning of the enterprise of whale fishing (to use a common but incorrect term) which became in after years of such immense proportions in our country. In 1687* there were fourteen whaling companies of twelve men each in the town of Southampton who reported an estimate of the oil then in their possession, the result probably of the catch of one season.

April 15, 1687, East Hampton reports also 1,456 barrels on hand.

In 1711, on the 18th of April, the total amount of oil on hand in the towns of South and East Hampton was 252 barrels. But it is probable that the greater part of the oil of that season had then been shipped either to New York or London. The records show oil was sometimes shipped at that early day direct from Southampton to London.

There are a few people in this country in favor of a monarchical form of government in place of our republic. To such it may be of interest to learn of one of the many thousand inventions growing out of a monarchy and necessary to its existence, for those in power to take to themselves under form of law the hard earned substance of the people. As appears in the State records at Albany Governor Robert Hunter in 1711 claimed and took one-half of the oil and bone of the whales captured by the companies in Southampton licensed by himself. The same year to Richard Wood was granted the sole privilege of claiming the chance whales stranded on the beach, the governor reserving to himself as before one-half of the bone and oil. This burden was only removed by the personal application of Samuel Mulford of East Hampton, as agent for East and Southampton, to the Parliament of Great Britain, as a high court of judicature, in 1715. This business is still followed, as an episode, however, to the daily employment in agricultural pursuits and a few whales are generally taken every year during the winter or early spring, but no royal governor now takes half by way of toll to support his dignity.

Considerable attention was also given at an early period, even extending well into the eighteenth century, to catching seals, both along the coast and in more distant regions, where they were found. Denton (History of New York) says a great multitude of seals wintered on Long Island, lying on the meadow bottoms and sand bars near the salt waters. A few were seen and captured there about 1871.

The following lists are given, copied from the town records :

First Squadron.

Mr. Rainer, Thomas Halsey, Jr., Thomas Halsey, Sen., Joseph Rainer, Richard Howell, Capt. Howell, [John], Christopher Foster, Joseph Foster, Benjamin Foster, Edward Howell.

Second Squadron.

Mr. Fordham, Joseph Fordham, John Jessup, Thomas Goldsmith, John Cooper, Thomas Topping, Capt. Topping, John Topping, Peregrine Stanbrough, James Herrick.

Fifth Squadron.

John Rose, Christopher Lupton, Richard Smith, George Harris, Mr. Scott, Samuel Clarke, Thomas Shaw, Ben. Haines, Mr. Jennings, John Davis.

It will be noticed that these squadrons of 1667 are formed of men in order of their residences. Beginning at the south end of the town, the first squadron embraces all the men as far as the old house lot next south of the residence of Barney Green. The second squadron includes the men who lived thence northward to the present residence of Mr. Henry Post. The third includes the men who lived northward to Job's lane. The fourth thence northward to Hunting's lane. The fifth embraced all who dwelt north of this lane. The sixth embraced all the North Sea men.

It was customary, later, to fit out expeditions of several whale boats and cruise along the coast in the whaling season and camp out during the night. These expeditions did not usually consume more than a week or two on any one voyage. Indians were often employed by the whites on these expeditions, the latter furnishing boats and whaling gear, and the former receiving a certain proportion of the oil for their services.

The following order is suggestive of the bountiful provisions of nature, ere man had thinned her exuberant resources :

" Feb. 9th, 1645. Yt is ordered by the General Court that yf by the province of God, there shall bee henceforth cast up within the limits of this towne of Southampton any whale or whales, or any part or piece of a whale, that noe man shall presume to take or carry any part thereof, upon the forfeiture of twentie shillings and to stand to the further censure of the Cort, without order from the Magistrate or Magistrates. And whosoever shall finde or espie eyther whale or whales or any part or peece of a whale, cast up, upon notice given unto the Magistrate or Magistrates, shall have for his paynes allowed unto him five shillings, but yf yt shall be by the Magistrate or whom he shall appoint. adjudged not to be worth five shillings, then the sayd parties which shall give information, shall have yt for his paynes. And that from yeare to yeare the Marshall give notice after any form or according to his discretion, unto two persons in whose ward by turne yt shall belong or appertaine. And yt is further ordered that yf any shall finde a whale or any peece thereof upon the Lord's day then the aforesaid shillings shall not be due or payable."*

The officers of three militia companies in the town in 1732-3 as ascertained from the records at Albany were as follows :

Southampton village, 1st comp., John Post, captain ; Ephraim White, lieutenant ; Obadiah Rogers, Jr., ensign. South comp., John Howell, captain ; Hezekiah Howell, lieutenant ; Stephen Herrick, ensign.

Bridge Hampton, Stephen Topping, captain ; Ezekiel Sandford, lieutenant ; Josiah Topping, ensign.

BURYING GROUNDS.

These are numerous and indicate a rapid colonizing of the inhabitants over the territory embraced in the town. There are two in the village ; two at North Sea, one at Wickapogue, one at Watermill, two at Mecox, two in Sagg, two in Bridge Hampton, one at Scuttle Hole, and others west of the village of Southampton. Of these the oldest is that known as the South end burying ground, in the village of Southampton, the earliest record concerning which is as follows :

"January 5th, 1665. The overseers have agreed with James Herrick that hee shall have one acre of land at the reare of his home lott in consideration of a foot way for people upon his lott to the burying place where the towne have one acre for that use, & James Herrick is to have the herbidge of it."

The earliest graves here have no stones to mark them, unless they have fallen and been covered by the soil and overgrowing vegetation,—there is not a monument, indeed, to mark the spot where a single one of the first settlers was buried. The graves of their children, the men of the second generation, however, are marked with tombstones still standing.

*This last clause appears to be a very shrewd thrust at "mooning" on the beach on Sundays.

Three different varieties of stone were used — the blue slate, so common in the old cemeteries of New England, a red sandstone that quite well withstands the ravages of time, and a gray sandstone, which, on the contrary, very poorly preserves its original inscriptions. Most of the graves have now become level with the ground, and many of the monuments covered with mosses. The inscriptions even of some are fast becoming illegible, so that it seems a work of charity to preserve here the remembrance of our ancestors for future generations. The following are copies of the inscriptions of all the stones that are visible in the older portion of the yard. Those marked with a * have, in addition to the epitaph, the family arms engraved upon them. Some are surmounted with the conventional cherub of the old graveyards, and others by skull and cross-bones:

“Here lyes ye reverent Joseph Whiting who died April 7 1723 in ye 82nd year of his age.

"Here * * * of Ann Howell wife to * * * Howell * * * 44 year of her age. deceased May ye 17 1714."

To these we may add the inscriptions on a few stones found in the lot of Mr. Hedges Sanford, of Watermill.

"Here lyes the Body of Mrs Tenperrence Cook wife to Mr Ellis Cook who decd Dec. 9 1723 in ye 19th year of her age.

"Here lyes ye Body of Mrs Temperence Ludlam wife to Mr Jeremiah Ludlam who decd April ye 21st 1726 in ye 29th year of her age."

The two following are given with no other apology than their beauty—the one expressing a noble tribute to the virtues of a wife and mother, the other a pious wish which has come down to us from a still greater antiquity. The first is taken from the North-end burying ground of Southampton, the second was found in the catacombs of Rome.

"In memory of Amy wife of Zebulun Howell Esq who died Dec 15 1752 in the 59th year of her age.

"She was a faithful wife and good mother."

The pious wish engraved on the Roman Christian's monument is, "Qui legerit, vivat in Christo."

THE COBB OR WICKAPOGUE BURYING GROUND.

The only record of this is as follows :

“1686 April 1st At a town meeting, it was granted to the inhabitants of Cobb to have 6 poles square of land for a burying ground.”

This cemetery lies about equally distant from Cobb and Wickapogue. It is, like all the others in the village, inclosed, and contains some old monuments.

MECOX BURYING GROUND.

This contains a few monuments to the men of the second generation and in antiquity ranks next to the old one in Southampton village. Many of the stones are doubtless overthrown and covered with soil and vegetation. Among the oldest monuments yet standing, are the following :

“Here Lyeth the Body of Anthony Ludlam who dyed March the 17th Anno 1681 in the 31st year of his age.

“Here lies the body of Lemuel Howell who died September the 22 (?) 1712 aged 35 years.

“Here Lyeth the Body of Ellis Cook who departed this life November the 10th Anno 1706 aetatis 44.”

SAGG BURYING GROUND.

The cemetery in Sagg Street, south, is quite ancient, and is kept with commendable care. Among the oldest stones are the following :

“Here lyes buried the body of Theophilus Howell Esq aged 77 years. Deced March ye 12th 1732.

“In memory of Mrs Martha the wife of Mr Lemuel Peirson who died Augst the 26th 1753 in the 72th year of her age.

“ My sun is set,
My Glass is run,
My Candle's out,
My work is done ”

NORTH END BURYING GROUND.

This lot now used for a cemetery was originally laid out as a homestead. Its first owner was William Russell who sold the same to Obadiah Sale, and he moving to Boston, sold it to George Heatheote. Dec. 13, 1712, Caleb Heatheote, cousin of George, sells his home lot and house ( $\frac{1}{4}$  acres), between Jeremiah Jagger on the south, and John Laughton on the north, for £20 to the trustees of the town. The deed of sale states that part of this land northward and eastward, shall be common to the town for a highway to North Sea. This is where the road now runs.

The first interment in this ground, however, was not till 1721, as appears from an old stone on the south side with the following inscription :

“HEARE LYES | ye BoDY OF IoSEPH | PoST DE-
SEASED | 10 NoVEMBER | AGED ABoVT | 72 1721.”

MISCELLANEOUS.

Wolves.—1652. It appears from various records, that wolves must have been sufficiently numerous in the early times to cause considerable annoyance.

The following records show what means were employed to abate the nuisance :

“March 3rd, 1651. (1651–2.) It is ordered by the Generall Court that in consideration of Robert Merwin his care and paynes about killing of Wolves by setting of guns and watching or otherwise hee shall haue 30 shilling per Wolfe for every one it appears hee killeth, provided that if any beast bee killed in probability by the Wolves and hee the said Robert haue notice thereof, that he repaire vnto the place where the beast is slaine whether at Mecoeks Sagabonack or elsewhere within such a compass, and vse his best endeavour to kill the said destroyer, allsoe if it happen at any time he the said Robert bee warned to any court or meeting during the time hee is vppon the foresaid designe that hee shall bee discharged and acquitted from such said meeting, hee is not to sett his gun within half a mile of the towne, and if his gun kill any beast he shall do his best to finde it, and the whole towne to beare the losse.

“1652. Oct. 6th, 1652. It is ordered that whosoever makes it appeare hee killeth a woolf within the bounds of this towne shall haue paid vnto him by the towne the some of twenty shillings, and hee that lykewise shall kill a woolf at Quaquanantuck shall haue 10s. in like manner."

These extracts, and others as below, however ludicrous they may appear in subject-matter or minute detail, show at least an admirable equipoise of justice. See this:

"May 5th, 1658. Att the same towne meeting there was a stray hogg supposed to be Mr. Smiths and by the towne sould at an outery for 17s 7d and that to goe as farr as it will goe, for the payment of the damage done by that hogg to the Indians.

"Again, May 23, 1659. It is ordered that if any mans lott in this towne bee in the Judgment of men sufficiently fenced, and litle piggs bee permitted by the owner (notwithstanding warning) to come within such lottment, then vpon the oath of the trespassed before one of the Magistrates the owner of such piggs shall pay 6d per pigg for every time any such piggs doe trespass as afforesaid.

"1647. May the third, it is ordered by the five men apoynted for the affaires of this towne for this present yeare that cowes and goates shall not be kept together neither by cowkeepers nor goate keeps nor all nor any of them, at no time all this present summer vpon the payne of twelve pence a person for euery such default, also that if the goate keepers doe willfully mingle their goates they shall be lyable to the same penalty.

"May 10, 1652. It is concluded by the maior pt of the towne that the calf heard shall be left for this ensueing year att Sagabonack where they were kept the yeare last past."

Harris, Zorobabell Phillips.”

A CASE OF SHARP PRACTICE.

John Kelly, a carpenter, was examined in court for an attempt at bigamy, and for having spoken falsely in declaring his wife was dead. He excused himself by saying she was dead in trespasses and sins. He had come here from the Barbadoes leaving a wife behind him.

THE CHRISTMAS STORM OF 1811, AND OTHER EVENTS.

This winter was memorable for the severest storm within the memory of the present generation. It came on during the night of Christmas. The evening before had been warm and hazy, so mild, indeed, that sheep and cattle were left out in the lots. About ten o'clock in the evening it began to rain, and about two o'clock the next morning it became intensely cold, and snow fell abundantly and continually with a high wind, until banks were formed six and ten feet deep. All the next day the weather was too severe even in the blinding snow and cold to rescue the sheep, many of which were smothered and perished.

Another severe storm is spoken of in tradition, called Bower's snow storm, from the circumstance that at the time of its occurrence there was a wedding at the home of Jonas Bower on the hill, in the house now owned by Mr. Rufus Sayre. It began to snow during the festivities, and so severe was the storm that many of the guests remained over night, but only in the morning to be obliged to clamber out of second story windows, so deep drifted was the snow about the house.

In 1815, occurred the greatest September gale within the memory of man in Southampton. Many trees were overthrown by its violence, and one house unroofed, while the roofs of two others were kept from meeting the same fate by lashing timbers across them to the beams within. The two houses thus saved were those now the residences of Mrs. Wm. T. Jones and Mr. Isaac P. Foster.

A Pot of Gold. 1790, June 28, a young man at Southampton last week dug up a stone and under it he saith, was a pot full of dollars: he divulged the secret to two more young men, who last Monday night (as we conclude) took up one if not two pots of gold. The stone and inscription on it I have seen. It appears to be a ballast-stone. The engraving on it is much blurred. We think it was buried by Kidd. It was dug up within a quarter of a mile from our south shore on a flat piece of ground. The engraver must have been illiterate, and the inscription cannot be imitated with printing types. The stone has a rude dagger scratched on it and words of the following import. "Under this pot there lies another twice as good." The pot was three feet under ground.—[Correspondence of New London paper.]

of the village. She had been abandoned by her crew, a part or all of whom came ashore in her boats to some place west of Southampton. From papers found aboard, it was supposed that she was captured by a Carthaginian privateer. Her lockers had been torn up and searched, several barrels of coffee and provisions were found on board of her, and a number of masks. She was much damaged, and was wrecked, i. e., taken to pieces slowly by the inhabitants. In the month of December following, her siding began to be broken off by the waves, and a stream of Spanish dollars poured out into the sand. For a time mining in this novel region was as lively and as profitable as the later operations in California. The vessel was supposed by some to have been a pirate, and that the specie taken from plundered vessels had been hidden (unknown to the crew) in the ceiling by the captain, who had been made way with in a mutiny. Now and then a "sand dollar" is still picked up in the vicinity.

PARMENAS HOWELL, PAINTER.

He was one of nine children of Capt. Ezekiel Howell, and was born March 24, 1784. Having shown considerable talent in drawing while yet a youth, he was sent to New York to receive the advantages of instruction in the studio. Here he remained some time profitably employed in the study of his arts, his proficiency exciting hopes of a brilliant career. Returning to Southampton, however, at an early age, he fell a victim to consumption — a disease which swept off the whole family of children as they successively reached maturity.

DANIEL HALSEY.

Mr. Daniel Halsey was born on the old homestead of his fathers in Wickapogue, April 1, 1796. He received a good school education, and pursued the study of Latin and Greek languages under his pastor, Rev. David Bogart, in which he made very respectable attainments. He was much employed as a teacher, and with success and acceptance to scholar and parent. That some of the old poetic fire dwelt in him, the following spirited lyric will testify, written for the occasion of celebrating our country's birthday, July 4, 1831 :

When the Goddess of liberty found not a place
 Where the sole of her foot in the old world could rest,
 She directed the daring Columbus to trace

A path to the New World unknown in the West ;
     In the wilds which she chose
     An Empire arose,

As by magic, of freemen redeemed from their foes,
 Redeemed from the hand of oppression and wrong,
 To the rights which by nature to all men belong.

Here freedom and science and virtue expand,
 And plenty and peace are their constant attendants,
 Whilst the Genius of Liberty smiles on the land
     Of her choice, with a glorious and godlike resplendence,
     It was here she designed
     The oppressed of mankind,
 And the exile a home and a refuge should find ;
 With laws mild and equal her subjects are blest,
 And under her banner the lowly find rest.

Let the wanderer then to her standard repair,
 We have room, ample room, to extend our dominion,
 And be free as the songsters that tenant the air,
     The masters of action, of word and opinion,
     Let us ever rejoice
     In the land of our choice,
 And our rulers elect by the popular voice,
 That the servants who serve us may act in the fear
 Of the Judge before whom they will shortly appear.

Ye sons of Columbia, come hail the glad day,
 The festival day of our land's Independence,
 Our fathers determined to spurn lawless sway,
     And purchase fair freedom for us their descendants,
     By the favor of heaven
     The blessing was given
 To endure till the globe shall in sunder be riven ;
 For freedom is man's indisputable right,
 Of man in his weakness or man in his might.

Then ye sons of America forever revere
 The names of your Country's most gallant defendants,
 Their blood was the price of a purchase most dear,
 For millions this day of their happy descendants,
     Who swear to maintain Their noble domain,
 Unpolluted by tyrants while time shall remain ;
 Nor will tarnish the glory their ancestors won,
 While the worlds in their orbits revolve round the sun.

Though the despots of Europe still rivet the chains,
 On the necks of their vassals and crush them to dust,
 Shall not heaven forbid that America's plains
     With the foot of a tyrant should e'er be accursed ?
     Be her freedom the same
     Till the angel proclaim,
 Time ends, and the world is enveloped in flames,
 And the empires of earth in one ruin are hurled
 At the great and the last winding up of the world.

Here is a fragment which, in its easy flowing style, reminds one of Pope :

Hear when the widow and the orphan cry,
And with a liberal hand the poor supply ;
Nor with an envious eye the rich behold,
None are the better for their sums of gold.
A virtuous mind should be our only test,
He is the worthiest man who is the best.
Wealth can no real happiness bestow,
How few in higher life contentment know ;
Then to the will of heaven be thou resigned,
Enjoy thy fortune and contentment find.

When once requested to write an appropriate device for his sign, by a tavern-keeper, Mr. Halsey sent him the following grim effusion :

Rum, whisky, brandy, cordial, porter, beer,
Ale, applejack and gin are dealt out here,
Diluted, raw or mixt in any measure,
To all consumers : come and act your pleasure,
The above specifics will, in time, God knows,
Put to a period all your earthly woes,
Or would you bring life to a splendid close
Take double swigs, repeating dose on dose ;
A panacea this for every ail,
'Twill use you up, 'twas never known to fail,—
Use up your property, ere scarce you know it,
Use up your character or sadly blow it,
Use up your health, and strength and mind's repose,
And leave mayhap your carcass to the crows.

CHAPTER XIII.

GENEALOGIES.

(The same abbreviations used in this as in the preceding chapter. The figures prefixed to the names serve only to identify them wherever found. In very many instances it has been found impossible to obtain the names of all the children of a man who, in a deed of gift [perhaps the only information on record concerning his family], merely mentions the name of the grantee.)

AT this distance of time it cannot be hoped to construct complete family records from the fragmentary and indirect facts preserved in the records of the town; and yet much has been accomplished from this source. In some instances the author has received valuable assistance in his labor from members of families now living. Nearly all such persons consulted could contribute their family record for two or three generations back, but earlier than that but few could give any reliable information.

The old family records, if any were kept, have mostly perished in the lapse of ages, and it became necessary to collate and compare individual facts and statements without number, spread over hundreds of pages of manuscript, before what has been given could be ascertained with certainty.

It has frequently happened that while the relationship of father and son is clearly established from records, yet the date of birth can nowhere be found. In some cases the date of birth can only be determined proximately from tombstone inscriptions. The genealogies would have been fuller if letters of inquiry had been answered.

Abbreviations used in the following genealogies :

abt.=about. Used in dates ascertained from census.

d.=daughter or died, according to context.

d. s. p.=died without issue.

B. H.==Bridge Hampton.

E. H.==East Hampton.

COAT ARMOR.

The names of nearly all the old families of Southampton are found in Burke's General Armory as entitled to coats of arms. None are given in this work, however, unless there is evidence that these particular families are by descent entitled to use them. This evidence is from seals, old pictures of arms on parchment, gravestones, or from establishing connection with an English family using the arms at the time of the settlement. Doubtless if the families here could be identified and located in England many more would be found entitled to coat armor. When it is said that Burke mentions in his General Armory coats of arms of different families, it is to be understood that all these are there described in detail.

BARNES FAMILY.

The name of William Barnes, planter, first occurs in 1644. In 1652 he sells his homestead at the "north end" to James Hampton of Salem, and apparently removes from the town. The same year also a Richard B., living next to Joshua, and probably his brother, also sells his homestead and disappears. Joshua is first mentioned in 1649 when the town pays him money for his boat hire. 1 William<sup>1</sup> then probably had children 2 Joshua<sup>2</sup> and 3 Richard<sup>2</sup>.

2 Joshua<sup>2</sup> had w. Prudence and ch. 4 Samuel<sup>3</sup> and 5 William<sup>3</sup>.

4 Samuel<sup>3</sup> m. Patience Williams Nov. 9, 1676, and had ch. 6 Patience<sup>4</sup> b. Aug. 31, 1677, 7 Temperance<sup>4</sup> b. Jan. 16, 1679, and 8 Joshua<sup>4</sup> b. Apr. 8, 1683.

5 William<sup>3</sup> lived in Sagg. In 1683 he bought land of his father, and in 1684 or 5 he removed to the town and county of Westchester, New York.

The homestead of 1 William Barnes was the lot now belonging to Albert J. Post north of his house and south of the homestead of William S. Pelletreau.

The homestead of Joshua Barnes was that now owned by William S. Pelletreau.

The family of this name in E. H. do not appear to be connected with the Barnes's of Southampton.

BISHOP FAMILY.

The first of this name in Southampton was John Bishop who is first mentioned on record Nov. 2, 1652, where he had a house lot of three acres granted him by the town, next north of the home lot of Joshua Barnes. The homestead of John Bishop was the late residence of Jonathan Fithian, Esq. This grant of a house lot only signifies that he was not a farmer.

1 Richard Bishop<sup>1</sup> of Salem, Massachusetts, freeman May 18, 1642, residing there as early as 1635, d. Dec. 30, 1674, had w. Dulsabell who d. Aug. 23, 1658; he mar. again, Mary wid. of William Gott, July 22, 1660. He had ch. 2 Thomas<sup>2</sup>, 3 John<sup>2</sup> and 4 Nathaniel<sup>2</sup>, the latter of whom may have come to E. H. where where was one early of this name.

3 John<sup>2</sup> came to Southampton and had ch. 5 Richard<sup>3</sup> b. Oct. 17, 1669, 6 John<sup>3</sup>, 7 Samuel<sup>3</sup> and 8 Josiah<sup>3</sup>, and if any more I know not, nor the order of their birth of those named.

There are five families of this name in England mentioned in Burke's General Armory as using coat armor.

BOWDEN FAMILY.

In 1817 George Bowden came here from England after a tempestuous voyage of one hundred and ten days duration. He married first Hannah Jagger, by whom he had two children, Edward and Lewis, the former of whom removed to Brooklyn. Lewis m. Helen Davidson of Ann Arbor, Michigan, and had ch. Harriet and Livingston. Mr. George Bowden m. 2d w. wid. Hannah Tuthill.

BURNETT FAMILY.

Thomas Burnett, the first of this name in Southampton, had a lot granted him October 13, 1643. He probably came here not long before this time. Savage mentions him as a resident of Lynn, Massachusetts, though Lewis and Newhall make no mention of him. No record of his emigration has been found to show from what county in England he came. The record of the branch in New Jersey has been furnished by Mr. John R. Burnett of South Orange, New Jersey.

13 James<sup>4</sup> had s. 17 Matthias b. 1747.

17 Matthias was b. (according to Thompson's History of Long Island) at Bottle Hill, New Jersey, in 1747, graduated at Princeton, in 1769, and was settled in Jamaica as pastor of the Presbyterian church, where (says Thompson) he continued highly respected and useful till 1785, when he removed to Norwalk, Connecticut, and took charge of the Congregational church there and died in 1800. He had 1st w. Ann who d. July 7, 1789; married 2d wife Fanny d. of Rev. Azel Roe of Woodbridge, New Jersey, June 30, 1792. Had ch. James b. on Long Island Jan. 1, 1779, John Dec. 10, 1781, and Ann b. in Norwalk April 11, 1786. Whether he had any more ch. I know not.

[Note. I have no positive evidence that these three ch., Nos. 31 to 33, were not the ch. of 26 Jonathan or 27 Nathan, but it is probable they were the ch. of 23 Joseph as I give them. Also, the order of the ages is probably Joseph, Stephen, David.]

Burke's General Armory mentions thirteen families in England of the name of Burnet and Burnett as having coats of arms. I have a copy of a bookplate of John Burnet, attorney of New York previous to 1792, which contains a coat of arms, as follows:

Chatfield Coat of Arms.

Mr. John Chatfield of B. H. has an old parchment having thereon a picture of the arms of the family, probably brought to this country by his ancestor Thomas Chatfield above mentioned. #### CLARK FAMILY.

This family has had no representatives in Southampton for generations, having disappeared by death and removal. The name of Samuel Clark first appears on a jury list of 1654 and again on the list of 1657. Two of the name appear in the second generation, possibly brothers, as two in the same family were not unfrequently given the same name at that period — but more likely cousins.

The other Samuel of age to belong to the second generation may be marked as 24 Samuel<sup>2</sup>. He lived at Old Town, m. 1st Esther or Hester White July 11, 1678, and 2d Hannah ———, and had ch. 25 James<sup>3</sup> b. Apr. 19, 1679, 26 Phebe<sup>3</sup> b. Aug. 17, 1681, 27 Jeremiah b. Feb. 18, 1685, and as by will other ch. 28 William<sup>3</sup>, 29 Charles<sup>3</sup>, 30 Daniel<sup>3</sup>, 31 Samuel<sup>3</sup>, 32 Hannah<sup>3</sup>. His will was proved Apr. 21, 1709. — 26 Phebe<sup>3</sup> m. a Meaker or Meacham. The order of the ages of the ch. is not known beyond those given above.

25 James<sup>3</sup> had w. Althea and ch. 33 Joseph<sup>4</sup> and 34 Stephen<sup>4</sup> under age Dec. 17, 1715, when the will of his father was made.

25 James d. Mch. 17, 1617.

Another family of this name appears in the second generation in the person of Richard Clark, whom we designate as 35 Richard<sup>2</sup>. He had a son 36 Richard<sup>3</sup> who moved to Elizabeth, N. 42 Thomas<sup>4</sup> had son ——— who had s. 44 Abraham<sup>6</sup> who was one of the signers of the declaration of independence, as a representative of New Jersey.

COOK FAMILY.

1 Ellis<sup>1</sup> Cook was one of the early settlers, his name appearing on the list of 1644. In 1663 he made his will, having w. Note. This is probably a correct statement of the descendants of 7 Abial<sup>2</sup>, although both he and his son 140 Abial<sup>3</sup> must have married quite young.

An Abraham whose son I know not, let us designate him as 151 Abraham<sup>4</sup>, m. Sibyl d. of Ephraim Burnett Oct. 3, 1740, with what issue I cannot say.

Seven families of the name of Cook and five of the name of Cooke are mentioned in Burke's Gen. Armory as using coat armor.

Ellis Cook, s. of Ellis the first, when a young man, cleared up a place, built a house on it, and then (maidens, it is said, being scarce in Southampton) went over to Connecticut for a wife. After staying there for some time, and having found a young lady to suit him, her father asked a friend one day what young Cook's business was that detained him so long in that neighborhood. He was told that the young man was courting his daughter. "Why don't he ask me then?" said the father. And seeing Cook shortly afterward he repeated the question to him. "That is just what I was about to do," said Ellis; and thereupon the following dialogue ensued: "Where do you live?" "In Southampton, L. I." "Have you a church there?" (meaning a church organization.) "Yes." "A minister?" "Yes." "A meeting-house?" "Yes." "Have you got a house to live in?" "Yes." "Well, then, young man, you may have my daughter," and, the maiden assenting, the marriage soon followed, and Ellis led his bride to her new home in the forests of Southampton.

COOPER FAMILY.

John Cooper of Lynn came over from England in 1635 in the Hopewell, aged 41, with w. Wibroe and ch. Mary, aged 13, John, 10, Thomas, 7, and Martha, 5. He was from Olney in Buckinghamshire. He was one of the twenty heads of families who formed the association for the settlement of Southampton in 1639. He was made freeman at Boston Dec. 6, 1636; was one of the elders of the church when it was organized at Lynn, and in 1638 he is recorded as owning 200 acres of land in that town. Some New England writers have mistaken him for another John Cooper, who was one of the settlers of New Haven in 1638. But the New Haven Cooper does not appear to have had a son Thomas, while we have trace not only of every one of his children as above given, in Southampton, but also at least of three others, daughters, born in this country and married in Southampton. Twenty-four families of this name in England are mentioned in Burke's Gen. Armory as bearing coats of arms.

9 Samuel<sup>3</sup> died intestate and letters of admin. were granted to his wid. Mary Aug. 4, 1714. He was probably the grandfather of a Samuel C., whom we designate as 12 Samuel.<sup>5</sup> I find no trace of the intermediate generation omitted.

Apr. 24, 1872, and m. 1st Maria J. d. of John Green and had son 36 Nathan B.<sup>9</sup> who d. young and ch. that survived to adult age, 37 Maria Jane<sup>9</sup> w. of John Fletcher Howell and 38 Sarah Elizabeth<sup>9</sup>. He m. 2d Sophia J. d. of Josiah Foster. He was a sea captain in the whaling enterprise and when in command of the Manhattan of Sag Harbor, having rescued twenty-two shipwrecked Japanese from starvation and death, repaired with his ship boldly to the port of Jeddo to deliver there those he had saved. This was the first visit of an American vessel to the harbor of that city and occurred in the year 1845. The act made a great and favorable impression on the minds of that people and doubtless made a negotiation of a treaty of commerce with the United States by Commodore Perry more easy of accomplishment in his subsequent visit. He died Apr. 24, 1872, at Barranquilla, Colombia, S. A., where he had gone a few months previous in the hope of a restoration to health.

At the time of the writing of the will of 40 James<sup>4</sup> his two ch., Ezekiel and Silas, were under age, and Selah was infirm and entrusted to the care of one of his brothers. The order of naming the ch. follows that of the will and may not be the order of their births. Some of these doubtless moved away, as no traces of their descendants are on record. 40 James<sup>d</sup> resided in Southampton village.

The Dr. Ananias Cooper of B. H. was probably the son of 172 John<sup>4</sup> of that place. Bolton, in his history of Westchester county, N. Y., speaks of a Dr. Ananias Cooper of Rhinebeck who had a brother, Dr. Jeremiah Cooper, of Fishkill, N. Y., and a sister who married and settled in Pennsylvania, prob. the ch. of 172 John<sup>4</sup>.

Another reason for believing that 184 Ananias<sup>5</sup> Cooper was son of 172 John<sup>4</sup> is that his brother, Dr. Jeremiah of Fishkill, said the father of these two physicians, Ananias and Jeremiah, was named John. #### CORWITH FAMILY.

The family of this name at Bridgehampton, where almost all of the name in Southampton reside, have a tradition that their first ancestor was a French Huguenot, but the name is decidedly of Welsh origin. The first of this family on Long Island was a David Carwithy, as the name was then written, who resided at Southold. His will, dated Aug. 30, 1665, and proved the same year, mentions ch. Caleb above was a mariner and (according to Hatfield) made voyages previous to 1654 between New Haven and Boston. He was made freeman at Huntington 1664. He was in Southampton in 1661. In 1665 he removed to Elizabeth, N. J., but returned to Southampton about 1673.

The absence of female names from a portion of this pedigree arises from the fact that it was given to me verbally by various members of the family where the records were not at hand to give fuller information.

Burke's Gen. Armory mentions a Carwithen family as using coat-armor.

family are said to be born about such a year because their ages are obtained from the census returns of 1855 or 1865 — no other sources of information being at hand to ascertain the exact record — and letters of genealogical inquiry being so rarely answered that the author has ceased to write them.)

The will of 5 Benjamin<sup>2</sup>, made Jan. 26, 1704½, mentions that the last three above-named daughters were not then eighteen years of age, and the name of the last is somewhat uncertain; it looks like Loriah, but as the name is unusual the characters may be intended for Sarah.

This account of the family of 253 Luther<sup>5</sup> was taken from Young's History of Warsaw, N. Y.

The following record of a branch of this family was received from Mr. Algernon Sydney Foster of ———. Mr. Foster says his father told him that his (i. e. A. S. Foster's) grandfather Timothy was the son of Thomas Foster, who was (as he further said) the son of John Foster. Supposing this to be correct, the pedigree would run as follow :

179 Wakeman<sup>5</sup> lived alone with his family at Ponquogue during the Revolutionary War. On one occasion some British troops appeared at his house and commanded him to yoke up his oxen and draw a boat over from the Peconic to Shinnecock Bay. He did so — got the boat and started with a British guard in the rear. On the journey across, evening came on, and Wakeman took advantage of the darkness and played the guard a Yankee trick. All the time crying whoa! at the top of his voice, he began to brad up the oxen with his goad until they ran at their utmost speed. The British, thinking from his cries the oxen would soon stop, did not attempt to overtake him, and, as soon as he was beyond their hearing, he turned the cattle into the brush, and that was the last they ever saw of their boat.

The family have a tradition that a Francis Fournier came with others from France during our revolutionary war and assisted in the struggle for our independence. Burke's Gen. Armory gives the coat of arms of one family of this name in England. But the name is French and doubtless the English family sprang from a French ancestor, either Huguenot or royalist, both of whom emigrated to England in the troublous times in France.

FOWLER FAMILY.

Dec. 10, 1678, a house lot of ten acres of land was granted by the proprietors of the town to Christopher Fowler on condition of his remaining here seven years. This was the ordinary method for the young colony to make desirable additions to itself. The town records make mention of his death on March 24, 1683, that is, of 168 $\frac{3}{4}$ , because the rate list of September, 1683, contains the name of Widow Fowler. The rate list of 1694 contains the name of Richard Fowler, but not the name of the Widow Fowler. We infer, therefore, that Richard was his son.

This 2 Richard<sup>2</sup> had son 3 John<sup>3</sup>, who died Dec. 18, 1799, and had w. Abigail and ch. 4 John<sup>4</sup> b. Sept. 26, 1749, 5 Zebulon<sup>4</sup> b. The will of a William Fowler of East Chester, in Westchester Co., N. Y., is found recorded in the surrogate's office in New York city. He wills Dec. 8, 1712, to w. Judy and s. William. Has brother George at Hempstead on L. I. Will proved Mch. 171<sup>3</sup>.

Fifteen families of this name are mentioned in Burke's Gen. Armory as having coat armor.

GELSTON FAMILY.

The following genealogy of this family is taken from a paper in the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. 2, pp. 131-138, contributed by Benjamin W. Dwight, of Clinton, N. Y.:

GOODALL FAMILY.

The first appearance of this name is that of Joseph Goodale, on the rate list of 1694. The Goodales of the census of 1698 appear to form one family of husband, wife and five children, and the data furnished by the family confirm this supposition. Assuming this to be true, 1 Joseph<sup>1</sup> had w. Elizabeth and ch. 2 Jonathan<sup>2</sup>, 3 Joseph<sup>2</sup>, 4 William<sup>2</sup>, 5 Mary<sup>2</sup> and 6 Hannah.<sup>2</sup>

One of these, possibly 3 Joseph<sup>2</sup>, had ch. 7 Joseph<sup>3</sup> and 8 Josiah.<sup>3</sup>

19 Charles<sup>6</sup> was a soldier in the 10th regiment, N. Y. V., in the civil war of 1861–65, and died July 17, 1862, in hospital at David's Island. His brother James, also a soldier in the Fifth Connecticut regiment, died Aug. 29, 1864, at Atlanta, Ga.

8 Josiah<sup>3</sup> died in Jan. 1786, had w. Sarah and ch., as by his will appears, 26 Josiah<sup>4</sup>, 27 Joseph<sup>4</sup>, 28 Diadem<sup>4</sup> and 29 John.<sup>4</sup> He lived in the western part of the town.

A Robert Goodale came over from Ipswich, Eng., in the Elizabeth, April, 1634, aged 30, with w. Kathrine, ae. 28, and ch. Mary, ae. 4, Abraham, ae. 2, and Isaac,  $\frac{1}{2}$  year. A Richard Goodale came from Yarmouth, Eng., and settled in Newbury, Mass., in

HALSEY FAMILY.

Coat of Arms.

There is scarcely any doubt at the present time but that this family is descended from the Halseys of Great Gaddesden in Hertfordshire, England. Cussan, in his history of that county, mentions a Thomas Halsey who was baptized Jan. 2, 1592, who was a mercer in London; living in Naples in 1621, and afterward, it is believed, an emigrant to America. The first mention of this family found by Cussan was of a Richard Halsey of Great Gaddesden in 1458. In 1559, when the parish registers commence, there were four families of this name in that place: Halsey of the Parsonage; Halsey of the Wood; Halsey of Northend and Halsey of the Lane. The descent to Thomas Halsey, the Southampton settler, is as follows:

John Halsey of the Parsonage, living in 1512, had s. William, who d. in 1546, and who had w. Alice, who d. 1557, and ch. Robert, William, Thomas, Harry, Isabel, Jane and Elizabeth.

William, the second son of William, d. May, 1596, had w. Anne and ch. John, William, Robert, Ralph, Edward, Thomas, Triamore, Philip, Joan and Anne.

Robert, the third son of the second William Halsey, died Oct. 1618, and m. Dorothy, d. of Wm. Downes of Linslade, Co. of Bucks. She d. Sept. 1620. They had ch. William bap. June 23, 1690, Thomas bap. Jan. 2, 159 $\frac{1}{2}$ , Duncombe, James, Edward, Jane, Joane, Mary, Amy, Ann, Avis, Hester, Sara and Dorothy.

Thomas, the second son of Robert, is the one identified as the Southampton emigrant.

The arms of this family are said by Cussan to have been granted to William Halsey, the elder brother of Thomas of Southampton, in 1633, and are as follows:

Argent, on a pile sable, three griffin's heads erased of the first.

Crest: A cubit arm gules, cuff argent, hand proper, holding a griffin's leg erased or.

Motto : *Nescit vox missa reverti.**

It may be remarked here that no arms are pictured in this work but such as are known to belong to the families with which they are given by indisputable evidence, and have not been selected from Burke nor obtained from any American herald.

This family, like many others of Southampton, was of high social position in the mother country. One of its representatives in England is now in Parliament.

1 Thomas<sup>1</sup> d. Aug. 27, 1678. His first wife, was murdered by the Indians ; either by some from New England who wished to excite a war in the Southampton settlement, or by some in Long Island at their instigation. He married for his second wife Ann, the wid. of Edward Johnes, July 25, 1660. In 1648, when the site of the village was changed from Old Town street to the present main street, Thomas Halsey's residence was south of the present homestead of Francis W. Cook. He had ch. 2 Thomas<sup>2</sup>, 3 Isaac<sup>2</sup>, 4 Daniel<sup>2</sup> and 5 Elizabeth<sup>2</sup> w. of Richard Howell. His property, by inventory, after his death, amounted to £672 9s. 2d.

His wife died in 1778, leaving him four small children. He returned by permission of Gen. Erskine to his home, dilapidated by the British, in Southampton, in 1779, and was subsequently sheriff of Suffolk county, and held other offices till 1792. In that year he removed to the town of Ovid (now Lodi). Was member of assembly eight years, from Seneca county; member of Congress during the administration of Jefferson and afterward State senator, and for forty years held offices of trust and responsibility. He died Nov. 19, 1832.

209 Judge Hugh<sup>1</sup> Halsey was a graduate of Yale College and an upright lawyer and judge of Suffolk county. He held also the offices of surrogate, assemblyman, State senator and surveyor-general of the State. He was a man of sterling worth and honored rather than was honored by the offices bestowed upon him by the people.

27 Philip<sup>6</sup> Halsey was in the army of the revolution and was a member of the last company which evacuated New York city in the memorable retreat of the American army on Long Island. He was soon after discharged at White Plains and returned home. Hearing that a company of British dragoons were billeted in the village of Southampton near his father's home, he with some companions crossed the island to Oyster Pond Pt. and took a boat across the sound in the night, entered the Connecticut river and pushed on to Windsor. Here he remained and married Esther, d. of Elisha Moore, and died in 1846.

HARRIS FAMILY.

George Harris, the first of this family in Southampton, is first mentioned in the list of 1657 with the residents of North Sea. In April, 1635, George Harris, aged 17, takes passage in the Fulcon of London for the Barbadoes. As communication between New England and these islands was frequent in those days, this emigrant might have been the one who subsequently is found in Southampton.

Dec. 6, 1683, 1 George<sup>1</sup> wills to ch. 2 George<sup>2</sup>, 3 Henry<sup>2</sup>, 4 Mary<sup>2</sup>, 5 Elizabeth<sup>2</sup> and 6 Jane<sup>2</sup>. One of these daughters was recorded as having been born Apr. 6, 1670, but is not named on the record. The inventory of his estate amounted to £139 18s. 0d.

2 George<sup>2</sup>, I conjecture, was born about 1660 and prob. d. in 1753, as his will was proved in that year and dated Sept. 17, 1748. In the census of 1698 the names of George Harris and George Harris, Jr., and Sarah and Eunice are found with the residents of North Sea. His will mentions as his ch. only Eunice and Henry, and we infer, therefore, that George, his son, died young without issue. We, therefore, conclude that 2 George<sup>2</sup> had w. Sarah and ch. 7 George<sup>3</sup>, 8 Eunice<sup>3</sup> and 9 Henry.<sup>3</sup>

9 Henry<sup>3</sup>, not in list of 1698 and born perhaps in 1699, is known to have the following named ch. from his will, dated in 1769 and recorded in Dec. 1781 :

59 Apollos b. 1788, d. Feb. 18, 1837, had w. Minerva b. 1784 and s. 62 Stephen<sup>7</sup> b. 1820.

(Births taken from census and proximately correct.)

In the census of 1698 occurs the names of Lenard Harris, associated with Mary Harris, and Mary Harris, Jr., residing in Bridgehampton. I know not their connection with this family.

A Henry Harris is among the first settlers of Elizabeth, N. J., in 1665, but he could not be related to this family unless he was a brother or cousin of 1 George.<sup>1</sup>

Thirty-four families of this name are mentioned in Burke's Gen. Armory as having coats of arms.

HEDGES FAMILY.

The ancestor of the Hedges families in Southampton and East Hampton was William Hedges, and when we have said this we have said all that is known of him, except that like his neighbors he was an Englishman and a Puritan. Like others of the time he was, perhaps, obliged to leave his native shores without permission of royal authority, as they looked with no favor on the departure of substantial citizens from the kingdom. New England was never a penal colony. His name has never been found on any lists of passengers to America hitherto published. He came at first to Southampton, where he resided for a short period, and when in 1649 the colony to settle another town to the eastward was projected, he was one of the first to join it. He is on the list of inhabitants of Southampton in 1644. This is the earliest record known of his appearance in America at the date of this writing in 1886.

Four families of this name in England are mentioned in Burke's Gen. Armory as having coat armor.

HERRICK FAMILY.

This family is without question descended from the Herricks of Leicester-shire in England, as the crest of that family is engraved on the tombstone of William Herrick, the son of James Herrick, the first of the name in South-ampton. This is said because at the time of the death of William Herrick men in this country had not begun to use arms, as they did at a later period and do now, to which they are not entitled. From the Genealogical Register of the Herrick family, issued by Jedediah Herrick in 1846, we learn that "in the year 1598 was granted, from the Herald's office, unto Robert and William Herick, the sonnes of John Herick, the sonne of Thomas Herick alias Erick of Houghton, in the countie of Leicester, gentleman, and their posteritie forever, a certeyne crest or badge, namelie : on a wreathe of their couloures a bull's head argent, yssuing forth of a laurell garland. The mussel, eares and hornes tipped sable. To be annexed and borne with their auncient coat of armes, which is silver, a fesse verrey, orr and gules. Motto : Virtus omnia nobilitat."

James Herrick came to Southampton in 1653 probably a young man and unmarried, and, it is conjectured, was the brother of Henry Herrick, who settled a little earlier in Salem, Mass. He soon married Martha, d. of Thomas Topping, who gave the young people a homestead carved out of his larger homestead, embracing now the residences and home lots of James H. Foster and Henry Post, the latter being the one given to James Herrick. 1 James<sup>1</sup> d. in 1687 and had w. ### In Memoriam.

Toll for the loved and lost,
Who the stream of death has crossed.
Swift came the terror king
The best of us summoning,
Stillling the throbbing breast,
Now in her cerements dressed.

Hark ! what sounds are these,
Wafted by the ocean breeze ?
Weeping, as the broken-hearted,
For a soul to heaven departed ?
When the Lord Christ calls his bride,
And the gates are open wide ?

Now lift our hearts in praise,
Loud our song triumphant raise !
Onward to the fields of light,
There waits the Lamb in white.
Yonder gleams the jasper sea —
Hark ! Hark ! high heaven's jubilee !

HOWELL FAMILY.

Edward Howell of Marsh Gibbon, Buckinghamshire, England, was the ancestor of this family of Southampton. A Richard Howell came to Southold with his mother, a widow, it is said by Rev. William Hallock, D. D., late of New York, who married Peter Hallock, the ancestor of the Long Island family of Hallocks. No relationship is known to exist between these two pioneers. Edward Howell disposed of considerable estates in Bucks county in 1639, among which was the manor of Westbury in Marsh Gibbon, purchased by his grandfather, William Howell, in 1536. The old stone manor house is still standing, though the remains of an old foundation near it show that some portions of it have been taken down. It is of two full stories and what is called a double house, now nearly covered with ivy. Edward Howell came in 1639 with his family to Boston, where he was made freeman, March 14, 1639-40. He soon removed to Lynn, where he had a grant of 500 acres. During the winter of 1639-40 a new settlement was projected on Long Island, of which he seems to have been the leader, as the compact or agreement of terms of founding the plantation is in his handwriting, as well as the laws adopted by the first settlers, and to the last year of his life he was always a magistrate and member of the colonial legislature at Hartford. The manner in which his name is mentioned in the colonial records of New England and New York point to the same conclusion.

The arms of this family, as found on an old family seal now in possession of one of the descendants and on several old tombstones of the seventeenth century in Southampton, are as follows: Gules, three towers triple-towered, argent.

Crest used by some branches. Out of a ducal crown or, a rose argent stalked and leaved vert, between two wings, indorsed of the last.

William Howell of Wedon, in county of Bucks, m. 1st Maude, who died and left ch., John the elder and John the younger. William m. 2d Anne Hampton and had s. Henry. He had besides, but by which wife I cannot say, ch. Jacob and Rachel, w. of Rev. Thomas Willis, and Isabel, Jane, Cecil, Agnes, Anne, Joane and Alice. His will of date Nov. 30, 1557, directs his body "to be buried in the parish church of Wingrave, in the chancel before the high altar." Gives legacies to the poor of Aylesbury, the poor of Whitechurch and the poor of Marsh. Gives his wife Anne his lands in Watton and Hamme for her life, and at her decease they are to go to Henry. Gives his eldest son John his lands in Marsh Gibbon and in default of issue to his son Henry, and in default of issue to son Jacob. To each of his daughters £20 and a legacy for bells for the Hardwick church. He d. in 1557 and John the eldest son inherited the manor, and himself died without issue 1576.

From the parish register of Marsh Gibbon the following extract is taken :

Edward Howell

Edward Howell built in 1648 the house occupied in his life-time by William P. Herrick, nearly opposite the present residence of Capt. James M. Herrick, and had the two adjoining house lots to the north, his front extending to Job's lane, as he had purchased three shares in the corporation of the settlement. This house was taken down about twenty-five years ago by Capt. Philetus Pierson, who purchased the homestead. His three shares entitled him to over 3,000 acres within the boundaries of the town.

See at the end for more.

By an oversight I have given the descendents of 335 Hezekiah<sup>3</sup> and 339 Daniel<sup>3</sup> a little out of order; those of 334 Josiah<sup>3</sup> should have preceded, and those of 339 Daniel<sup>3</sup> should have followed those of 337 Obadiah. But the numbering prevents any confusion.

334 Josiah<sup>3</sup> b. 1675, d. 1752, had w. Mary b. 1681, d. 1766 (and there is some reason to think she was his second wife and that he first m. The record of the descendants of 679 Lemuel<sup>3</sup> was given me by Addison M. Cook, Esq., of Bridge Hampton. But there may be an error in it as (if my abstract of the will of this Lemuel is correct) he died leaving children, David, Lemuel and Sarah. If this is correct then Lemuel, the son of 679 Lemuel<sup>3</sup>, may have had ch., David and Henry, as given above, and in that case 727 Sarah<sup>4</sup> should be omitted. The ages of the generations are such that either theory is possible. The line is correct anyhow.

9 Edmund<sup>2</sup>, the youngest son of 1 Edward<sup>1</sup> was allowed by his eldest brother John the homestead and after occupying it till about 1698 sold it and moved to Cape May County, New Jersey. He was b. about 1635, d. 1706 in New Jersey, and being called on the town record the son-in-law of Thomas Sayre in a deed in which he and Thomas Sayre each give one half of the land needed for a new street, now called Job's lane or Academy lane, must have married a d. of this Thomas Sayre. She died no great length of time after the marriage and appears to have left no ch. He m. Oct. 11, 1664, Sarah, d. of Joseph Judson of Statford, Conn., and had ch. 738 Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> b. Oct. 10, 1669, 739 Sarah<sup>3</sup> d. Apr. 10, 1685 and 740 Edmund.<sup>3</sup>

His w. Sarah d. Aug. 29, 1688. I have been unable to trace his descendants, if he had any in New Jersey.

In Hatfield's History of Elizabeth, N. J., it is stated that the second w. of 5 Edward<sup>2</sup>, Mary was a twin sister of Hannah, daughters of Richard Bryan of Milford, Ct. Hannah m. Rev. John Harriman, who preached in Southampton in the latter part of 1674, and was settled there Apr. 12, 1675, and remained till the early part of 1676. Mary when m. to Edward Howell was the widow of John Maltby of New Haven, and by him had ch. John and Mary Maltby. John Maltby the elder was lost at sea in 1676. His d. m. Rev. John Fordham son of Rev. Robert Fordham. Richard Bryan was the oldest son of Alexander Bryan the wealthiest man in Milford.

HOWELL FAMILY OF SOUTHDOLD.

It is said by Rev. William Hallock, D. D., formerly secretary of the American Tract Society in New York that his ancestor Peter Hallock after settling in Southold went to England, married there a widow Howell, and returned with her and her son Richard, then a lad, to the colonies.

This 1 Richard<sup>1</sup> d. Nov. 9, 1709, had w. The above record is taken from the Index of Southold by Charles B. Moore, Esq., of New York. As Mr. Moore is a careful and indefatigable worker in local history and genealogies this is to be relied on, and is certainly a good basis for subsequent genealogists to make connection.

HUNTING FAMILY.

This family is descended from elder John Hunting, who resided in the east of England, probably in the county of Norfolk. He had a brother who was a dissenting minister, preaching in that and the adjoining county of Suffolk as he found employment in those troublous times for dissenters. John Hunting came to this country in August, 1638, and when the Rev. John Allen was ordained minister of the gospel in Dedham, Mass., John Hunting was at the same time ordained a ruling elder of the church.

It has been thought by some that the family have no coat of arms. But in Bloomfield's History of Norfolk, vol. 5, page 460, is a record among other monuments in the village church of Trowse-with-Newton, of a coat of arms borne by the Hunton family, differing from that of the Huntons of East Knoyle, county of Wilts, just enough to make it highly probable that the two families are connected. As to the spelling of the name, that was a matter of indifference in those days. The wits of Charles II amused themselves in signing their names in as varied forms as their ingenuity could devise. The name Sayre is spelled in three or four different ways in the same legal document of date in the 17th century. Hunting and Hunton are doubtless the same name. The arms of the East Knoyle family are: Argent, on a chevron per pale gules and azure, between three talbots (or hunting dogs) passant sable, as many stags heads cabossed or. Crest: A demi-talbot gules collared and eared or, holding between the paws a stag's head cabossed of the last.

The arms on the Norfolk monument are : Sable, a chevron ermine between three talbots passant argent. This agrees perfectly with the arms as pictured and in possession of Mr. William Hedges of East Hampton, and which are, if I remember correctly, of quite ancient date. The presumption is that the Hunttings of Long Island and the Huntons of Trowse are the same family. The two inscriptions given by Bloomfield are as follows:

"Hannah the dearly beloved wife of John Hunton died 9 Dec. 1707."

"Hic jacet Johannes Hunton Generosus* ob. 28 Maij. A. D. 1714, æt. 57."

Families of this name are found in New Jersey with other Long Island families, and doubtless many removed there, but I have been unable to ascertain the connection.

Burke's Gen. Armory mentions eighteen families of this name as using coat armor.

JESSUP FAMILY.

This family is thought by a writer in the New Eng. Hist. and Gen. Register, vol. 10, p. 358, to be of the family of Jessops of Bromehall, in Yorkshire. The name is variously spelled on the records in this country. If this is really the home of the Long Island family, their arms, granted July 13, 1575, would be: Barry of six argent and azure, on the first nine mullets gules, three, three and three.

John Jessup, the ancestor of the Southampton family, is said by a descendant, Mr. John Jessup Howell, to have come to Massachusetts in 1620, but I find no earlier trace of him than 1637, when he was in Hartford; then, before 1640, of Wethersfield, from which he was one of the first settlers of Stamford in 1640, and thence, as early as 1649, of Southampton.

According to Mr. Edward R. Johnes of New York, Edward Johnes came to this county in 1630, sailing from Yarmouth, England, in 1629. In 1635 his father Richard Johnes of Dinder in Somerset with his wife Alice, followed, and settled in Charlestown, Mass. Mr. E. R. Johnes believes the family, from some evidence he has seen, to be a younger branch of the Johnes family of Dolancothy in Carmarthenshire, and to have the following coat of arms, the crest of which was on silver, owned by Timothy Jones, D. D., one of the descendants of Edward, in the last century: *Azure, a lion rampant between three crosses formée fitchée or, a chief of the last. Crest: A lion rampant or, supporting an anchor azure, fluke of the last. Motto: Vince malum bono.

The first three generations uniformly spelled the name Johnes, which form some of the descendants still retain, while others have dropped the third letter altogether.

The name of this family was generally written Ludlam down to about the time of the revolutionary war. I cannot tell which form is correct, as I have been unable to ascertain the family connection in England. William Ludlam, the first of the name, is not on the list of townsmen in May, 1649, but his sons are on that of 1657. There is no trace of him in the New England records. He came from Matlock, a village in Derbyshire, Eng.

He was a native of Glens Falls and entered Williams College, where he remained till some time during his third year, when he was compelled by his health to abandon study and take a sea voyage. On his return he resumed his studies at home. Visiting his Uncle Charles in Southampton he was engaged to teach the academy in that place, which the writer was then attending. No man more than he won the love of his scholars. He subsequently studied for the ministry and was licensed to preach, and ordained as pastor of the Presbyterian church at Moriches by the Presbytery of Long Island. His ministry was brief but eminently successful in building up the church of his charge, till failing health compelled him to resign.

PELLETREAU FAMILY.

Pelletreau.

April 17th 1570.

The ancestors of this family were Huguenots, who, upon the revocation of the edict of Nantes, fled from France and sought safety and religious freedom in a foreign clime. The first of the family in America were Jean Pelletreau and wife Magdalena and their nephews, Jean and Elie, the latter having two sons, Jean and Elie, which names were soon anglicized into John and Elias. These were direct descendants from an ancestor who was physician to Admiral Coligny, and, like his illustrious patron, perished in the massacre of St. Bartholomew, August 23, 1572. King Charles IX. granted him a coat of arms July 17, 1571. The following is a translation of the description or blazon.

Azure : a column shortened, in pale or, encircled with a serpent proper, between two martlets of the second. Mantle and crest : (a helmet) as the shield.

Jean 1st was naturalized in New York Sept. 22, 1687, and died in 1700. His wife Magdalena died in 1702 without children. Jean 2d died in 1703 childless. He and his brother Elie were naturalized July 10, 1696. The native place of this family was the village of Acres, in what is now the Department of Charente Inferieure.

They were all members of the French church in New York and in their wills left funds toward the support of its poor. Their names are found in connection with the troubles in that church, as in favor of Rev. Lewis Row. (See Doc. Hist. of N. Y., vol. 3.)

Elie Pelletreau died in 1730, leaving sons Elias, Paul, Francis, John and Benjamin and a daughter Magdalena. Elias died before his father and left dau. Mary and Elizabeth. Paul is supposed to have had a son Elias, who had ch. Elias, Samuel, Mary and John. From the first of these are descended the families now living in the city of Brooklyn. Benjamin was the youngest son and is not known to have left descendants.

Francis was a merchant and in 1728 he purchased the homestead of Samuel Woodruff, and this place remained in the possession of his descendants until 1866 and is now the residence of Mr. Josiah Foster. The old house remained standing till 1881; it was the last house on Long Island that retained the old-fashioned rhomboidal panes of glass set in lead, and from these it was known as "the house with diamond windows." In 1737 Francis Pelletreau went to London to undergo a surgical operation and died from its effects Sept. 26. His widow married Judge Hugh Gelston, Feb. 23, 1738, and died Sept. 1, 1775.

PIERSON FAMILY.

Henry Pierson, the ancestor of the families of this name, now living in the town, came during the first or second year of the settlement. It is believed that he was the brother of Rev. Abraham Pierson, of whom an account has been given in the seventh chapter. His descendants are numerous, though but one family of this name resides in the village of Southampton at the present time. Like all, or nearly all, of the first settlers, Mr. Henry Pierson was a Christian. In his own handwriting [and he was a fine penman and town clerk for many years] on the town records, penned doubtless in a devout frame of mind, is found the following:

“Jehovah I upon thee call!
O make thou haste to me,
And hearken thou unto my voyce,
When I do crye to thee.”

1 Henry<sup>1</sup> d. 1680, m. Mary, d. of John Cooper, and his widow m. Rev. Seth Fletcher of Elizabeth, N. J., who had preached for some time in Southampton. #### PROUD FAMILY.

John Proud started from England in May, 1817, in a packet ship on which were many passengers, among whom was George Bowden, before mentioned. On their voyage they met with hard winds and storms which continually drove them from their course. They were 110 days on their passage, and all on board were put on short rations. At length, suffering from want of food, ten of the passengers, among whom were Messrs. Proud and Bowden, requested the captain to set them ashore on the first land they made. This proved to be Montauk Point where they were landed, and the two above mentioned, remained and settled in Southampton. By their own testimony they met the kindest of friends in the people of Montauk and Amagansett, who relieved all their necessities, and sent them on their way rejoicing. John Proud m. Phebe Brown and had ch. Phebe, w. of William F. White, and Henry, who now resides in Bridgeport, Ct.

RAYNOR FAMILY.

Thurston Raynor is recorded with the prefix Mr., which in early times meant more than it does now. He was a magistrate and a leading man in the early settlement. He came to this country in the Elizabeth from Ipswich, Eng., in April, 1634. He settled first in Watertown, Mass., then was one of the first settlers of Wethersfield, Conn., thence went to Stamford as one of its first settlers in 1640-41 and thence to Southampton, where he was made freeman in 1649. ## ROGERS FAMILY.

William Rogers is mentioned as a resident from 1642, to, at least, March, 1645-6. In 1645 the Gen. Court make him a grant of land. In 1649 he is made freeman. He appears to have had a home in Hempstead, for a few years previous to 1649. From 1649 to 1655 we find him an inhabitant of Southampton, and after this he disappears altogether. Nor can any will of his be found on record. Subsequent to 1655 Obadiah Rogers is mentioned as residing on the same homestead that William had occupied. In 1669 Widow Ann Rogers of Huntington makes a will, leaving ch. 2 Obadiah, 3 John, 4 Samuel, 5 Mary, 6 Hannah and 7 Noah. of these 2 Obadiah is called the oldest and is spoken of as living in Southampton. Now it is probable that 1 William gave the Southampton homestead to Obadiah about 1655, and with his w. and younger ch. removed to Huntington where he might have resided several years. 3 John and 7 Noah removed to Branford, Ct., and in the earliest deeds there recorded in which they are grantees of land, they are mentioned

ROSE FAMILY.

Deacon Stephen Rose of Bridgehampton was of opinion that the families of this name on the east end of Long Island are descended from a John Rose who he thought was old enough to be a brother of Robert Rose, to be soon mentioned. He thought he had seen a paper in the records of the town whereby land was assigned to such a John. I believe he was mistaken. Robert Rose of Wethersfield in 1639 came in the Francis from Ipswich, co. of Suffolk in 1634, aged 40, with w. Margery 40 and ch. John 15, Robert 15, Elizabeth 13, Mary 11, Samuel 9, Sarah 7, Daniel 3 and Dorcas 1. He removed soon to Stratford and thence probably to Southampton in 1644, where he had a grant of land Mch. 6, 1644-5. His name is on the list of whalings squadrons in Mch. 1644-5, but no John is mentioned so far as I can ascertain until 1657, when he is an inhabitant of North Sea. Robert removed to East Hampton probably about the time of its settlement in 1648, and subsequently to Westchester Co., N. Y. His son Robert removed to Branford with a few others about the same time when Rev. Mr. Pierson went there, and his third son Samuel went to Newark, New Jersey and left two daughters. The youngest son Thomas born on Long Island inherited his father's homestead in East Hampton and finally sold it and removed. This leaves only John and Daniel to be accounted for. Of the latter I find no trace whatever. John, if I am correct, was the John of North Sea in 1656, and from whom are descended all of the name in Southampton.

Seventeen coats of arms of different families of this name are described in Burke's General Armory.

SANFORD FAMILY.

Long Island naturally looks to New England for its antecedents and, in some cases, for its progenitors. Searching the N. E. records for an earlier generation than Ezekiel Sandford, as the name was originally written, who, in 1678, received an appropriation of fifteen acres in Bridgeton, we find no less than three English pioneers who each had a son Ezekiel. Thomas of Dorchester, Mass., in 1634, had a son Ezekiel, who died in Fairfield, Ct., 1683; Andrew of Hartford had son Ezekiel, who lived in Milford, Ct.; and Robert of Hartford had a son of the same name b. Meh. 13, 1648. This Robert had also a son Zacharias, which name reappears in a son of Ezekiel, and adds another reason for assuming that the Southampton family descended from Robert of Hartford. In the former edition I said that I had found mention of a Thomas Sandford in Southampton in 1676. I confess I cannot now find my original note of this mention, nor any evidence in the printed records of this Thomas, and, therefore, am inclined to adopt the line of descent as given below.

Burke's General Armory mentions nineteen English families using coat armor, and one of the descendants of Ezekiel believed he had ascertained the arms of this family in England. The blazon is as follows: "Quarterly, first and fourth per chevron, sable and ermine; in chief two boars' heads couped close or; second and third, per fesse indented azure and ermine.

Crest: a falcon, with wings indorsed, preying on a partridge proper.

SAYRE FAMILY.

Thomas Sayre was the founder of the family of this name in Southampton and one of the eight original "Undertakers" coming here in May or June 1640. He was a native of Bedfordshire, England, as appears from the examination of his son Job before the Dutch Council in New York as before narrated. In 1638 he and his son Job had each 60 acres of land allotted to them in Lynn, Mass. The arms of this family are as handed down by family tradition: Gules, a chevron ermine between three sea gulls argent.

Crest: A cubit arm erect proper holding a dragon's head erased argent. Motto: Saie and doe. Another form of the motto used by some of this name Dico facio seems to be a pun on a false derivation of the name itself. Lower on surnames derives it either from assayer, a crown officer in the royal mint whose duty it was to assay gold and silver for coinage, or from a patronymic Saher of Norman origin. The homestead drawn by Thomas Sayre in 1648 and the house he built in that year still standing have remained in possession of the family to this day.

Academy of Medicine, and when the eastern stream of men to the gold fields of California was at its height, he went there to practice his profession. Notwithstanding his natural abilities, which were of a high order, and his skill acquired in study and hospital practice in New York, he was too modest a man to succeed in competition with the push and daring of inferior men. In disgust he threw what few medical works he had taken with him into San Francisco bay, abandoned his profession, and engaged in a crushing-quartz establishment, and lost his life by some untoward accident in the mill. He lived a pure and noble life and died lamented by all who knew him.

BRANCH OF CAPT. ISAAC SAYRE.

The furthest back I can go with certainty in this family is to a Joseph Sayre, whom we will distinguish as 311 Joseph, who may be of the fourth or fifth generation, from 1 Thomas.<sup>1</sup> He may be a son of 197 Job<sup>3</sup> or a grandson of 3 Daniel.<sup>2</sup> Supposing the former, then 311 Joseph<sup>4</sup> d. 1779, had w. Mary and ch. 312 Isaac<sup>5</sup> b. 1757 and 313 Job<sup>5</sup>, who d. 1789.

317 Capt. Isaac<sup>6</sup> d. Apr. 11, 1853, had w. Eliza and ch. 325 Mary A.<sup>7</sup>, w. of John Allen, 326 Frederic Spencer<sup>7</sup> b. 1831, 327 Harriet<sup>7</sup> b. 1835, 328 Adelaide<sup>7</sup> b. 1838, 329 Louisa<sup>7</sup> b. 1841, 330 Eugene O.<sup>7</sup> b. 1843 and 331 William Wallace<sup>7</sup> b. 1848.

A Benjamin Sayre lived near Rahway, N. J., in the last century, was of the Long Island family, but I cannot say with certainty to what branch he belonged. His descendants are as follows :

A Joseph Sayre of Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y., wills in 1767 to w. Sarah and ch. James, John, Benjamin, Daniel, Stephen, Martha and Jonathan, the latter a minor at date of will. This is also doubtless a Long Island family.

29 Stephen Sayre<sup>5</sup> was a graduate of the college of New Jersey at Princeton and said to be the handsomest man of his age. A miniature once in possession of an aunt of the writer would confirm this judgment. He went to London before the revolutionary war and was successful in founding a banking house in that city. Was made High Sheriff of London, and about the time of the opening of hostilities the ridiculous charge was made against him by Lord Rochford that he had engaged in a conspiracy to seize the person of the king as he went to the Parliament house and to take possession of the Tower. He was imprisoned in the Tower a few days, and, being examined on a writ of habeas corpus, was dismissed as entirely innocent. He then instituted proceedings against Lord Rochford and the court awarded him one thousand pounds damages. He was on terms of intimacy with the best society of London and highly respected. He returned to America after the war and settled near Bordentown, New Jersey, where he passed the rest of his life. The estate of Mr. Sayre afterward became the property and residence of Joseph Bonaparte, the ex-emperor of Spain.

SCOTT FAMILY.

Capt. John Scott is first mentioned on the New England records as an inhabitant of Hartford. He was for a while afterward a resident of Setauket, then called Ashford. In 1657 he was made free-man at Southampton by the General Court, in which year probably he came here after quite a checkered career, and on Dec. 9, 1658, he was granted a home lot of three acres and five other acres, provided he remained three years. I do not know his former residence in England but have reason to believe it was not Scott's Hall of Kent county.

SQUIRES FAMILY.

This name is generally written Squires, but the forms of Squire, Squier and Squiers are not uncommon on the early records. The first of the name on Long Island was a John Squires, who lived quite early in East Hampton and married the daughter of William Edwards of that settlement. I assume that he was the father of George Squires, who was of the age to be in the second generation, and who lived in East Hampton, though I have seen no express mention of the fact.

Burke's Gen. Armory mentions eight English families of this name as using coat armor.

TOPPING FAMILY.

Thomas Topping, the first of this name in Southampton, according to family tradition, was a refugee from religious persecution in England. Savage says (Gen. Dict.), "Thomas Topping of Milford, 1639, but earlier was of Wethersfield and Representative in 1639, joined the church of Milford with his w. Emma in 1640.

Had s. Elnathan baptized Aug. 2, 1640, and James Feb. 12, 1643. A contract made Oct. 20, 1666, at Milford, for his marriage with Mary, widow of Timothy Baldwin, is by her referred to ten years later when she was disposing of her property, in conformity with said contract to her children. He had before 1678 made Lydia the widow of John Wilford his third wife, and for the residue of his days lived at Branford, where, Oct. 5, 1686, he gave by deed to his sons Elnathan and James at Southampton, all his lands in the latter place; to d. Mary Quinney (or some such name), ten cows; to d. Martha Herriek £10, in addition to what she had already received, to be paid by the sons, who then had the keeping of the cows also. His widow in 1688 transacted business with those sons and died Nov., 1694."

From the Southampton Records it is clear that the Thomas Topping mentioned by Savage resided several years in Southampton, then removed to Branford, and there remained till his death.

Capt. Thomas the first settler gave his son 5 Capt. Thomas his homestead at the south end. The latter dies in 1682, and in 1683 Capt. Thomas of Branford confirms the gift of the same to Thomas, oldest son of 5 Capt. Thomas.

Burke gives the arms of an English family of Toppings, as follows: Azure, ten lozenges, four, three, two, one argent — crest. Two lion's gambes, sable holding up a roundel vair.

When I published the first edition of this work, in 1866, it was believed by some in the family that a Deacon Thomas Topping (whom we now designate as 144 Thomas<sup>4</sup>) was the father of 145 Edward<sup>5</sup> and that 144 Thomas<sup>4</sup> was a grandson of 5 Thomas.<sup>2</sup> Since that time I have seen nothing to prove or disprove that belief. But after all 145 Edward<sup>5</sup> may be really the son of 129 Deacon Josiah<sup>4</sup>, and, therefore, 134 Edward<sup>5</sup> above. I am inclined to believe this, and, therefore, dropping the 145 Edward<sup>5</sup>, I will proceed on this assumption.

WHITE FAMILIES.

1. Descendants of John White.

Two families of this name came to Southampton, the first, that of John White, about 1644. He was a resident of Lynn in 1630, freeman there in 1633, and made freeman in Southampton in 1647. The other family descended from the seventh pastor of the church, Rev. Sylvanus White, who was the son of Rev. Ebenezer White, of Bridgehampton. Both of these families, however, are said to have a common ancestor, Thomas White of Weymouth, Mass. He was Representative in Gen. Court in 1636 and 37. He died Aug. 1679, leaving, according to Farmer, 1st Joseph of Mendon; 2 Samuel of Weymouth, b. 1642, admitted freeman 1666, Representative 1679, and died without issue, 3d Thomas of Braintree, 4th Hannah, who m. John Baxter and 5th Ebenezer b. 1648, and died Aug. 24, 1703, and father of Rev. Sylvanus of Southampton. John, the first of this name in Southampton, is thought to be another son of Thomas of Weymouth, not being mentioned in his will, because he died in 1662 before his father.

This is possible as Thomas of Weymouth was born in 1599.

There are 74 English families of this name mentioned by Burke as using coat armor.

For the descendants of other children of Thomas of Weymouth see Thayer's Family Memorials.

Late in life he married, but left no children. He said to the writer in Southampton, that as he came in the cars from New York he wondered why his ancestors did not sooner leave such a sterile wilderness. But as we rode through the Hamptons, on a visit to Montauk Point, he remarked, as he saw the luxuriant fields all around him, that his only wonder then was that they ever left at all.

1 John<sup>1</sup>, yeoman, was sheriff of Suffolk county from Oct. 1699 to Oct. 1700 and from Dec. 20, 1701, to Oct. 1702, and a magistrate from 1702 till his death. Provision is made in his will that his son John may "be brought up to learning in a college," and he was a graduate of Yale College in 1722.

Here | was layed | the body of Mr. | John Wick Esq. | who dyed January | the 16th Anno 1719 | in the 59th year | of his age.

The stone is in the center of a six or eight acre lot in Bridgehampton. The tradition is that he gave direction to have his body laid here, but his friends disregarded it and attempted to dig a grave in the graveyard, but the ants (in January!) came out in such swarms and filled the grave as they dug, that they were compelled to abandon their purpose. Another tradition says that the heirs, not liking the disposition of the property made in his will, read a summons over his grave, calling him to appear in court and show cause why the will should not be broken.

Burke mentions one English family of the name using coat armor.

WILLMAN FAMILY.

Isaac Willman had "accommodations layed out" to him in 1645. When the site of the village was changed in 1648 from Old Town to the present one along Main street, he had a house-lot granted to him next south of Ellis Cook, provided he stayed three years.

The family did not remain in the town probably much later than the year 1700, and there are none now of this name residing in Southampton.

WOODRUFF FAMILY.

John Woodruff is first mentioned on the list of 1657. His will mentions John, his eldest son, living in Elizabeth, N. J., and John, his youngest son, living in Southampton. The latter was heir to John Gosmer, and probably married his daughter, and lived on the present homestead of Mr. Josiah Foster. I presume some of this name in New Jersey are descended from the John of Elizabeth. There are six English families of this name mentioned in Burke's General Armory as using coat armor.

A family in Marlboro, N. Y., is descended from Abraham S., son of a Charles, who is probably 11 Charles<sup>3</sup> above.

THE DEMING FAMILY.

John and Thomas Deming or Diamont first appear in the Weathersfield records in 1635-45. Savage says, in his Genealogical Dictionary of New England (vol. 2, p. 35), that Thomas was perhaps the brother of John. This agrees with a tradition of the family.

Thomas Deming's yard in Weathersfield in 1648 is mentioned as the place where one of the first ships of the colony (the Tryall) was built. [See Memorial Hist. of Hartford Co., Conn., p. 481.] Thomas married in 1645, in Weathersfield, Mary Sheaffe. His son James was born in 1646. Thomas removed with his family to Farmington, thence to Southampton, thence to Easthampton, where he continued to reside. His descendants (found throughout the United States and elsewhere) constitute what is known as the Thomas Deming branch of the Deming family. A few families showing the Thomas Deming line are given below:

NOTE.—A few of the descendants of Thomas Dimont remaining on Long Island spell the name Dimon, constituting the Dimon family. [See page 236.]

The above was furnished by Philander Deming of Albany, the well-known contributor to the Atlantic Monthly. The record shows how members of the same family may forget their common origin, by adopting forms of the name so varied as Dimon and Deming. The name is said by Lower to be derived from Dumont and was the family name of a Frenchman who emigrated to England.

*So far the genealogy is identical with that of the Dimon family before given, the surname only being changed.

It is said by Mr. Albert H. Davis of New York that a John Davis, not a son of Fulk Davis, settled in East Hampton quite early and had son John and other ch. If so, some of the above given names may be in his family.

21. Earle, John, in 1681, lived between Huntting's corner and residence of the late Austin Herrick. In 1678, Nov., he married Mary Raynor and had d. Mindwell b. Aug. 16, 1683, and s. David b. Edward was here apparently in 1657. In 1666 Edmund is mentioned by Thompson as a resident of Flushing.

26. Field, Alexander Mr. Oct. 6, 1652, chosen freeman. Mentioned Oct., 1655, on jury. Farnaer says he was of Salem, Mass.: member of church 1648: freem. 1649, and is called a cordwainer. 33. Gosmer, John Mr., sometimes called Cosmore (which misleads Savage), probably father of Richard (on whose estate he administers in 1649, and Richard appears to have died unmarried), and probably had also a d., who was w. of John Woodruff. John Gosmer 1659 gives his "adopted son," John Woodruff, all his houses and lands. 42. Houldsworth, Jonas, 1663, schoolmaster, afterward of Huntington. In 1698 in Southold. Taught in Southampton £35 per annum.

43. Howe, Daniel and Jeremiah. Daniel, one of the most influential pioneers of the settlement, master and owner of the vessel which brought the colonists from Lynn, and magistrate. Resided here from the settlement until the settlement of East Hampton, of which, according to Hedges, he was one of the settlers in 1648. But he was in Southampton in Oct. 1649. Lewis and Newhall (Hist. of Lynn), say he was freeman there 1634, and Lieut. in the Ancient Artillery Company 1638. He had brother Edward and son Ephraim, and perhaps other ch. Jeremiah, Dec. 1, 1646, is mentioned, with a few others, who had not then paid their taxes due—perhaps because of removal. They lived east in Bridge Hampton or Sagg. A Humphry Hughes was of Cape May Co., New Jersey, 1696.

49. Kempton, Manasseh. Savage says a Menasseh (who must have been father or gr. father of the one in Southampton) Kempton was one of the earliest settlers of Plymouth, and probably came in the Ann 1623. He died Jan. 14, 166 $\frac{2}{3}$ , and his w. Julian d. Feb. 19, 166 $\frac{4}{5}$ , æ. 81. Rep. 9 yrs. The Manasseh, of Southampton, d. Nov. 28, 1737, æ. 86. In 1688 he bought Pope's lot of Ben. E.; to kinsman Stephen Kempton, cordwainer, of S. H., and his d. Priscilla, and to Abigail Bacon, his housekeeper. Proved Jan. 13, 173 $\frac{7}{8}$  N. Y. S. O.

50. Kirtland family. Philip came quite early to Lynn — probably with part of his family. His two sons — Philip, æ. 21, and Nathaniel, æ. 19 — came to Lynn in the Hopewell April, 1635. He had another son, John, b. about 1607, who was in E. H. 1658 and 1659, and what other family I know not. Philip, junior, and his brother Nathaniel, were a short time residents here — coming with the first settlers. But Philip returned to Mass. in 1641, and Nathaniel removed before 1644. Philip, Jr., had ds. Mary, Sarah, Susanna and Hannah, and w. Alice, who m. 2d Evan Thomas.

51. Larrison (or Lawrison), John, a mason, m. 1st Jemima Halsey May 23, 1683, and 2d Mary, wid. of David Howell, Dec. 20, 1686. Had one d., Mary. In 1683 he is taxed for £254, and not living 1694.

52. Laughton, John, 1665, has three acres N. of Mr. Russell's home lot. (See Heathcote for the location.) He probably died childless soon after 1679. In 1678 a brother Josiah is mentioned, who had then a son John of full age. Josiah had* also son Josiah. In 1715 Josiah sells the so. half of place formerly John Laughton's to Benjamin Haines. The name is spelled Lawton on commission to collect the taxes.

sons moved to Dennisville, Cape May Co., N. J. A considerable account of this family, after their migration to Cape May Co., N. J. (whither the L. I. people went for carrying on the whaling business) may be found in Dr. Beesely's history of the settlement of this county, bound up with the Report of the Geological Survey of Cape May County by G. H. Cook.

55. Lum (or Loom), John, had a home lot granted June 17, 1651. He probably removed to Huntington, as such a one in 1660 is mentioned as living there, "formerly of North Sea," and having still a son Samuel in Southampton, who is said to be heir of Mark Meiggs, of Huntington. In 1654 John has a hundred in the Sagabonack division. He had, also, probably another son, Matthew, who was a blacksmith, and in 1667 lived in the Southend somewhere. A Samuel is on the list of 1683 and 1694, and on the list of 1698 we find a number of the name, and if his family, we might say w. Hannah and ch. Matthew, Samuel, Abigail and Hannah. He lived in the Mecox settlement.

56. Maltby, John, formerly of Connecticut, a tax payer in 1694. He m. Susana Clark, and had ch. Sarah b. 1705, who d. unmarried 1723, and Mary, w. of Hugh Gelston. John M. d. June 27, 1706, aged 33 years. The John mentioned was the son of John Maltby, of New Haven, who (according to Savage) was lost at sea 1676, leaving w. Mary and children Mary and John. His w. Mary was d. of Richard Bryant, of Milford, Conn., and was born 1654. She m. 2d Edward Howell, who thus brought the children to Southampton, where John, at maturity, married Susana Clark, and Mary m. Rev. John Fordham. The John of Southampton must have had male heirs, as a family of this name in Hadlyme, Ct., claim descent from him.

57. Mapham (or Mappem), John, according to Savage, was son of John, of Guilford, Ct., in 1639, who d. 1649. John, the younger, m. 58. Marvin (or Merwin), Robert. May 12, 1649, he has from the town a £100 lot granted to him "on three months' approbation had of him." This, by the way, establishes the fact that he was a farmer, as the town gave usually but a £50 lot to mechanics on their settlement. He, more than any other, occupied himself in destroying wolves, as appears from the town records. Richard is once mentioned, but it is probably a clerical error for Robert. He m. Mary, d. of William Browne, and in 1650 administers upon the estate of his father-in-law. Thompson mentions him as a resident of Hempstead in 1682, as also a John — perhaps a son.

59. Mason, William, in 1682, buys eight acres on the hill (now homestead of Thomas Warren), and there lived, in 1684 and 1698. James, of East Hampton, 1687. In 1696 a William M. had 150 acres in Cape May Co., N. J.

60. Meacham, Jeremiah. Savage says a Jeremiah, of Salem, Mass., a fuller, had w. Deborah and ch. Isaac, Jeremiah, Rhoda, Sarah, Hannah and Bethia. The s. Jeremiah probably is the one on the Southampton records as a resident in 1658, and also in 1660, when he is mentioned as on jury, or the elder Jeremiah might himself have moved as mentioned. Hedges gives him an early residence in East Hampton.

61. Meiggs, Mark, with father Vincent and brother John, are residents of New Haven 1646-7. He resided in Southampton from 1651 to 1658. He was granted a lot in E. H., but abandoned it before Dec. 1651. In Huntington 1672. He gives by will all his property, after decease of his wife Avis, to Samuel, s. of John Lum, of Southampton. 64. Miller, John, 1655, charged with slander by Mark Meggs.

65. Mills, Richard, freeman 1650, schoolmaster and town clerk 1651. In 1551, Apr. 11, the old meeting-house was given him by the town to enlarge his own house for keeping the ordinary. March 7, 165½, he sells his homestead to John Cooper, Jr., removed, and was schoolmaster in Middlebury, N. Y., 1660, and town clerk in Westchester, 1661. In 1683 Samuel and Isaac pay taxes. Samuel M. d. 1685, leaving son Richard, a minor. In 1694 only Isaac remains, and he lived in Bridgehampton, Sagg or Mecox, and had son Isaac in 1698 (as per list), and also probably s. Jonathan. Dr. Mills had son David, b. Dec. 9, 1693.

66. Milner, George, appears as resident in 1653 and 1654. Lewis says Michael Milner came in the James of London 1635, a. 23, and removed to L. I. If so, perhaps he was father of this George.

67. Minthorn, Richard, on list of 1698 — probably a servant or laborer.

68. Moore (or More), John and Benjamin, etc. John has a lot granted Apr., 1641. March 15, 164 $\frac{2}{3}$ , he was censured by the court "for saying Daniel Howe did vsurpe the execution of the place of magistracy, hee then lyeing under church censure." Oct., 1644. 119. Wade, Dr. Nathaniel, w. or d. Abigail and s. Simon, as per list of 1698, lived in Sagg.

120. Walton, Henry. One of the original "undertakers," and mentioned in Indian deed of Dec. 13, 1640. But probably soon after removed.

121. Ware, John, by list of 1698, lived at the Southend, perhaps up Toilsome lane, and had ch. Jacob and John and w. or d. Elizabeth.

122. Warren or Waring, John, of Cold Spring, in town of Oyster Bay, has w. Elizabeth, d. of John White, and she appears to be an only child, and they have son John Warren, to whom they give all John White's property, which he possessed at his death and which they probably had held by will in trust.

Waters, Anthony. Mch. 6, 1659, bought a house and lot of Samuel Dayton of North Sea, which had been his father's, Ralph Dayton's. He did not remain long in the town.

123. Weeks, Thomas, on a jury Jan. 1654, of Stamford, Ct., 1649.

124. Welbee, George, an original "undertaker" and mentioned in Indian deed of Dec. 13, 1640, but probably soon after removed. Lynn 1638.

125. Wells, William, first mention, March 1643, when he was censured for "unreverend speeches" to Daniel Howe, magistrate.

Was a resident then and on the list of Dec. 1646, of those who failed to pay their taxes, probably because of removal elsewhere.

126. Wheeler, Thomas, Sept. 1658, then deceased. Probably an inhabitant of East Hampton, and his wid. m. Mr. Josiah Stanbrough of Sagg. John was of East Hampton 1687.

127. Whitehead, Samuel, cordwainer, of New Haven, 1643, Southampton 1688. Had d. Mary b. Feb. 14, 168 $\frac{6}{7}$ ; s. Samuel b. Feb. 29, 168 $\frac{3}{4}$ . Married 2d w. Joana Beebe, Oct. 24, 1689; mar. 1st w. Mary Cooper, Sept. 12, 1682, and she d. Apr. 20, 1687. Not on list of 1683 or 1698. Probably removed to New Jersey, where the name prevails.

128. Wickham, Joseph, tanner; on list of 1698, with s. Joseph and w. or d. Sarah, and lived at Sagg.

Wickham, Joseph, tanner, Aug. 1686, had a grant of land in Sagg provided he stay seven years and work at his trade, which he did.

129. Wilkeson, Josias, of North Sea, where he had a house, 1657 or 8. One of this name of Providence, R. I., early.

130. Willman, Isaac, first mentioned 1649. Had w. Mary and ch. Isaac b. Aug. 31, 1657, Abraham, Matthew, John b. May 18, 1670, Theophilus and Benjamin. Isaac 2d m. 1st, Mary Wines of Southold Oct. 7, 1686, and 2d, Susanah —, and had ch. Mary b. Dec. 9, 1689, and Abraham, and probably (by list of 1698) James and perhaps also Susana, Hannah and Elizabeth. Theophilus W. of Conn. d. in E. H. Sept. 6, 1744, ae. 72; b. 1672.

131. Willmot, Alexander, "joiner," of New Haven in 1697, bought a residence in Bridgehampton and had w. Mary and s. Walter b. 1709, who graduated at Yale 1734. Walter studied for the ministry and was ordained pastor at Jamaica, L. I., Apr. 12, 1738. He died 1744. Married Freelove Townsend, d. of Jotham T. of Oyster Bay. Alexander W. had other ch. as by his will, viz.: Mary, Hannah, Hepsabah and Sarah, w. of Abraham Bradley. His will was proved Meh. 30, 1721. N. Y. S. O.

132. Winthrop, Mr. [John], had a lot apportioned him, but probably never occupied; in 1644 it was transferred to Mr. [Edward] Johnes.

133. Wood, George, 1644, servant of Mr. Edward Howell. In 1665 he was living in Huntington. Doc. Hist.

134. Wood, Jonas. Two of this name appear on the early records of Southampton, and in one case one of them is the principal and the other a juryman in a lawsuit. To distinguish them the former is called Jonas Wood H. [Halifax] and the latter Jones Wood O. [Oram]. Jones Wood H. is the earliest on record and was made freeman Oct. 7, 1650. Hatfield says Jonas and Edward Wood were members of the church at Watertown, Mass., in 1635, and with Jo. Strickland and others were dismissed May 29, 1635, to plant a colony on the Connecticut river, to which they gave the name of Wethersfield. In 1640 Jonas, Jonas, Jr., Jeremiah, Edmund, removed from Wethersfield and with others (Hinman, Puritans of N. E.) settled Rippowams (Stamford, Ct.). Jonas and Edmond (or Edward, as Hatfield has it) are thought to have been brothers and the other two their sons. In the spring of 1644 they joined the colony that crossed over to L. I. (Wood, Hist. of L. I.), and settled Hempstead, Jonas being one of the patentees. Jonas and Jonas, Jr., subsequently settled at Huntington, L. I., and were both living there in 1675. The Jonas of North Sea, Wood thinks, was son of Edward and cousin of Jonas, Jr., supposing the latter to be son of Jonas, Sr. To return to the Southampton notes. Jonas, July, 1650, draws land for his father-in-law, Mr. Strickland of Hempstead.

Jonas Wood (Halifax) of Huntington, March 11, 16 $\frac{5}{8}$  $\frac{2}{0}$ . In 1650 one-half an acre from his home lot was laid out for a highway to the water. Jones Wood H., not on list of 1649; he had w. Elizabeth and, 1652 and 3, lived in North Sea. Oct. 30, 1655, Jonas H. and Jonas O. mentioned. But the record is a tangle.

In 1698 we find Richard and Jacob named — separately — possibly both young men or boys. In 1710 we find Richard had w. Hannah, d. of Thos. Reeves, married Apr. 10, 1704, and had ch. Hannah b. Feb. 9, 170 $\frac{5}{8}$ , Phebe b. Oct. 28, 1709, James b. March 13, 171 $\frac{1}{4}$ , Matthew b. March 6, 171 $\frac{5}{8}$ , Theophilus b. May 11, 1718, Abraham b. Aug. 14, 1721, and Silas b. June 16, 1724. His will is of date Apr. 17, 1731, and gives to his son Silas his dwelling-house in the "North Sea bounds." James is not mentioned in his will, which was proved Aug. 26, 1734.

Elnathan Wood m. a d. of Stephen Topping and had s. Silas, who had s. Stephen now living in Bridgehampton. Elnathan had also bro. Silas.

Jonas (Halifax) of Huntington had w. Elizabeth and children, Jonas, Jeremiah, Timothy, John (not certain of the order of age, nor how many more). Timothy, 1709, of Jamaica, had w. Judith.

Jonathan b. 1658, in 1662 is indentured to John Smith of Hempstead — son of Jonathan and Anne of R. I.

Edmond appears to be the father of Jonas (Halifax); according to Huntington Rec. Jeremiah had w. Elizabeth, and this Jeremiah was dead in 1659. Timothy was also dead in 1659.

1688. Jonas of Huntington willed (will proved 1692) to heirs Jonas, John, Eliza and Phebe.

1696. Samuel (of Huntington) is called son and heir of Jonas "Halifacks."

1681. (Huntington, Rec.) Joseph (husbandman) m. Eunice Jarvies.

1679. Joseph d. 1747, ae. 68.

1677. Eliphalet, son of John, b. Feb. 14, Huntington.

1680. John, son of John, b. Apr. 6, Huntington.

1680. Samuel, s. of Jeremiah, b. July 27, Hempstead.

1684. Joseph of Hempstead, called s. of Jeremiah.

1683. Jeremy, Sen. and Jun., householders, Hempstead.

1683. Jonas, householder, Hempstead.

1720. John, Jr., of Halifax.

1740. Huntington, Jeremiah devised to oldest son Jonas and named son Jeremiah executor.

Huntington.	{	1749. Jeremiah, father of Jonas and Jeremiah (as above) and lately deceased.
		1753. Jonas (weaver), w. Charity, sells land to bro. Jeremiah, yeoman.
		1753. John, } bros., and sons of John, late de- Jotham, } ceased.
		1753. John (cordwainer) sells land.
		1746. John, blacksmith mentioned.

There appear to have been three of the name of Jonas as cotemporaries.

Jacob W. was a resident of Mecox 1676.

1692. Jonas and w. Lydia of Hempstead.

1693. Huntington. Sam, Sen., and w. Deborah sell to son Jeseeph W. Deed signed by Sam, Sr. and Jr., and Deborah.

- 1698. Hempstead Rec. Lydia W. of E. N. Jersey.
- 1677. Joseph of Huntington, cooper.

- 1720. John at Flagpond Huntington, son of John, who had also son Eliphalet, and in 1721 John and Caleb are called brothers.
- 1723. Joseph sells to his son Caleb.
- 1727. Joseph of Oyster Bay (weaver) (formerly of Huntington) releases to Caleb and Amos the land his father now lives on.
- 1724. John has a son Jonas.
- 1730. Jeremiah has a son Jonas.

CELEBRATION OF THE 225TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE SETTLEMENT OF SOUTHAMPTON, DECEMBER 13, 1865.

This day was chosen as the anniversary of the day on which legal possession of their homes was obtained from the Indians, as may be seen from the date of the Indian deed given in the Appendix. The historical discourse was delivered by Rev. Geo. Rogers Howell, and the following ode written for the occasion, by Mrs. Maria J. R. Howell, daughter of Capt. Mercator Cooper, and wife of John Fletcher Howell, Esq., was finely rendered by a large choir.

At a meeting in the evening, appropriate addresses were made by H. R. Stiles, M. D., and Mr. Alden J. Spooner, of Brooklyn, and the Rev. Messrs. W. B. Reeves, of Westhampton, and Ephraim Whitaker, of Southold.

Rise up, ye people, with anthems of praise,
And loud to Jehovah your thanksgivings raise;
Praise ye the might which hath built here an altar,
And gathered a people from over the sea;
Sing to the mercy whose love cannot falter,
And praise ye Jehovah, the God of the free.
Rise up, ye people, with anthems of praise,
And loud to Jehovah your thanksgivings raise.

Ages have rolled down the dark stream of time,
Since our forefathers left their own native clime,
Seeking a home on this ocean-girt Isle,
Where, free from the weight of oppression's hard rod,
Untrammelled by rank and unfettered by guile,
Secure they might dwell, and in peace worship God.
Rise up, ye people, with anthems of praise,
And loud to Jehovah your thanksgivings raise.

Here in their Island homes they have been blest,
An oasis fair upon ocean's broad breast;
The loved forms that builded the first cottage fires
Long since have slumbered beneath the green sod;
But the children, impressed with the same fond desires,
Still bring to this altar their tribute to God.
Rise up, ye people, with anthems of praise,
And loud to Jehovah your thanksgivings raise.

the full and firme confirmation hereof we have both parties set too our hands marke and seals interchangeably the date and yeare above written.

In presence of us

DAVID GARDINER.

JOHN OGDEN

LION GARDINER.

NOTE.—The consideration for the above purchase appears to be £400 paid to Wyandanch who for this sum became surety for the Shinnecock Indians who were thus fined apparently for burning some houses in Southampton.

Nor. 2, 1667. John Ogden of Elizabethtown N. J. sells to Sonthampton 100 acres of salt marsh or meadow lying on Peaconic bay, the same having been apparently included in the above purchase.

DEED OF QUOGUE PURCHASE, 1653.

From the following instruments it appears that the land embraced in the Quogue purchase was first sold to John Ogden by the chief of the Montauk tribe, Wyandanch, and from him passed into the hands of John Scott who sold it to the town. The creek or river called Apaucuck is now called indifferently the Beaverdam or Apocock stream.

This writing witnesseth an Agreement Between John Scott of Ashford [Setaukett] on Long Island in New England, Esq., of the one part, And John Howell, Thirstan Raynor, Robert Fordham, Thomas Halsey Senior, Gent, Samuel Clark, Richard Post & John Jessup Yeoman of the other part. Witnesseth that the said John Scott for & in Consideration of Seventy pounds to be well and faithfully paid unto him his heirs Exec<sup>rs</sup> Admin<sup>s</sup> or Assigns in Chattels as they shall be Estimated by two persons Indifferetly Chosen according to the rate of beef & pork at price current. From the town records.

Know all men whom this p<sup>r</sup>sent writing may concerne that I James ffarret of Long Island Gen<sup>t</sup> Deputy to the right hon<sup>r</sup><sup>bl</sup> the Earle of Starling Secretary for the kingdom of Scotland doe by these p<sup>r</sup>sents in the name and behalf of the said Earle and in mine owne name allsoe as his Deputy as it doth or may any way concerne myself, Give and grant free leave and liberty to Daniell How, Job Sayre, George Willby and William Harker* together with their associates to sitt downe upon Long Island afforesaide, there to possess improve and enioy eight miles square of land or soe much as shall containe the said quantity, not only upland but alsoe whatsoever meadow marish ground, harbor<sup>s</sup> Riv<sup>rs</sup> and creeks lye within the bounds or limitts of the said eight miles, The same and every pt thereof quietly and peaceably to enioy to them and theire heyres forever without any disturbance, lett or mollestation from the said earle or any by his appoyntment or p<sup>r</sup>curement for him or any of his. And that they are to take their choise to sit down upon as best lyketh them and alsoe that they and their associates shall enioy as full and free liberty in all matters that doe or may concerne them or theires or that may conduce to ye good and comfort of them and theires both in church order and civil Governmt together with all other Easem<sup>ts</sup> conveniences and accommodations whatsoever which the said place doth or may afford, answerable to what other plantations enioy in Massachusetts Bay. But in as much as it hath pleased our Royall King to Give and grant the patent of Long Island to the afforesaid Earle: In consideration thereof it is agreed upon that the trade with ye Indians shall remaine to the said Earle of Starling to Dispose of from time to time and at all times as best liketh him. Onely ye aforesaid Daniell How and his co-partners shall have libertie to make choise of one man amongst them that shall freely trade with the Indians in theire behalf for any victualls within theire owne plantation, but not for wampum. And if any of the aforesaid p<sup>r</sup>sons or any for them shall secretly trade with the Indians for wampum whither directly or indirectly without leave or license from the said Earle or his Assignes the pson or psons soe offending shall pay for every fathom soe traded to the said Earle or his assignes the sum of twenty shillings; further it is Agreed upon that whatsoever shall bee thought meete by the r<sup>t</sup> Worth John Winthrop Esq. Govern<sup>r</sup> of the Massachusetts Bay to bee given to the Earl of Starling in way of acknowledgement as the Patenttee of the place shall be duely and truely paid, furthermore it is agreed upon that noe man shall by vertue of any gift or purchase lay any claime to any land lying within the compass of the eight miles before mentioned but onely the afforesaid Inhabitants shall make purchase (in theire owne names at theire owne leisure from any Indians that Inhabit or have lawfull right to any of the aforesaid land) all or any pt thereof, and thereby assure it to themselves and theire heyres as theire Inhabitation for ever. John Davenport.

Endorsed on the back side of the said writeing under Mr Winthrop his hand as folloiyeth.

I John Winthrop within named having seriously considered of that within this writeing is refered to my determination although I am very unwilling to take it upon mee and as unfit alsoe the rather being to seeke of any rule or aproved p<sup>r</sup>esident to guide mee herein yet being called hereunto: I shall express what I conceive to bee Equall upon the considerations here insueing, viz. The land within granted being a meere wilderness and the natives of the place pretending some interest which ye planters must purchase, And they might have had land enough gratis (and as convenient) in ye Massachusetts or other of the Collonies wth libertie to trade with the Indians, (which they are here debarred from) And for that they had possessed and improved this place before any actual claine made thereto by the r<sup>t</sup> hon<sup>ble</sup> the Earle of Starling, or had any notice of his Lo<sup>pp</sup>s pattent, And whereas his Lo<sup>pp</sup> (for consideration I suppose of the p<sup>r</sup>emises) requires nothing of them but in way of acknowledgement of his Interest, I doe here upon conceive and doe accordingly (soe farre as power is given mee) order and set down that the Inhabitants of the tract of land within mentioned or the plantation now called Southampton upon Long Island, and their successors for ever shall pay yearly to the said Earle of Starling his heyres or assignes upon the last day of September at Southampton aforesaid four bushells of the best Indian corne there growing or the value of soe much in full satisfaction of all rents and services (the 5th p<sup>t</sup> of Gold and Silver ore to the Kings Mat<sup>ties</sup> reserved allways excepted) In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand. Dated 20th (8) 1640.

ASSING OF THE SAYRE HOUSE

an Interesting History.

OLDEST DWELLING IN THE U. S.?

For Nearly 300 Years It Withstood the Elements.

"I don't know why people are so interested in an old shack like that," said one of the townsfolk of Southampton, L. I. "It had far outlived its usefulness."

This materialist was referring to the Sayre house, which recently was reputed the oldest frame dwelling in the United States, but is to-day razed to a level with the sandy Long Island soil that it had covered for 264 years.

Thomas Sayre was one of the eight pioneers who migrated from Lynn, Mass., in 1630, armed with a patent from the Earl of Stirling to found a colony on Long Island. After four years at Old Town, the community moved to the present site of Southampton, and in 1648 Sayre built the house which was destined to outlive his family.

The landmark officially "outlived its usefulness" two months ago when State Fire Marshal Ahearn condemned it as a menace to the surrounding property. The owners of property near by, spurred by the high rate of fire insurance they were compelled to pay, had made the complaint.

Thirty years ago the house stood as in the time of Thomas Sayre, facing the south, with its eastern gable toward the highway. Southampton has become a stylish summer colony since then, and the recent crop of stores and banks so shut in the old house that it has not even been visible from the street for fifteen years. The fruit store of one Ginocchio, built close upon the sidewalk, extended back until it touched the eastern gable of the ancient house. The new brick post office stands close by upon the side to the south. Ginocchio's 11-year-old son has the signal honor of being the last child born in the house that harbored the earliest settlers. More than eight years ago, however, decay and dilapidation drove out these last occupants, and after that the roof sheltered only crates of fruit.

The Sayre homestead was a great witness to the vital qualities of hard labor. From the standing timber to the finished house the work was done with few tools and these wielded by muscle. The beams were hewn by hand, the bricks moulded by hand, the laths stripped by hand, the nails forged by hand, the shingles shaped by hand. These shingles, for the most part upon the sides of the house, were originally 3 feet long and 1 inch thick on the exposed end, but the seventeenth century cedar had been weathered down to paper thinness when the house recently met its doom.

The early Sayres were farmers, and the numerous old windmills still standing in the neighborhood bear witness that there was much grist to grind. The millers used to be paid for their work by receiving one-tenth of the grain ground. Six generations of direct male descendants from the builder, owned and lived in the homestead for over 200 consecutive years. In 1849 the last Dr. Stephen Sayre moved to California, where he died fifteen years ago. Then the property passed into the hands of his daughter Sarah, wife of James Larry. The Larrys were deep sea whalemens, and in 1890, when whales became scarce in the Atlantic, they moved the field of their endeavor to the Pacific coast. For a while the property remained part of the Larry estate, but it has recently come into the possession of two Hildreth brothers, who own a large store in Southampton, and has been leased to various persons, the last being the fruit dealer, Ginocchio. The property has never been sold, but has passed from one to another by inheritance and quit claim deed.

When the Sayre house was being built Peter Stuyvesant was governing a group of hardly 1,000 colonists on the southern tip of Manhattan Island, and William Penn was 4 years old. The Shinnecock Indians roamed the neck of land between Peconic Bay and the Ocean.

"No, there was never an Indian fight in those days," said an old resident. "I wasn't here myself to see, but I never heard of any. The people here treated them right and they always remained friendly. Part of the old tribe is still with us. The reservation is just a mile or so to the east. But the race is all going to pieces—they've intermarried, you know, with both blacks and whites."

The genial postmaster, a man of the good old-fashioned Kentucky colonel type, "Cap'n" Rogers by name, said that he could remember that as a boy he used to sit in the great fireplace in the Sayre homestead and watch the flaming logs.

"All these old houses," he said, "had three fireplaces, one in the kitchen, one in the parlor and one in the dining room. Now, that big old fireplace at Sayre's was perhaps eight feet long, not quite long enough for fence rails, but it would take a good big log. Yes, it had a crane and kettle, and cupboards and ovens built in the walls at the sides.

"The summer people all knew the house was here and would bring their friends to see it, but beyond that there wasn't much general recognition of its age until they decided to tear it down.

"No; George Washington never stopped there."

Then the cap'n pointed out a great round stone slab sunk till level with the ground just back of where the old house had stood.

"Old millstone," he explained; "used as a kitchen step. They had to bring that stone from a great ways, you may be sure. It's all sand around here, I don't know how far down you'd have to go to get a good rock, but I know on the surface there are not enough pebbles to find one to tread on at a dog. When these grinders from the mills wore out they'd use them pretty generally for stepping stones."

The old landmark is gone, but no one once persons may have had for it. An artist, who is a member of Southampton's summer colony, had a fleeting recollection when questioned about the old house.

"Ah, yes," said he, "I was shown through it last year. I only remember that I took a moss-green shingle from it that I might get a paint of the same tint for the roof of my new studio. The lovely color left it as soon as the moss faded. It was all in the moss."

The stationery store on Main street, housed, by the way, in a church building erected in 1707, captured a dozen or more of the old shingles and is about to make them into picture frames to sell to the sentimental lovers of what was once this country's oldest house. Many expected that old house, valuable manuscripts disclosing State secrets and stuff of a similar nature would be found in the walls or between the floors. There were rumors of secret panels and hidden cupboards, but dust and dirt came to light when the old house was dismantled.

Many souvenir hunters had been despoiling the building since last summer, and where they left off peripatetic collectors of knelling wood began. What looked like an amateur job of housewrecking has now been completed professionally, and the rolls of landmarks are now awaiting nomination for another
